Election Feature Of C.N.A. Meet

Results of the three contests for the Canadian Numismatic Association officers—for the vice presidency, the British Columbia director and the western United States representative—will be announced during the business session of the conclave.

The remainder of the slate will automatically take office—headed by Dr. John S. Wilkinson, of Toronto, who has served as president following the resignation of C. C. Tannahill earlier this year.

Eddy Echenberg of Sherbrook, Quebec, and A. Mitchell MacDonald, Halifax, Nova Scotia, are seeking the vice presidency.

A. Klenman, Victoria, and Scott A. Simpson, Vancouver, B. C., are candidates for the board of directors from British Columbia.

Arthur F. Giere, Galesville, Wis.; Forrest P. Howe, Amelia, Ohio, and Duane M. Tucker, Plentywood, Montana are western U.S. candidates.

Other officers nominated who will serve automatically include:

Mrs. Louise Graham, Willowdale, Ontario, general secretary (Continued on Page 22)

Silver Coins To Be Passe?

Will Canadian silver coins be discontinued?

Ted Shackelford, coin editor, Daily Colonist, Victoria, B. C., was quoted as reporting this fact in the Marles Canadian Bulletin issue for July-August.

According to the unconfirmed predictions, Canada will discontinue the use of silver in all coins within 12 months.

Reasons advanced for the purported action are:

1. The demand for silver in various industries especially photography and electronics.

2. As a result of the above, an anticipated rise in silver prices.

3. Other countries (e.g. Great Britain and Australia) have abandoned silver in favor of a cheaper alloy, cupro-nickel.

C.N.A. Meeting To Open

8th Annual Session To Start Soon

Officials of the Canadian Numismatic Association said today on the eve of the eighth annual convention, to be held August 31, September 1 and 2 in Hamilton, Ontario, they expected the 1961 session to be the most important in C.N.A. history.

Convention Chairman Bruce R. Brace, the Convention secretary, Mrs. Thelma Anderson, and Sam Baggs, president of the host Hamilton Coin Club, said today only last minute details remained to insure a smooth-running convention with a series of outstanding events marking each of the three days.

Everything points to the best convention in the young organization's history—a stimulating auction is promised, the bourse area has been fully sold, there is important business to be settled along with election of officers and a number of top-notch exhibits will be shown.

The Hamilton committee has spared no efforts in arranging a number of entertainment features.

Admiral O. H. Dodson, USN (Ret.), director of the Bank of Detroit's Money Museum, and immediate past president of the American Numismatic Association, will be the Saturday night banquet speaker.

Complete programming of events for the meeting will be as follows:

Thursday, August 31

9 a.m., Registration opens, displays and bourse commence.

10 a.m., Official opening by mayor and other officials.

10:30 a.m., C.N.A. executive meeting.

1:30 p.m., Bus tour of city of Hamilton.

7:30 p.m., Auction—first session, Canada Coin Exchange, ladies' special activity.

Friday, September 1

Here are two of the new Cuban peso notes issued by Fidel Castro. The one-peso bill (top) shows a picture of Cuban patriot Jose Marti on one side and Castro's march into Havana on January 8, 1959, on the other. The five-peso bill shows Antonio Maceo, another Cuban patriot and, on the other side, the invasion of Cuba by Castro's troops in 1956. (See related photos, story, page 2)

New Variety Of Notes Due

The recent appointment of Louis Rasminsky as governor of the Bank of Canada has automatically created eight new notes to be added to the possible 64 notes presently comprising the issue of 1954 Bank of Canada Notes.

New notes to be issued almost immediately will display the signature, LOUIS RASMINSKY—J. R. BEATTIE in denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50, $100, $1,000.

These notes will be numbered 66 - 67 - 68 - 69 - 70 - 71 - 72 in the Guide Chart prepared by Allan Klenman of Victoria, B. C.

Space is already provided on the Guide Chart, and those having copies, could write or type these names in the allotted space.

Copies of this Guide Chart are available from Mr. Klenman, 3250 Beach Dr., Victoria, B. C. for $1 postpaid.

Notes No. 73 - 80 will be issued January of 1962 when a new deputy-governor will be appointed to replace retiring deputy-governor, J. R. Beattie.

Schulman Foresees Big Surge In Coin Collecting

"Many years from now 1961 will be remembered in the United States as the year in which coin collecting became the national hobby."

Hans M. F. Schulman, internationally known numismatist, speaking from his New York offices as he prepared to go abroad, made this observation in a special statement before his departure.

"This development is not something new—and other hobbies have gone through this stage," Schulman said.

"Stamp collecting which 50 years ago was still a nobleman's hobby became in the roaring 20's a world hobby of young and old. A famous stamp dealer was often known to more people than a king or queen."

Schulman continued in his observations:

"We are on the eve of the same thing happening in coin collecting! The one group of people who seemed to know that this could happen was the group of numismatists and newspaper-experienced people who developed our own Coin World.

"We know that this weekly numismatic newspaper could not have had the phenomenal growth it has enjoyed if the moment was not ripe and if the public was not given the opportunity to learn more about this 'new' hobby.

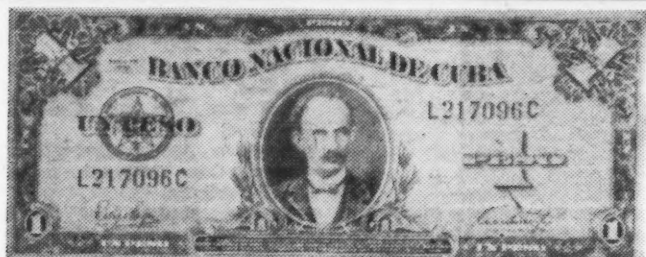

"In the pre-World War II days coin collecting was solely a hobby of a select group of people, mainly of people who were financially able. The same was the case in Europe. The coin societies were as exclusive as an expensive country club and their memberships were limited. Only the American Numismatic Association was a large popular body in these days but it passed through its exclusive stages earlier.

This is the artist's sketch of the obverse of the 1961 Canadian Numismatic Association convention medallion, produced by Henry Birks and Sons, Ltd., Ontario, in bronze, sterling silver and gold-filled. Each person registering at the convention will receive a bronze medal; sterling silver medals are available at $7.50 each. Presentation cases of medals—one each of bronze, sterling silver and gold filled, may be purchased for $25. The medal, approximately one and one-half inches in diameter, portrays Hamilton's new City Hall with appropriate inscription on the reverse to commemorate the event.

New Currency Sharpens Interest

Collectors Of Cuban Bills Contrasting Old With New

Cuba's premier Fidel Castro said it was "precise organization" that permitted his government to set up machinery for the currency conversion move without publicity prior to the official announcement August 5.

Examples of Cuba's colorful currency of the past may be seen at the left in a series of examples furnished to Coin World by Dwight Musser of Manor Coins, Indian Rocks Beach, Fla., editor of the World Paper Money Journal.

Jose Marti, Cuban patriot, is prominent in the bills of yesterday, and is repeated on Castro's new money. The reverses of the new bills, however, are a graphic departure from those of the past.

Cuban paper money circulation on August 5 ceased to have value, and the people were given until August 14 to exchange the obsolete bills for new one, five, 10, 50 and 100 peso bills.

The new Castro currency features Cuban heroes and designs connected with the Castro revolution—Castro's march into Havana, invasion of Cuba by his troops and the bearded leaders speaking at a rally.

Cuban government spokesmen said tens of millions of Cuban pesos in the hands of "counter-revolutionaries" would be voided by the new law.

(The Cuban peso has an official exchange rate of $1 per peso but in Miami Beach, Fla., the black market rate reportedly was as high as 100 pesos for $14.)

Cuban exile sources in Miami said the decree will hamper underground, anti-Castro operations, but only for a while.

Radio broadcasts from Cuba said the new currency was a defense of the Cuban economy because Cuban money was formerly printed in the United States and "at any given moment the United States could have flooded the national economy with bills manufactured there."

Another recent Cuban "currency" development of numismatic interest was the rumor that a propaganda note was printed in Cuba—a good reproduction of the U.S. one dollar bill without a serial number or official seal.

In Spanish on the back of the note was reported this message: "Each time we save our foreign exchange, we free more of Cuba from domination by foreign interests."

This note is believed to have been designed to discourage Cubans from buying American goods.

No Summer Meetings

The Williams Valley Coin Club of Williamstown, Pa., decided this year to adjourn for the summer, for the first time since its founding in 1958, and will hold its next meeting on Wednesday, September 13.

Lebanon Club Plans Show

The Lebanon Valley Coin Club of Lebanon, Pa., is slated to hold its meeting on Monday, August 28, in the R. Field and Stream building, Weavertown Road, Lebanon, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The club "doubled up" in August, holding its annual picnic on Sunday, August 13, at the Isaac Walton League park near Lickdale, Pa. Other recent activities included having a booth at the Lebanon Street Fair, with the proceeds going to the Good Samaritan Hospital; and an outdoor joint meeting with the Baron Stiegel Coin Club of Manheim, Pa.

At the August 28 session, further plans for the club's Fall Coin Show, slated for October 7 and 8 at the Lebanon Treadway Inn, are expected to be discussed.

Pittman Unique In Joint Offices

John Jay Pittman of Rochester, N. Y., who holds the distinction and honor of being the only numismatist to be both an elected director of the Canadian Numismatic Association as well as an elected member of the Board of Governors of the American Numismatic Association, has attended every C.N.A. convention!

Pittman, who serves as C.N.A. director for the eastern United States, will put his tremendous knowledge and know-how to work next year as a member of the joint 1962 C.N.A.-A.N.A. convention committee.

"This convention to be held in Detroit in August, 1962, will be a really big affair," said Pittman. "It will be the first joint international coin convention to be held in the Western hemisphere."

He pointed out that both the Detroit and Windsor, Ontario, Coin Clubs are already at work making plans — and collectors and dealers from all over the United States and Canada are making plans to attend.

"Numismatists from many foreign countries realize this will be an event not to be missed and are planning to come," Pittman predicted.

In speaking of his anticipation of the eighth annual C.N.A. convention in Hamilton August 31-September 2, Pittman said the Hamilton Coin Club is an active group and Hamilton is a progressive city.

He said determination to produce an even better C.N.A. convention than its successful one of 1957 has kept the Hamilton Coin Club on its toes.

"The club has planned events to keep everybody busy and happy. Those on the committees are convention-goers themselves and they understand that collectors are much happier if their families are enjoying themselves, too.

That is the theme of the 1961 convention," said Pittman.

One of the outstanding highlights of every C.N.A. convention is the donation auction, a feature of the convention banquet, he commented. Members of the C.N.A. donate items, generally numismatic, which are auctioned off with the proceeds going toward the general expenses of the C.N.A. Pittman, an amateur auctioneer, conducts this donation auction and proves that it can be surprising fun to be separated from your money for the good of the organization.

Pittman, who is the only collector who has held twin offices in the Canadian Numismatic Association and the American Numismatic Association, believes that Canadian coin collecting is still in its infancy although it is booming.

He feels that interest in this most fascinating North American series has just begun. With the tremendous rate of growth which has occurred in the C.N.A. in the last three years however, Pittman believes that the C.N.A. membership will double in another three years.

Pittman, Life Member No. 5 of the C.N.A., has been collecting Canadian coins since 1936.

His outstanding collection of Canadian coins, including many rarities, has been displayed at every C.N.A. convention and at many local coin club meetings in Canada.

Pittman has displayed Canadian coins on TV and has also discussed the collecting of Canadian coins on radio in Canada as well as in the U. S. His continual displays have helped to increase the interest in the collecting of Canadian coins in Canada.

In addition, the coins have been displayed at numerous local, regional and national coin meetings in the U. S. and have focussed the attention of many U.S. collectors on this interesting series. This has resulted, undoubtedly, in an increase in the collecting of Canadian coins in the U. S. as well as an increase of U.S. members in the C.N.A.

C.N.A. conventions are generally considered by many members to have begun with the Toronto convention in 1954. Pittman, however, is one of that small group who attended the first national gathering of Canadian numismatists in Ottawa in September, 1953. To Pittman, this is really the first C.N.A. convention.

From this small beginning, each successive convention has been bigger and better. Pittman has seen the C.N.A. grow from a handful of enthusiastic collectors to a thriving organization of several thousand members. (C.N.A. membership numbers are approaching 5000). These members are from all provinces of Canada, every state in the U.S. and many foreign countries. Pittman believes that the C.N.A. conventions have been an outstanding factor in bringing together a representative group of collectors from all parts of Canada and the United States.

Although there has been an effort to hold C.N.A. conventions in different parts of Canada, the responsibility of holding most of the conventions in these first years of the organization's existence has fallen on the more heavily populated areas in the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

An outstanding exception was the 1959 meeting in Regina, Saskatchewan, where all the conventioners learned the true meaning of western Canadian hospitality and also had a chance to get a little of the feeling of the Wild West in that comparatively young and fast-developing area.

Plans are already under way for another far western meeting in Vancouver, British Columbia, in 1963, as well as in the eastern outpost of Halifax, Nova Scotia, in 1964.

Dr. J. S. Wilkinson

Host Group Praised By President

"The young Canadian Numismatic Association is proud of the annual conventions held to date," said Dr. J. S. Wilkinson, of Toronto, president of the C.N.A. as he looked forward to the Hamilton meeting.

"One of the best was held in Hamilton in 1957, at which the only faults arose from under estimating the attendance," recalled Dr. Wilkinson.

"This year, the same capable and experienced Hamilton group has obtained excellent accommodations and arranged a splendid program.

"Congenial people are necessary to make a convention successful, so all coin enthusiasts are invited to attend the Hamilton meeting where they can enjoy and make enjoyable," Dr. Wilkinson concluded in his pre-convention statement.

Movies Converted Ogilvie To Canadian Numismatics

Jack W. Ogilvie, of Hollywood, Calif., district representative of the Canadian Numismatic Association for the Western United States, is best known to the fraternity as historian of the American Numismatic Association, but his interest in Canadian numismatics, however, dates back beyond his appointment to that office.

He developed this interest in 1946 while in Canada as an associate producer on the first full length motion picture made entirely in that country. At this time the decimal coinage was about to start its upward trend in popularity and many scarce and rare issues could be purchased at bargain prices.

With this new trend came new catalogues and the Canadian Numismatic Association and Jack became member number 157 of that group.

Today they have enrolled some 4500 collectors and are the second largest numismatic organization in the world. He is proud, indeed, to represent this progressive group in his section of the United States.

While doing research for his historical articles, he found that Canadians always played a most important role in the affairs of the A.N.A. They have held top positions in its official family, made many contributions to the pages of The Numismatist and otherwise helped advance the science of American numismatics.

For several years, Ogilvie has been in close liaison with Pierre

Jack W. Ogilvie

Brunet, historian; Mrs. Louise Graham, general secretary, and Fred Bowman exchanging data and information about famous Canadian numismatists of yesteryears.

"Now that the C.N.A. is a full grown organization, it is building an impressive roster of celebrated numismatists of its own. Their names, combined with their predecessors, will make an imposing list in Canada's Numismatic Hall of Fame," said Ogilvie.

Canadian Numismatic Future Big Says Gould

"During the last 10 years there has been a tremendous development in the collecting of Canadian numismatic material in the States. Many of the collectors have affiliated with the Canadian Numismatic Association and I predict a much larger number will join during the next few years," said Maurice M. Gould, Chestnut Hill, Mass., prominent east coast numismatist-dealer.

The New England area has always had some Canadian collectors as the material was obtainable very easily and auctions were held by Hesslein and others, Gould recalled.

"Now all of the local coin dealers handle Canadian material and do a brisk business with these coins," he said.

At a recent meeting held in Pawtucket, R. I., more than 150 people attending a Canadian night, with a club auction and a panel of speakers, Gould said. This was sponsored by the Canadian Collectors Club, which is affiliated with the C.N.A. This meeting was extremely successful and other meetings along the same line are being planned for the future.

"The future of Canadian numismatics looks very bright in the U.S.A. It has given me many years of pleasure and no doubt will do the same for many thousands of other Americans," said the Canadian authority.

"On the eve of the C.N.A. Convention, we wish our Canadian brothers a successful convention and happy numismatic hunting," he said.

Gould has been a collector and dealer for 40 years and has authored many numismatic books and articles. He is a past president of the New England Numismatic Association, past president of the Collectors Club of Boston and president of the Canadian Collectors Club.

Maurice M. Gould

He was a first prize winner in the individual awards for National Coin Week in 1947. He is a life member of the American Numismatic Association and the Boston Numismatic Society. He is widely known for his many lectures over the years with many of them pertaining to Canadian numismatics.

We can not be responsible for coins sent unsolicited although every effort will be taken to safeguard them.

Unfilled Orders

An increasingly serious problem to both dealers and collectors is that of unfilled orders. To dealers it is delay and hardship; to collectors it is disappointment and mistrust.

Dick Johnson

Not all dealers are at fault. But with the increased tempo of coin collecting today, some dealers are lax about answering an order as soon as they receive it.

Aside from the bad impression this creates in the mind of the collector, his first reaction is usually a curt note to the dealer, and then a complaint to us.

Unfortunately the complaints we receive are almost always the same handful of lax dealers—completely honest, but just slow in filling orders. If they only knew how poor public relations this is, particularly if they are interested in staying in business!

However, there are some courtesies to be observed by both collector and dealer when buying coins through the mail.

- 1) The collector should order as promptly as possible after the advertisement appears.
- 2) He should make his order crystal clear, ordering exactly what he wants: date, mint mark, quantity, condition.
- 3) - He should send his remittance with the order, unless the advertisement states otherwise.
- 4) He should double check the dealer's address, and his own return address.

The dealer has an obligation when he receives an order. He should acknowledge or fill every order within a "reasonable" amount of time. This should be less than ten days.

In unusual situations he should notify the buyer he requires more time. (In extreme cases like sickness, he should notify Coin World of the reason and we will run a news story!)

The collector should wait at least two weeks before writing to the dealer about the delayed order. Give the dealer time to fill it and mail it—and the Post Office time to deliver it.

(If the collector is not satisfied with any purchase through the mail he needs only to return it for a full refund—but this must be done within the customary ten days. A dealer has every right to consider merchandise sold after ten days.)

Many dealers will try to substitute another coin for one a collector has returned. The collector should not be indignant about this—the dealer is trying to please, and keep, a customer.

Basically it is a matter of courtesy. For the dealer: let the buyer know what you are doing, but don't sit on his order! For the collector: give the dealer time to fill your order!

New York In 1964?

It has been customary in the history of the American Numismatic Association to hold its convention in the city where a World's Fair is held, usually during the fair.

This was the case in: Chicago 1892, St. Louis 1904, San Francisco 1915, Chicago 1933, and New York 1939.

With the World's Fair in New York opening April 22, 1964, now is the time to think of continuing this excellent tradition. It has the advantages of a double billing, both attractions drawing for the other.

Anyone interested in an A.N.A. convention at the World's Fair this time?

Letters To The Editor

The "Open Letter" to Mr. Victor LaVelle was a cruel, misguided, completely unnecessary admonition which appears to spring more from pique on the part of the writer, than true righteous anger at Mr. LaVelle.

Mr. LaVelle was robbed, and many people responded to his aid, and this is to their credit. Mr. LaVelle wrote hundreds of letters of appreciation to these people, pointing out his gratitude, and above all, his new-found faith in human nature. The material gifts notwithstanding, I feel sure that the nicest thing that was or could have been done for Mr. LaVelle, or any unfortunate person who by force of circumstances not of his own making is in a position to afford the rest of us greedy individuals (normally) a pitifully small chance to show we are not always that way, is to restore such a person's faith in the human nature which he was come to lose.

But to send something to Mr. LaVelle to gratify oneself, or in such an emotional framework that the gift remains intangibly the giver's, so that if lost or stolen or mishandled the recipient is held up to blame, is not a gift at all. It is as if to say "that which I sent you I still regard as mine, and it is for that reason that I am angry that you have allowed yourself to be robbed again."

I maintain that it is extremely difficult to prevent one self from being robbed. Especially so when the robberies occur close together, and when a great deal of material has just been received, is being cataloged, is being thanked by correspondence, is being sold to a certain extent, and all this by a man who has not had either experience or knowledge of a professional nature in the area of activity in which he was working.

Mr. LaVelle did intend to insure everything he owned, as soon as he could inventory it. He was appreciative of his "second chance" and he realized that he would not get a "third." He was doing everything he could, but not fast enough for the people who robbed him a second time, to get his affairs in such order that a robbery would not prove fatal again.

And then he was robbed again. Whatever small elements of neglect or negligence contributed to the ease or scope of the robbery should be weighed against the universal neglect or negligence that all of us display towards these things, including some of the biggest dealers in the country. But nobody castigates these dealers, nor the people who get robbed day in and day out, because nobody has given of their treasure to restore their stock. It is not out of anger at Mr. LaVelle himself, nor inverse sorrow for his misfortune that causes such castigation of Mr. LaVelle, but the horrible thought that some of our (figuratively, all of us) material was in that robbery.

And in the process, in releasing from oneself the anger at all robberies, by taking it out on Mr. LaVelle, we are surely destroying a human being as if we went back in after the robbery and kicked him again, and again, and again! How senseless, how cruel it is, and how illustrative of our civilization these days was that letter. Picture Mr. LaVelle, picking up his copy of Coin World, and turning to page four, and reading "An Open Letter" to Mr. LaVelle."

It is not Mr. LaVelle who should be ashamed of himself, for he has done nothing wrong and committed no crime. The thieves are beyond our reproach, for we do not know them, and they belong to that class of citizens called criminals. Even the writer, unknowing of the hurt the letter has caused, might suffer only momentary shame, as it is necessary to be of a particular turn of mind in order to permit oneself to change in order to permit oneself to change such a long standing type of approach to human relations. It is not even the editor of Coin World, who, in either silent agreement with the writer of the letter, or in the interests of "free speech", has allowed this expression of hurt to be included in his pages, since after all, isn't Coin World a newspaper only, and not "my brother's keeper"?

The real shame lies rather with any of us, who, as readers, after reading that letter, said to themselves in effect, "Yes, Mr. LaVelle, you ought to be ashamed of yourself for letting yourself be robbed again, and especially letting yourself be robbed of the $5 trifle which I sent you from my precious hoard. You let me down by having this misfortune again. If you ever see me, Mr. LaVelle, don't look me in the eye, because it is your fault you were robbed, and I'll never give you a third chance."

And we never will give him a third chance, will we? We did it once, and he let himself be robbed again, so he doesn't deserve a third chance again, does he? Misfortune may strike two times in a row, or we supply the third time out, don't we?

I'd be willing to bet that many, many feel this way. Only the individual reader knows. Mr. LaVelle is "on his own" again, with two notches on humanity's rifle. No more help coming, as his fellow human beings have washed their hands of him. You see, he's had too much misfortune for us to cope with!

That's what the "open Letter" seemed to prove. Or has it? If it has, then there's the everlasting shame and discredit of this whole unfortunate situation.

I've just finished reading Jim Charlton's Canadian Trends column in the July 21st Coin World issue, and I feel a necessity to write concerning his comments on the 1953 Canadian mint sets.

Jim comments that the quantity of 15,779 sets listed, is fictitious. I can only assume that Jim is referring to the figure used in the "Guide Book of Canadian Coins," page 64, as being the estimated quantity distributed by the Canadian Mint in 1953.

This is definitely not a fictitious figure, as it is the figure reported by the Mint Master, in the Mint report for the year 1953, under the column, "Miscellaneous coins and sets distributed to the general public".

Jim could be quite right in that the quality of the sets differ from the beginning of the year to the end of year—I am not taking issue on this point. However, the actual number of sets, issued and sold by the mint as mint sets, is correct as reported in the "Guide Book", because it reflects the figures reported by the Mint Master in the Mint report for 1953.

Therefore, this definitely is not a fictitious figure, but is a reliable figure that collectors can use as a guide.

Post offices have a philatelic department where stamp collectors can buy plate blocks, mint sheets, etc. at face value so why don't the Federal Reserve banks have a numismatic department where collectors can buy rolls and single coins of the current year without paying a high premium to a dealer?

Nelson Harper

My only complaint is your advertising rates for classified word ads. Sometimes one has a coin or group of coins he wants to sell that he knows will only take one insertion to do it. It seems a shame we should have to pay for two runnings of this ad and sometimes answer letters the second week needlessly.

James E. Newkirk

(Editor's note: You may run the ad only one time if you wish but most people need two insertions they have told us.)

I agree with some of the other subscribers your word ad rates are too high. However, I think buying, trading and selling coins is part of the hobby and as long as I break even, I don't mind too much.

Enclosed find my check for $5....the only thing that gripes me about your paper is the advertisers who never seem to have what they advertise. I get about two out of three checks back.

These dealers should be made to pay for these useless checks and postage. Maybe then they wouldn't put prices in your paper which they don't care to sell coins at. But your paper is a wonderful source of information to a new collector (and a few bargains, too.)

PRESIDENTIAL ART PRESENTS LINCOLN MEDAL

We at Presidential Art Medals, Inc., take pride in introducing the new Lincoln medal . . . second in the series of finely sculptured, high quality Presidential Art Medals. This medal, like all medals in the series, will be struck by MEDALLIC ART COMPANY, the only American company devoted exclusively to sculptured bas-relief. The intricate design and sculptured work was done by MR. RALPH MENCONI, a sculptor internationally recognized for his abilities in full portrait and high relief work. A leaflet describing his work accompanies each medal.

This is a CONTINUING PROGRAM and three or four medals a year will be struck until the series of all Presidents is complete. New medals will be struck thereafter as Presidents are inaugurated. This exclusive offering will be a treasured possession whether you desire only one, or the entire series.

Among the more important reasons contributing to the increasing value of the precious medals is the fact that PRODUCTION IS LIMITED to the quantities shown below and unusually HIGH STANDARDS OF WORKMANSHIP are strictly maintained. The PRACTICAL SIZE of the medal (slightly larger than a half dollar) makes it particularly well suited to display in an album, which will be offered about December 1.

The Abraham Lincoln medal is offered as follows:

Platinum (pure)	25 serially numbered pieces	Sold Out
Silver (.999+)	6500 serially numbered pieces	$10.00 ea.
Bronze		$ 2.50 ea.

OF SPECIAL INTEREST ON THE PRESIDENT JOHN F. KENNEDY MEDAL.

One thousand Kennedy bronze medals were purchased by the State Department, four hundred of which were for distribution by President Kennedy himself on his mission to Paris, Vienna and London this past spring.

These medals are still available, in bronze only, at $2.50 each.

Orders are filled in the order received. To avoid disappointment, we suggest that you select and order your Presidential Art Medals today. Ohio residents add 3% sales tax.

C. N. A. Second Largest Group Of Kind In World

In the 11 years of its existence the Canadian Numismatic Association membership figure has climbed to over 4,000 to become the second largest numismatic organization in the world.

Officers of the association surveyed membership figures just prior to assembling for the eighth annual convention of the group at Hamilton August 31-September 2.

The association is an outgrowth of a small group of Ottawa collectors who changed their name to the Canadian Numismatic Society in January, 1950, according to Dr. John S. Wilkinson, of Toronto, C.N.A., president.

A month later, the Canadian Numismatic Assn. Bulletin was published under the editorship of G. R. L. Potter.

Captain Sheldon Carroll was the charter president of the C.N.A. and under his direction the group grew by leaps and bounds, according to Dr. Wilkinson.

A printed magazine, the Canadian Numismatic Journal, of invaluable interest and assistance to the membership, was first published in January, 1956.

"The C.N.A. has members from every province in the Dominion, nearly all of the United States and many foreign countries," President Wilkinson pointed out.

C.N.A. membership is $4 plus $1 initiation fee, and will be accepted in Canadian funds by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Louise Graham, 23 Hollywood Avenue, Willowdale, Ontario.

Major Carroll served as president of the C.N.A. through 1953. His successors were L. J. P. Brunet (1953-1955), G. R. L. Potter (1955-1956), Vincent C. Greene, F.R.N.S. (1957-1959), C. C. Tannahill (1959-1961), Dr. John S. Wilkinson, (1961-).

Honorary president is J. Douglas Ferguson, F.R.N.S. Honorary vice presidents include Dr. William Kaye Lamp and Fred Bowman, F.R.N.S.

Mrs. Graham, general secretary-treasurer; A. E. H. Petrie, Ottawa, editor; R. C. Willey, Espanola, assistant editor; T. G. Beatty, Ottawa, librarian.

Coin World Advertising Policy...

NUMISMATIC ITEMS THAT CAN BE ADVERTISED AND QUESTIONABLE ITEMS THAT CANNOT BE ADVERTISED

GOLD CERTIFICATES. Technically gold notes cannot be legally held in numismatic collections, therefore they cannot be advertised in Coin World. These include all Friedberg numbers 1166-b through 1225.

GOLD BARS. It is illegal for an individual to own current gold bars unless he holds a license issued by the government for this purpose. Current gold bars cannot be advertised.

1933 GOLD COINS. This pertains to the 1933 eagles and double eagles which apparently were not officially released. They cannot be advertised.

COUNTERFEITS. It is illegal to possess, buy or sell counterfeit coins or paper money. Some counterfeit Colonial and Continental paper money and broken bank notes are held in numismatic collections and are probably legal. However, we have adopted the policy that no counterfeits of any kind can be advertised in Coin World.

ALTERED DATE COINS. Coins with altered dates or altered mint marks are a fraud upon collectors. While not illegal at this time, legislation prohibiting these is pending in Congress. Since they are unethical in the coin field, they cannot be advertised in Coin World.

FAKE STARS. Fake stars on commemorative half dollars come within the realm of altered coins and therefore are unethical in the coin field. They cannot be advertised in Coin World.

STOLEN COINS. This should be obvious, but stolen property cannot be advertised since it is illegally held and title cannot pass to a new owner.

ALTERED CONDITION COINS. This category includes buffed or polished "proof" coins, where uncirculated coins are "doctored" until they look like proofs. It also includes coins treated with a chemical that brings out otherwise illegible dates or other worn-out features. (Where the entire coin is treated, a poor coin looks like a VG or better; however, closer inspection reveals the acid pits all over the surface.) These coins are of questionable ethics in the coin field and they, or their chemical, cannot be advertised in Coin World. This includes "replating" coins which is an attempt to change condition unnaturally.

PROCESSED 1943 CENTS. It is unethical in the coin field to advertise processed 1943 steel cents as "uncirculated" or "bright." Coin World will accept advertisements for 1943 processed cents only if the word "processed" or some synonym is included in the advertisement. "Replating" is not a synonym, but a different situation.

FACSIMILE PAPER MONEY. It is unethical in the coin field to advertise reprints of any paper money as genuine. Coin World will accept an advertisement for these only if the word "copy" or "facsimile" or some such synonym is printed ON THE BILL and included in the wording of the advertisement.

RESTRICKES. THESE FALL INTO THREE CATEGORIES:

1. Counterfeit Restricks. These were made to pass at face value for legal coins, are a type of counterfeits, and are therefore illegal. They cannot be advertised.
2. Numismatic Restricks. These include the facsimiles of Colonial coins made by Dickson, Wyatt, Tatham, Mickley, Ilder, A. S. Robinson, Betts, and Bolen (described by Richard Kenney in his "Struck Copies of U.S. Coins"). This category also includes the restricks of the Florida and Rhode Island tokens, certain half cents, large cents, and silver dollars. These are legitimate numismatic items and it is permissible to advertise them in Coin World. They should be described fully including the term "restricks".
3. Copy Restricks. These are copies of famous, scarce, or rare coins. They may be accepted for advertising in Coin World but must bear the word "copy" or some such synonym STAMPED PERMANENTLY ON THE COIN. Also the word "copy" or some such synonym must appear in the advertising wording.

Samples should be sent to Coin World when the first advertisement is submitted. This policy holds true irrespective of the metal, size, or color of the coins made. However, copies in which only one side is used with a completely different reverse from the original, such as an advertising piece, can be accepted without the word "copy" struck on the coin.

SAUDI ARABIA GOLD DISCS. These coins, made in 1945-1947, have a questionable legal status and advertisements of these are accepted at the dealer's risk of confiscation by the U.S. Treasury.

OFF METAL ERRORS. These coins are struck on a metal for which they were not intended, like a quarter or nickel on a copper planchet. They are of questionable legal status at the present time and advertisements of these are accepted at the dealer's risk of confiscation by the U.S. Treasury.

RACKETEER NICKELS. These 1883 gold plated coins have a questionable legal status and advertisements of these coins are accepted at the dealer's risk of confiscation, whether coins are genuine or otherwise.

FOREIGN GOLD DATED AFTER 1933. The Treasury department has allowed some foreign gold coins dated after 1933 to remain in collectors hands, others it has confiscated. We prefer not to accept advertisements on these until the matter can be worked out with the authorities. This category, therefore, is questionable, and Coin World would accept advertisements of such only if a dealer insists, and then at his own risk.

ELECTROTYPES. These are copies of rare coins made to resemble the originals. They are made by museums, etc. They have a long history of collectibility and are completely legal. In advertisements, however, they must be labeled "electrotype."

ENGRAVED COINS. This category includes Masonic cents, elongated or rolled-out coins, and the "love tokens" of the last century. These are all U. S. coins that have been engraved. They are not intended to have been spent after the engraving, and have a long history of collectibility. They are legal, and can be advertised.

LUCKY OR FRAMED CENTS. These are discs, usually aluminum, with coins in the center. The coin is not mutilated. They are legal and have a long history of collectibility. They can be advertised.

PATTERN COINS. These are test coins made at the mint to test dies, designs, metals, etc., and include all pattern, trial, and experimental pieces. At infrequent times in the past, their legality has been questioned. However, they are completely legal. They were sold or released by the Mint and have a long history of collectibility. Any pattern coin can be advertised in Coin World.

NUMISMATIC ERRORS. With the exception of the questionable off-metal errors; numismatic or mint errors and freaks are completely legal, having been officially released from the Mint. They have a long history of collectibility. They can be accepted for advertising in Coin World.

CALIFORNIA GOLD TOKENS. These are tokens made in imitation of the gold dollars, halves and quarters. They are legal and have a long history of collectibility. They can be advertised, regardless of when made.

CONFEDERATE REPLICAS. These are replicas of the Confederate coins, officially authorized but never issued, and also those neither authorized nor issued and so are "fantasy" coins. They are legal and can be advertised as such.

CAN NOT BE ADVERTISED

- Gold Certificates
- Gold Bars
- 1933 Gold Coins
- Counterfeits
- Altered Date Coins
- Fake Star Commemoratives
- Stolen Coins
- Altered Condition Coins
- Counterfeit Restricks

ADVERTISED AT OWNER'S RISK OR QUESTIONABLE

- Copy Restricks
- Saudi Arabia gold discs
- Off metal errors
- Racketeer nickels
- Foreign gold dated after 1933
- Processed 1943 Cents
- Facsimile Paper Money

ACCEPTABLE FOR ADVERTISING

- Numismatic restricks
- Electrotypes
- Engraved coins
- Lucky or framed coins
- Pattern coins
- Numismatic errors
- California gold tokens
- Confederate replicas
- "Fantasy" coins

Note: These restrictions are subject to such revision as further study makes advisable.

Trends Of Today's U.S. Coin Values

A.N.A. Auction Has Wide Range

By Jim Kelly

333 West First St., Dayton 2, Ohio

During the past week most of our time has been occupied with entering bids on material in the American Numismatic Association's auction sale. Since this sale consists of a wide variety of coins, currency, etc., consigned by thirty-one different collectors, the bidding is certainly indicative of the trend of collecting, as well as values in a wide range of numismatics.

Jim Kelly

Not surprising is the fact that uncirculated and proof small cents in choice condition are receiving the most attention and no doubt will bring very high prices. Early U. S. coins, particularly the large cents and colonials, are receiving considerable attention.

In fact, all U.S. material, including the large consignment of uncirculated rolls, is well covered by mail bids, indicating a good demand even though prices in some instances are slightly below market values.

This is a healthy sign as we have found in the past that when there is a strong demand, even at slightly below market prices, this is usually the beginning of a general upward trend in the market.

In other words, there must be an increased demand before there can be an increase in price.

U. S. currency seems to be holding its own though somewhat off in price from several years ago. So far, the disappointing part of the sale has been the lack of interest in the Confederate and Southern State Bank Notes which, until recently, have been selling at an all-time high.

There is still time for this to change, with the sale being held in Atlanta where there is considerable interest in this series.

We will give a complete and detailed report in the next issues of Coin World as to the results of the auction and our opinion of its effect as well as an indication of the future market.

At this point it looks like a tremendous convention and the beginning of a big fall numismatic season. (Written before the start of the A.N.A. convention.)

Holly Club Plans Show

The Holly Coin Club of Holly, Mich. is holding its annual fall coin show on Sunday, September 10 at the Holly Elementary School from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Harold Chaney, bourse chairman, said that 32 bourse tables are available at a cost of $7.50 each. Reservations may be secured by writing to Chaney at P. O. Box 7055, Flint 7, Mich.

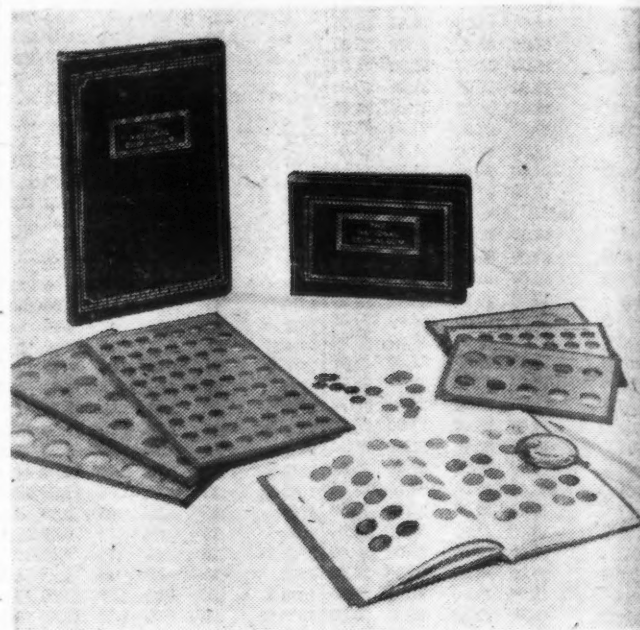

"Although Holly is only a small farming community," commented Chaney, "we always have had very successful shows. We are expecting an attendance in excess of 1,000."

Holly is located approximately 14 miles south of Flint and 20 miles northwest of Pontiac.

First Of A Series

Editor Takes Long Look At Canadian Attractions

Affinity Between Nations Adds To Numismatic Interest

Coin World is privileged to present the first of a three-part series of stories prepared exclusively for its readers by A. E. H. Petrie, editor of The Canadian Numismatic Journal.

Editor Petrie, who is associated with the Public Archives at Ottawa, accomplishes two purposes in this series — he promotes understanding of Canada and Canadian numismatics, and he shares experiences of his recent European travels — a true numismatist's holiday.

He visited with leading numismatists in England, France, Spain and Greece, and he shares his impressions of these interesting and significant talks and travels in a vivid manner and style.

Here is Part I:

By A. E. H. Petrie

The Canadian Numismatic Journal, which it is my chore and pleasure to edit and publish for the Canadian Numismatic Association, whose official monthly it is, was first brought out in printed form in January, 1956.

Since then, total enrollment of C. N. A. members who receive it has risen from 1,000 to nearly 4,500, though some 2,500 of these are active at the moment — about 25 per cent living in the United States. Moreover, members of the Canadian Numismatic Association are found in 48 of the 50 United States; their support is not only appreciated, but has been essential to our continued existence.

Perhaps a main reason for the turning of Americans to Canadian coins was the publication of Whitman's special folders for them in 1951. Of course we, too, use dollars and cents: the Royal Canadian Mint's six coin denominations consist of the silver dollar, 50 cents, 25 cents, 10 cents, the nickel 5 cents, and bronze one cent.

These naturally attracted the attention of U. S. friends when their own sets become unduly difficult or expensive to complete. Canada's population has risen from 13 million in 1948 to more than 18 million now, but still remains less than one-tenth that of the United States. The result for our hobby can readily be imagined:

American collectors, desiring Canadian material in mint condition for sound investment reasons, speedily forced up the cost of choice early Dominion coins beyond our reach too. Thousands upon thousands of new collectors entering the field from all over North America — and the C. N. A.'s active membership, in relation to our population, already compares in size with that of the A. N. A. — have added their demands for material in a relatively constant market, so — the prices are well up for both U. S. and Canadian decimals!

To cope with this situation and not deprive new friends in numismatics for their fun at reasonable outlay, Whitman's (10 years after its first Canadian folders) has just produced fresh ones for British bronze of the past century, with additional ones for other denominations to follow.

Canada, as Senior Dominion of the British Commonwealth of Nations (which means that, outside of Great Britain itself, we first won the right to elect our own representatives to govern us, among all regions under the Crown), has long since had close ties with both the United Kingdom of Great Britain and our great southern neighbour, the United States of America.

Being "in between", we have every sound reason for remaining the staunch ally of both John Bull and Uncle Sam.

Canada's monetary system changed in 1857 to conform with that of the U. S. A. — from pounds currency to Canadian dollars. We are your best customer: 18 million Canadians buy 50 per cent more in the United States than 185 million American spend in Canada. On the other hand, some $3 million of U. S. risk capital pours into this Dominion every day, though that does not correct Canada's growing trade deficit!

These details entered prominently into the recent controversy between the Governor of the Bank of Canada and the Canadian Government's Finance Minister; the former took it upon himself to tell Canadians they must invest more in developing their own resources and not let Americans do too much for them if they wish to retain control over their domestic affairs.

The Finance Minister naturally took strong objection to the entry of an appointed officer of the State into the politico-economic arena. Whatever the ultimate outcome may be (the Governor of the Bank of Canada has resigned), this urgent Canadian problem is at the heart of those vague suspicions many Americans harbor about Canadians' "unfriendly" feelings toward them.

Nothing, of course, could be farther from the truth — not only because we are so closely tied to the United States for our development and survival, but also because much of our own background is American. After all, we, too, are Americans: British North Americans.

American Colonists loyal to the British Crown came here in the 1780's, after the Revolution, to seek asylum and for them were created what have since become the Provinces of Ontario (largest and wealthiest of the Dominion) and New Brunswick. Canadian volunteers served with both the Union and Confederate Armies in the Civil War. Until recently, as well, many of Canada's ablest young minds went to the United States, where future prospects seemed brighter.

Since the Second World War, with flood tide of immigration to our shores (over 100,000 Italians to Toronto alone during the 1950's), the building up of cities and diversification of industries, more and more of the best young people are staying with us to make their contribution at home.

Your time and my effort have been spent on these details to emphasize how deep and strong are the economic and sentimental ties between our two countries: how Canada, before she could be united by political Confederation in 1867, had in 1857 to enact a unified monetary system after the American model.

It is hardly surprising, therefore, that U. S. collectors should have turned to Canadian decimal coins — not only as something they could readily understand, but also because Canada is right next door, yet sufficiently different that its money offered a challenge.

From what has been said it is clear that the tremendous growth of the Numismatic hobby in North America of recent years has resulted in soaring prices for our own early decimal coinage, so that we must look further afield to carry on at a more reasonable level of expenditure.

Besides, for young people in the modern world it is essential to know something about the rest of mankind — now in a terrible hurry to catch up with us, offering potential friendships and markets which cannot be ignored if we are to maintain leadership. What better and more pleasant way to learn about these countries, their monetary policies, social and economic backgrounds, than through collecting their coins and currency?

Next week: We go abroad. . .

August 30 Deadline For Auction Bids

"The year's greatest sale of Canadian coins" is the way the three-session auction at the eighth annual Canadian Numismatic Association in Hamilton August 31-September 2 has been described by convention officials and the man who heads the auction—J. E. Charlton of the Canada Coin Exchange.

First auction session is to be held at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday; the second session will start at 2:30 p.m. on Friday with the concluding auction at 10 a.m. Saturday.

The 1961 donation auction with John J. Pittman presiding will be held following the Saturday night banquet. All proceeds from the latter event go to the C.N.A.

Mail bids should be mailed to J. E. Charlton at the Canada Coin Exchange, 80 Richmond Street, East, Toronto 1, Canada; late bids may be sent directly to Charlton at the Royal Connaught Hotel in Hamilton. August 30 is the deadline.

Copies of the handsome 72-page auction catalog have been received by collectors across the United States and Canada for their inspection of the great variety of materials to be offered.

"The most important coin collections are usually sold by auction, and collectors are thereby provided with an excellent and often the only opportunity of acquiring many rare numismatic items," Charlton pointed out.

Some of the material in this sale comes from the cabinets of the late Jack Sharpe, Norman Rare 1936 dot cent will be one of the offerings at the C.N.A. auction.

B. Mason and others, Charlton said. He urged attendance at the convention for inspection of the materials.

Canadian rarities will include specimen sets in cases of 1908, 1911 and 1937; proof set of 1947 ML with the rare curved 7, 50 cents; mint sets from 1936 to date; proof-like sets from 1951 to date; Canadian and Newfoundland gold sets and Canadian sovereigns except 1916; practically all the rare decimal coins including the 1921 5 cents and 50 cents, 1858 large date 5 cents, 1875 5 cents, 10 cents and 25 cents, 1889 10 cents, 1890 and 1894 50 cents, all silver dollars, Newfoundland 1885 one cent, 5 cents and 10 cents, 1880 oval "O" 1 cent, and a 1946 5 cents.

Rare Canadian tokens will include Northwest Co., Bank of Montreal side view pennies and half pennies, jetons, bridge tokens, encased stamps, P.E.I. holey dollar, Hudson's Bay tokens etc.

British specimens offered are the four gold coins, of Victoria, Edward VII, George V and George VI.

Canadian paper money includes province of Canada $1, 1866; practically all dates and denominations of Dominion of Canada notes from the 25 cents, $1, and $2 of 1870 to the $500 and $1000 of 1925; obsolete Canadian Bank notes of Gore, Home, Ontario, Northern Crown, Sterling etc. U.S. gold from California fractional to $20, (except the $4.) plus Mormon $5. of 1849; half cents to dollars plus commemorative 25 cents, 50 cents and $1, and so-called dollars.

Over 100 gold coins of the world will sell along with over 100 crowns and dollar-size silver coins of the world including many cut and counterstamped coins, New South Wales holey dollar and centre plug.

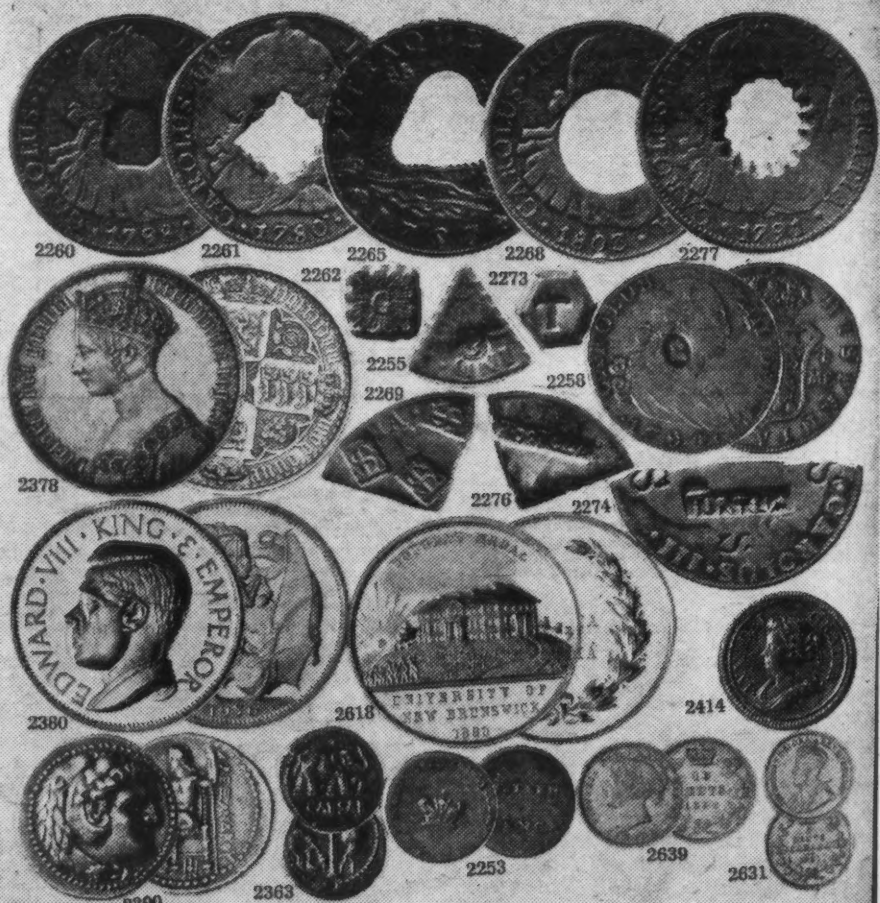

Early English, Oriental including ancient spade, key, pants and knife money of China, ancient Greek including Alexander the Great gold stater will add variety.

Items contributed for the C.N.A.

include lot 4, billion marque 1738; lot 18, Bank of Montreal side view half penny, 1839; lot 27, Quebec bridge token; lot 407, Canadian 1890 50 cents; lot 860, Weir and Larminie encased 10 cent stamp, lot 869, Wellington half penny token in silver; lot 880, Canadian 25 cent 1893, Unc.; lot 955, Spain 4 escudos, 1788; lot 956 Canadian 50 cents, 1871 in EF.

Army Medal For Jubilee

A commemorative medallion to be presented to members of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps — and to be made available to collectors at a small cost — was announced in the Canadian Bulletin's June issue.

The announcement came from the army headquarters in Ottawa saying the silver medal bore the regimental badge of the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps with the corps motto, "nil sine labore" embossed on a scroll for the obverse.

The reverse has this inscription: "Diamond jubilee, The Royal Canadian Army Service Corps, 1901-1961."

French Coins Few

The French regime in Canada circulated few coins; the coinage of 1670 is rarest.

AN IMPORTANT LETTER TO 72,267 COIN WORLD READERS

Dear Friend,

As a collector of Numismatic items, you are interested in having the best, most complete collection possible—a collection that will show your good taste in selecting material of outstanding merit, beauty of design and presentation.

There have been many phases of collecting for you to enter. First in importance are the United States coins and currency; items that are in all of our collections.

Second in importance in your collections are the various Commemorative issues of the U. S. Government, and the various medals struck by independent groups.

If you have any commemoratives or medals in your collection, or if you ever plan to add them to your collection, then this letter is for you. We want to give you some information you should consider when you are buying commemoratives of any kind.

In recent times, the United States Government issued coins of various denominations using the commemorative principle. Within the past few years the government has discontinued this practice to go into the full-scale production of Proof Coins for collectors.

As you can see, there is a void in Numismatic Commemoratives.

The Medal of the Month Club was formed to fill this void. The Club regularly issues Numismatic Commemorative Medals that honor people of great achievement, commemorate important historic events, and memorialize places and items of great significance.

Thus, the Medal of the Month Club is fulfilling a function important to Americans and the Heritage of our great country.

Now we would like to tell you a little about the Club and how it operates. The Medal of the Month Club was begun in January of 1961, and was an immediate success. The reason for the success can be summed up in the following items which constitute the reasons why new members are joining every day.

* The Medal of the Month Club Commemorative Medals approximate the federal government Commemorative half dollars as closely as federal law permits. They are 1 and 5/16 inches in diameter (34 mm) which is midway between the size of the half dollar and the silver dollar. The Treasury Department frowns upon other sizes within the coinage range and has even threatened to stop production of some that are exactly coin size.

* The Club issues are released every month, giving you a continuing series which you can build regularly into the finest set of medals for display purposes.

* Prices are within reach of every collector—the Nickel Silver issue is only $1.00 per month to club members. The Sterling Silver medal is priced at $3.12 on a subscription basis. Purchased singly, without a subscription, they would be $1.25 for nickel silver and $3.75 for sterling silver.

* Despite the other factors, the reason for obtaining the club medals still lies mainly in the medals themselves.

THEY COMMEMORATE SIGNIFICANT EVENTS, PEOPLE, PLACES - SUPERIOR DESIGN - OUTSTANDING QUALITY OF ENGRAVING - STRUCK WITH UTMOST CARE - IN LIMITED QUANTITIES AVAILABLE IN BOTH STERLING SILVER AND NICKEL SILVER.

* Membership also allows you to buy many other Numismatic items and supplies at a discount of 20% off regular retail prices. This fact alone often will pay for the entire subscription within a year.

There are other things we feel you should know before you send your subscription, and we think it would be nice for you to compare the Club Medals with other commemorative medals being offered.

When you make the comparison, check the following things: SIZE - Do they all fit in the same standard holders, or do you have to pay extra high prices for a special holder, or possibly have to let them lie around without holders easily available? FINISH - Do they have standard finishes or do they come in various shades, none of which seem to match? STRUCK or CAST? - Are they properly engraved to give a sharp strike, or do they have rounded, unfinished-looking relief? (Club medals are struck on standard coining presses similar to mint equipment.) DESIGN - Are they attractively designed, not cluttered, hard to see or read, or look like someone was trying to jam everything into a little space?

Now let's talk about PRICE in a paragraph by itself because the Club medals are in a price by themselves. An attempt was made to keep the medals priced low enough for every collector. This has been done, without cutting quality. This can be done because of volume and continuing subscriptions. Most other medals are overpriced - example - aluminum or bronze often are $1.75 or more, and they want $6.00 to $8.50 for sterling. Frankly, those prices are out of line. Thus The Medal of the Month Club offers you the best - at a price that everyone can afford.

WHAT ABOUT EXTRAS? - Do the other medals offer you plastic holders at a discount? Do they let you buy additional medals at a discount of 20% less than regular retail? Do they give you 20% discount on such things as 2x2 envelopes, plastic tubes, plastic coin envelopes, padded shipping bags, 2x2 paper coin frames, and other collectors' supplies? If the answer is "no" then you should join the Medal-of-the-Month Club.

Yes, the Club offers all of these comparison advantages and many more.

Now comes the time for a decision! By the time you have read this far, you have formed some opinions. Opinions about the advantages of the Medal-of-the-Month Club. Opinions about the extra discount you would receive in addition to the lower prices. Opinions about adding the Club medals to your collection.

If any of these opinions are favorable - we would like an opportunity to put your name on the Club subscription list for a trial subscription.

A trial subscription for six months of nickel silver medals will cost you only $5.00. That is only 83c per medal, PLUS our sending you two different Kansas Centennial Medals free - making the cost to you only 62c per medal.

If you would like to take advantage of this reduced rate on a yearly subscription, we will send you all 12 medals for the year 1961 for only $10.00 - and still give you the two Kansas Centennial Medals free. At regular retail prices for individual medals, this offer would cost you $17.50, but you get them all for only $10.00.

Can you get better value from anyone else? We doubt it.

Another good value is in store if you would prefer Sterling Silver for your trial subscription. A trial subscription for six months will be only $16.25 (You get the same two Kansas Centennial Medals also). Or a yearly trial subscription in Sterling will be only $32.50 including all the 1961 Club medals and the Kansas extras.

A Combination subscription (1 each of sterling and nickel silver each month) can be yours on a trial subscription for only $42.50 per year or $21.25 for six months. (Kansas medals - four of them - free here, too.)

As you can see . . . It costs you less . . . and you get more . . . when you are a member of the Medal-of-the-Month Club.

If you would still like more information, drop us a letter or card and we will send it right away. Or, tuck a dollar bill in the envelope too, and we will also send you a sample medal.

We will be looking forward to receiving your letter requesting a trial subscription, and will be prompt in answering your request.

Sincerely,

MEDAL-OF-THE-MONTH CLUB

Novel Dividers Will Mark Air-Conditioned Bourse Area

Forty-four dealers from Canada and the United States will assemble in the Sheraton room of the Royal Connaught Hotel in Hamilton for the eighth annual Canadian Numismatic Association convention where they will find themselves in an "over the garden fence" atmosphere.

Albert Sentes, Burlington, Ontario, chairman of the bourse committee, said the bourse spaces are separated from adjacent ones by waist-high dividers which give leeway for conversation with neighbors "over the fence."

The large bourse room has air conditioning for maximum comfort, and lunch cart service will be available, Sentes said.

The bourse room is about 101 by 44 feet; each bourse space is seven feet, six inches by six feet.

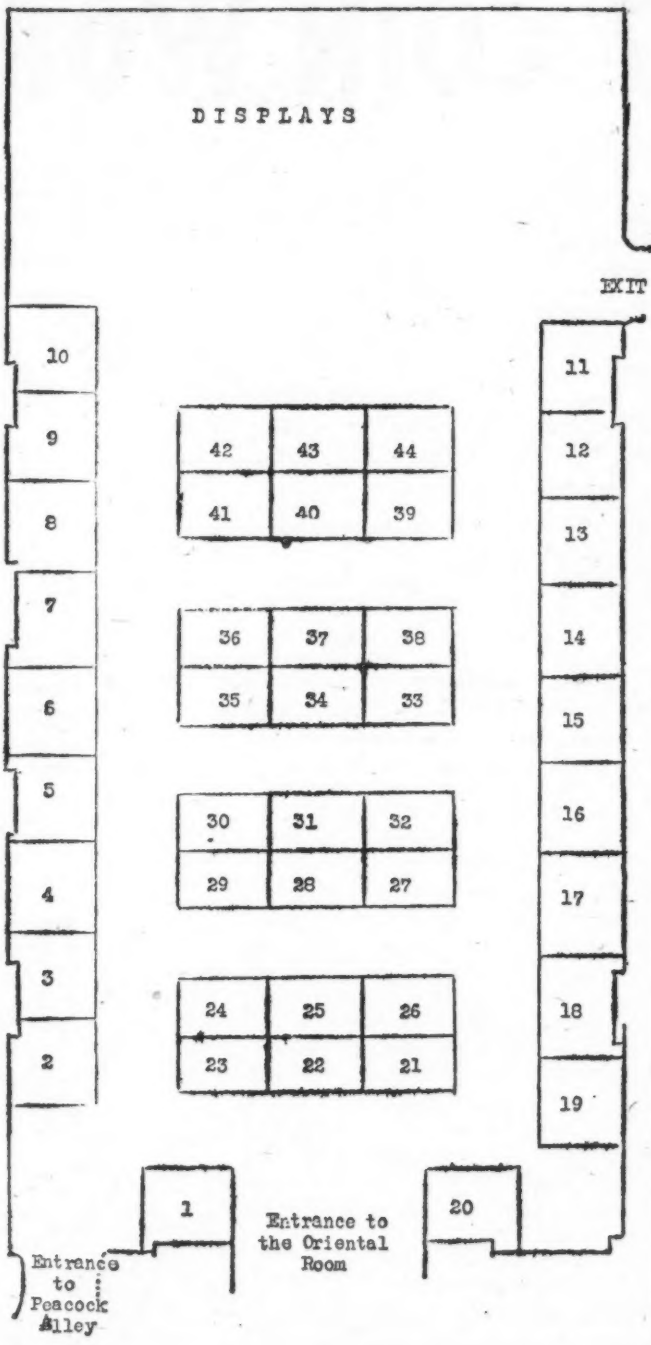

Police protection will be provided 24 hours a day for the three days of the convention in both the bourse and display room of the convention.

Canadian Writer Optimistic; Says More Coins Are Available

Coin collectors have "never had it so good." This sums up the philosophy expressed by Peter Degraaf, editor of the Bulletin of the Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, Coin Club, writing in the February issue.

On the topic of "Coin Stocks," he writes:

"Collectors who rely solely on the coins they find in their pocket change or from the rolls they go through must be getting slightly disappointed. It appears that the cream has been skimmed from the coins in circulation in all but a few rural areas.

"This does not mean that there aren't any more coins around and it shouldn't worry any collectors to the extent that they'll pay more for a coin than it's worth.

"Some people may think that since most scarce coins have now disappeared from circulation, these coins have found their way into collections and are therefore unobtainable. This, of course, is not true. The number of hoarders (people who gather anything and everything, throw it into a box and who don't belong to an organized club), actually outnumber the collectors.

"Most true collectors keep only one copy of each coin and pass along duplicates as fast as they can either at an auction or at the bourse tables. The hoarder, however, may have any number of duplicate coins. This type of person will be the first to dispose of his stock, creating a steady supply of coins to coincide with the demand of new collectors.

"Another storage area of coins is the dealers' stocks. Coin dealers are popping up all over the place, and as long as our hobby keeps increasing in popularity, the number of coin dealers will keep pace with the increase. Although this may sound peculiar, this trend is to the advantage of the collector who is interested in buying coins. A good example can be found in Charlton's catalogue. In his fifth edition the 1948 1.00 B.U. was quoted at $15. The following year this same coin was worth $30, an increase of 100 per cent. Comparing the eighth and ninth edition, however, we find the value remained unchanged at $75.00.

"This shows that even though the number of collectors has multiplied many times, the amount of coins available has been enough to fill demand. People who want to dispose of coins have a greater choice of dealers now than they've ever had and therefore more coins are available to collectors than at any time in the past. "The collectors' outlook therefore, is brighter than ever."

New Token Book Is Printed

"The Ships Colonies and Commerce Tokens of Canada," is a new 16-page book just out for Canadian specialists.

Published by Walter G. Holmes, London, Ontario, the book is a revision of W. A. D. Lees classifications.

Leslie C. Hill, in reviewing the work, said: "This revision and consolidation of Lees descriptions and plates of Bretons No. 997 and No. 1000 which appeared originally in the Numismatist for January 1917 with additions in later issues, will serve to provide the present day numismatist with detailed information on this interesting series, which would be otherwise practically unavailable.

The publisher has given due credit to the American Numismatic Association for permission to reprint material which originally appeared in the Numismatist.

It is the same format as the Canadian Numismatic Journal and for a nominal charge of $1.50 it provides a ready reference in convenient form under one cover. An important contribution to Canadian numismatic literature in 1961.

Two 1953 Dies

Most students of Canadian coinage are familiar with the fact that there are two complete sets of dies for the 1953 coinage.

Halifax Club Holds Banquet

Halifax Coin Club, established in December, 1958, held its first club banquet this year in April, and the affair was pronounced a real success.

Issuance of a centennial medal was another of the club's achievements during 1961.

A series of interesting meeting places has been arranged by the club officers—in May the group met at the Citadel Provincial Museum. In the fall plans are underway for the club to meet at the Provincial Archives.

Major S. S. Carroll of Armdale is president; Nelson C. Boltz, Spryfield, is secretary, and Rev. E. Morris, Armdale, is editor of the club bulletin.

Study Of Early English Coinage Presented By Oakville Numismatist

"I'm David Ash by name and a nomad by nature."

So begins a special feature on early English coinage, prepared for Coin World by David Ash, a member of the Oakville, Ontario, Coin Club, who precludes his study with a biography.

"I have lived in Canada for the past five years, four of these in Oakville," he continued.

"Earlier, I lived in England where I received my final education. Without being thrasonical I have lived in Africa, Malta, Europe, and certain parts of Scandinavia, and for any numismatists who are thinking on travel, the grass is as green on the other side of the fence, but the coins are sure interesting.

"Talking of coins, I became a collector over 20 years ago when nine years of age, shortly after moving to England. As a young boy I found a George III penny in the garden and like any boy wanted to know what I had found.

"My first move was a visit to the nearby city museum and numerous questions aimed at the elderly curator. What, why, and where.

"My face fell when he told me the sad news, the coin was covered in pit marks and corrosion and not worth a great amount.

"After recovering from this shock I carried the coin to my school principal with a hope inwardly he would console me and my find. He turned the coin over in his hand and bluntly remarked, 'Well, my boy, you have a coin older than yourself. But what does it tell you?'

"Nothing," I replied meekly.

"It is a George the third penny, sir," I remarked proudly.

"I can see that," said the principal sternly, 'but you must realize even coins have a history and, I think this will make an excellent essay for you.'

"Well, I did the essay and became a coin collector. Even today, the principal's words have remained in my mind—you must realize even coins have a history. At the present time I collect coinage from England, France, Netherlands, German States, Ancient India, and Australia."

Author Ash's story begins with the English line, starting with William I until Edward II, covering the Norman House and part of the Plantagenet House.

Any questions Coin World readers might have may be addressed to the Canadian numismatist in care of this paper, and they will be forwarded to him.

By David Ash
Oakville, Ontario

The whole of England's history and heritage has been entwined with its importance as an island. Many great battles have been fought to conquer this domitable people, and often the existence of the English Channel has saved them.

But today, due to great numbers of numismatists, this history is being retraced in the form of coin collecting. And the informative needs for easy access, to this field have forced collectors to search far and wide for required information.

We may easily say the best possible place to study early English coinage is at the time of William the Conqueror, the first of the Norman kings. Here we find many of the coins closely connected with those of the earlier Saxon Period, Roman, and Ancient Greek.

Some confusion has been caused by the term "sterling," which was early connected with the English coinage. It applied to the quality of the mintage, which was examined periodically during the months of March, April, and May. As this is in the Christian time, this period is known as Easter. Hence, the term "Easterling" or "sterling," denoted coins of true weight and value as last attested.

William I (1066-1087) Norman House:

On the 14th October, 1066, a crushing defeat was inflicted on Harold II at the battle of Hasting when an archer's arrow mortally entered his eye; and on Christmas Day William was crowned king at Westminster.

The hammered silver pennies of William's reign weighed from 20 to 21 grains, and there were farthings and half-pennies as money of account, but not then struck as separate coins. On the reverse of these pennies the cross was used as a divider, the penny being broken in two or four along the arms of the cross, for use as might be most convenient.

The name "Willelm" is spelt on the coins with a Saxon "P" instead of "W", hence the reading of the legend are, "PILLEEM REX," and sometimes spelt "PILLELM REX."

On all the information we may find in this reign we finally draw a conclusion there were over 250 moneyer's names, spelt in different ways, and over sixty mints. These of course include legal and illegal minters, as at that time it seemed to be the recognized procedure. Of the chief types of the obverses are those with the king's profile bust to the left with the sceptre, and the "bonnet" type—a front face with crown and tassels, (sometimes known as the canopy) which also represents the king holding a sceptre. The common type of the reverses is the PAXS type, and the letters appear in the angles of the cross.

In 1087 King William I invaded the French Vexin to retaliate on the garrison of Mantes for the raids committed on his territory. He sacked and burned the town. But as he rode out to view the ruins his horse plunged forward on the burning cinders, threw him, and inflicted on him an internal injury. He was carried in great suffering to Rouen and there died on September 9, 1087. He was buried at Saint Stephen's at Caen.

William II (1087-1100) Norman House:

William the Second, King of England, surnamed Rufus was crowned at Westminster 15 days after the death of his father.

The coinage in this reign appears to have very few distinguishing marks between those and his predecessor. It is surmised, therefore, that comparatively few coins were struck during the time of William Rufus and a greater part of those issued were from dies used in the previous reign.

Usually the hammered silver pennies were slightly heavier than those of the Conqueror, weighing over 21 grains. The principal varieties of the coins, differ materially, are a full front face with a star at either side, and a front face with a sword instead of a sceptre, and a star at the left side of the head. The inscription on all these coins usually read, "PILLEEM REX."

On August 2, 1100, William II was hunting in the forest when his horse stumbled and threw him. He died unmarried and without an heir.

Henry I (1100-1135) Norman House:

Henry was the fourth son of William I. Most of the silver pennies of this reign are cruder in form and not so clearly cut as the earlier pennies. Henry seemed to have recognized the necessity of preventing forgery and the clipping of coins, and heavy penalties were inflicted.

One of the worse diabolical or medieval penalties inflicted was the loss of a hand. This meant that the earls overseeing their shires imposed the penalty on those who broke or disfigured coins in any form. Furthermore, many of the moneyers who apparently reduced the size of the coins were executed.

There are several points of difference besides the change of name, which makes it comparatively easy to distinguish between the pennies of Henry I and those of his predecessors, although the king's name is spelt in various ways.

In a few cases only the initials "H.R." are found; on others the full name "HENRICVS," to which is added, "REX," or "REX ANGLORVM." Of the several varieties there are frontfaced coins similar to those of William, and on the reverse is a cross fleury with a trefoil in each angle, and reverses with "PAX" across the field; some with a profile of large size, a sceptre in the right hand; and on the others a full front or three-quarter face with a sceptre on the obverse and a cross fleury on the reverse. Here again we find there are many names of moneyers, and approximately 30 mints.

Henry I died on December 1, 1135, in the 36th year of his reign, and was buried in the abbey of Reading which he himself had founded.

Parliament Building On Silver Dollar

Canada's equivalent of our Capitol, its monumental Parliament Building in Ottawa, is pictured on a silver dollar issued in 1939 to commemorate the visit of the King and Queen.

The Parliament buildings are on a high bluff above the Ottawa River. The center block contains the chambers of the House of Commons and Senate. These are connected by the Parliamentary Library, constructed on the plan of a cathedral chapter house.

From the center front of this block rises the great "Peace and Victory" tower, which houses memorial chambers commemorating the nearly 70,000 Canadians killed in World War I. The tower has a carillon of 53 bells.

These buildings replaced the original Parliament buildings destroyed by fire in 1916.

The center block of buildings and the Peace Tower are shown on the reverse of the Royal Visit commemorative coin, with the inscriptions "Fide Suorum Regnat" and "Canada I Dollar."

On the obverse is the bust of George VI facing left with the legend "Georgius VI D:G: Rex et Ind: Imp:"

The design of the coin was modeled by Emanuel Hahn of Canada and the matrix and first working dies prepared at the Royal Mint in London. In all, 1,363,816 of the commemorative dollars were issued in 1939.

Token Struck For Anniversary

On August 20, the corporation of the county of Victoria, province of Ontario, observed its 100th anniversary of incorporation.

To mark the occasion the Lindsay Chamber of Commerce will issue a bronze token to be made available to the public at a cost of $1.

A limited number of these tokens will be struck and orders may now be placed through the Victoria and Simcoe Numismatic Association, c/o Russell G. Heard, Woodville, Ontario, Canada at the following prices. One to 10 tokens, 90 each; 11 to 100 tokens, .85 each; over 100 tokens, .80 each prepaid.

Sets All Sold

Official presentation sets of the 1962 C.N.A. medal in gold, sterling silver and bronze in special cases have all been sold, according to the convention secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Thelma Anderson, of Hamilton.

Centers On Ocean Floor

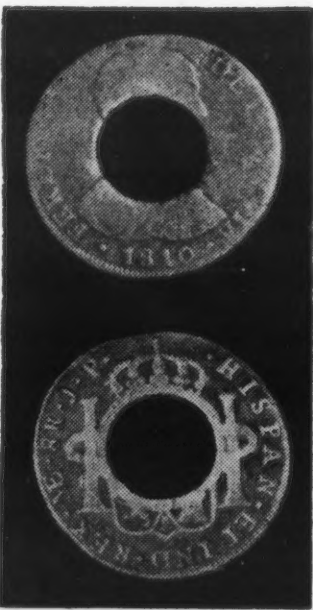

Back in the 1700's the Spanish government minted a large silver coin which through wide circulation became known as the Spanish dollar or Holey dollar.

Around the end of the 18th century, this coin was in constant circulation in eastern Canada and the United States. The value of the coin varied in different centres but was highest in Halifax, with the result that, whenever the merchants of Prince Edward Island secured them, they sent them to Halifax to take advantage of the higher rate.

The resulting shortage of coin in P.E.I. prompted the governor to gather in all the Spanish dollars he could and have their centers punched out. The punched centers were passed as shillings and the outer rims as $5.

The mutilated coins were, of course, not accepted outside of the island and as a consequence, remained in circulation there. The center pieces, however, became scarce, one reason for that being that one shrewd Charlottetown merchant discovered that these punched out centers contained nearly $2 worth of metallic silver.

Unfortunately the ship that carried his collection of punched centers to London never arrived at its destination, and the punched pieces probably still rest at the bottom of the Atlantic.

Trends Of Today's Canadian Coin Values

C.N.A. Session Will Set Trends

By J. E. Charlton
80 Richmond St., East
Toronto, Ont., Canada

Canadian Numismatic Association Conventions have progressed a long way since the Toronto convention in 1954 at the King Edward Hotel which had a registration of 101 and an auction sale of material with a value of approximately $5,000.

This year's convention at Hamilton, Ontario is expected to have a registration exceeding 500 and an Auction sale amounting to $50,000.

It will be the first Convention in an Ontario city since 1958 and as many of the Ontario Coin Clubs have been organized since then, it will be the first national convention for many of these new club members.

Hamilton is centrally located and is within easy driving distance of most Ontario and many U.S. communities. It can also be easily reached by rail and air transportation and many will be taking advantage of this opportunity to attend.

We are looking forward to meeting old friends as well as many of the new collectors, even though a great deal of our time will be spent handling the convention auction.

Many collectors look to the yearly C.N.A. convention auctions as an opportunity to acquire Canadian rarities, some of which are seldom offered for sale otherwise.

Values are also established for such rare numismatic material. This year's sale will be of added importance due to the unusually large and varied offerings from the cabinets of veteran numismatists.

NOTE: Large Cents in Br. Unc. seldom obtainable and command a premium of 50 per cent to 75 per cent over Unc. prices.

Hudson's Bay Tokens Used For Many Years As Currency Supplement

A first issue of Canadian coins was introduced simultaneously by the Bank of Montreal, the Banque du Peuple and the City Bank of Quebec, and consisted of half penny and one penny coins, according to the Bank of Canada's Story of Canada's Currency.

At various times from 1823 to as late as 1871 the provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Islands and British Columbia produced coinage of various sorts. British Columbia established a mint for the production of $10 and $20 gold pieces but it does not appear that more than a few sample pieces were ever struck.

The Hudson Bay Company contributed to the stockpile of currency through the issue of 5 and 1 pound notes beginning in 1823 and these were used generally in the west for several decades. In 1854 the company introduced a metallic token called a "made-beaver" which continued in use in the north to as late as 1910. Fractional denominations of these coins represented 1/4, 1/2 and 1/4 beaver. The North West Company is believed to have issued token money as early as 1820.

In central Canada the efforts made by the growing financial community to solve the problem of currency continued to be complicated by a loss of "hard" currency to the United States as cross-border trade increased. As a result, sentiment in favour of a national currency increased. About mid-century Francis Hincks, who dominated Canadian financial policy from 1848-1854 as inspector general and from 1851 as prime minister, made a series of valiant efforts to establish the right to issue national currency in Canada.

He was opposed by strongly held opinion in the British Treasury that the right to issue coinage and currency resided "in the breast of the sovereign." Hincks pursued his objective with great vigor even though his first financial enactments were disallowed by British Treasury authorities. His work bore fruit in the end, however, for by 1858 Canada did in fact control its own currency.

Hudson's Bay Company tokens represented the unit of currency used in the fur trade for many decades. The largest—one "made-beaver"—was equal in value to the skin of an adult male beaver in prime condition. Smaller sizes represented one-half, one-quarter and one-eighth made-beaver. Before these brass tokens came into use, a made-beaver was represented by a stick, a porcupine quill, an ivory disc, a musket ball or anything else agreed upon — by the trader and trapper. The trapper would use the units to make his purchases from the store. George Simpson McTavish of Albany Fort designed the tokens in 1854. (Photo courtesy Bank of Canada.)

It is also worth noting that the Provinces of Canada Currency Act of 1853 legalized transactions in decimal currency for the first time. Gold coin was made unlimited legal tender and the adoption of the gold standard dates from this time and continued until 1914. The Currency Act of 1858 required that all government accounts be kept in decimal currency. Provision was made for a corresponding decimal coinage and for the first time the measure of value and medium of exchange really corresponded.

Metropolitan Club Issues Unique, Original Bulletin

One of the most outstanding and creative club bulletins issues from the Metropolitan Numismatic Club, P. O. Box 841, Adelaide St., Postal Section, Toronto.

Winifred Mather and her illustrator, Bruce Deller, are the two specialists responsible for the single-sheet bulletin.

Described as a "lulu of a good-will effort on their part by a fellow club member," the bulletin could serve as a suggested guide and pattern for hundreds of poor coin club secretaries who have more or less grudgingly accepted a thankless job, according to C. G. Jarvis.

"The majority of these amateurs scratch their heads in vain trying to perk up interest, increase attendance, etc. while saddled with the job," observed Jarvis.

"Here, I believe, is a partial solution," he said as he pointed to the M.N.C. bulletins.

They contain detailed illustrations—sketches or photographs of numismatic material including program topics. There are descriptions and illustrations of outstanding pieces in the collections of club members.

The announcements and reporting of past and future activities are concise, clear and the combination of all these features make the bulletin something to look forward to, to file and to study instead of giving it a toss.

Following Confederation in 1867, Parliament confirmed its control of currency. Through the Bank Act of 1871 provincial currency acts were repealed wherever they were in conflict with federal control. The Act also laid the foundations for the co-ordinated issue of currency by banks and — modified from time to time by decennial revisions — this system continued until 1934. Concurrently with the issue of currency by banks under this Act, the government began the issue of 25c, $1.00 and $2.00 Dominion of Canada notes — the first actually appearing in 1870.

In 1878 the practice of countersigning $1 and $2 notes by hand began and continued through several issues until as late as 1923. Dominion of Canada $4.00 notes made their appearance in 1882 and $5.00 notes in 1912. Notes in still larger denominations for general circulation followed.

Dominion of Canada "Bank Legal" notes for use in clearings between chartered banks were issued in denominations from $500 to $5,000 in 1896 and in 1918, $50,000 denominations made their appearance.

Canada Club Schedules Show

Royal City Coin Club, New Westminster, B. C., will stage its annual banquet, auction and exhibit on October 14 at the Hotel Leon, 3224 Barnett Highway, Port Moody, B. C.

Price for the banquet dinner, and admission into the auction and exhibit rooms is $2.50, announced Ian C. Disney, club secretary. Admission is 50 cents for those who wish only to attend the auction and exhibits.

Further information concerning the show may be obtained by contacting Disney at Box 594, New Westminster, B. C.

Juniors To Register

Juniors planning to attend the C.N.A. convention in Hamilton may register for the three day meeting for $5; this fee includes a medal. The Saturday night banquet will cost extra.

The Canadian Numismatic Association borrowed the design from the reverse of the first Canadian silver dollar, minted in 1935, and struck to mark the 25th year of King George V's reign, to use as its official insignia.

Mention Of Ship Sets Up Reverie

The enchanting and elegant Canadian 10 cent piece, first minted in 1937, which bears the schooner, Bluenose, has caused more dreaming and revival of memories than most any other Canadian coin.

C. E. Brisbin, chief librarian of the Waterloo Public Library, Waterloo, Ontario, has a story especially prepared for Coin World as a glimpse of the coin set him to writing.....and to dreaming...

By C. E. Brisbin
Waterloo, Ontario

Sailing ships have been slowly evolving for thousands of years. The large ocean-going ships reached a state of perfection at the middle of the last century which will never again be seen, only to be destroyed by the opening of the Suez Canal and the coming of steam.

Each industry breeds its own equipment and the vessels fishing off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland, pursued for almost five hundred years, reached a pinnacle of beauty and utility in the fishing schooner. Of all the schooners out of the Maritime Provinces and the New England states, Bluenose was the unbeaten champion.

The clean lines and smart sailing ability of these working boats was brought about by hard economic necessity. Having caught fish, the next step was to sell it and that as soon as possible, as fish is not a durable commodity. Therefore the boats raced for the fish markets of Boston and other seaboard cities to sell their catch. The boat which brought the most fish to market at the earliest moment made the most money.

Bluenose not only held the record of the largest catch of fish ever brought into her home port of Lunenburg, but also couldn't be beaten in racing for home with a full hold.

As fishermen went she was a large boat, 112 feet long on the water line and 141 feet from bow sprit to end of boom. Most fishing schooners were well under one hundred feet on the water line. To the landlubber the masts and sails carried by these relatively small ships is staggering.

Bluenose carried a main mast which towered 81 feet above the deck, and her foremast measured 73 feet. These were her working sticks. For the races topmasts were hoisted and secured to the tops of these masts to extend the 10,000 square feet of sail — almost one quarter of an acre — she set.

Thus in racing trim the mainmast towered as high as a thirteen-story building. The boom which stretched the foot of the mainsail was a huge spar, larger than any telegraph pole, measuring 81 feet in length. She was fast. She was logged at sixteen knots and few ships of any size, shape, or rigging have exceeded that speed for very long, although the clippers of last century are reported to have approached twenty knots for a few hours.

The natural competitiveness of the Canadian and American skippers in their races for markets had long been augmented by the yacht races for the America's Cup, which the Americans had lifted at Cowes in 1851 and held ever since.

The fishermen were fed up with the hair-splitting rules and regulations of the yacht races and finally in 1920 the Halifax Herald put up a cup for a race between working fishing boats. This cup, the International Fisherman's Trophy, was won by Bluenose in 1921 and successfully defended against all comers in 1922, 1923, 1931, and 1938 which was the last race held. In the last two races she fought it out with the beautiful Gertrude L. Thebaud of Gloucester, a boat which could claim the honour of having actually beaten Bluenose in a race for another trophy in 1930.

Bluenose was built at Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, in 1921 to the design of W. J. Roue of Halifax at the yard of Smith and Rhuland, the same yard which recently sent a new edition of H.M.S. Bounty down the ways for another filming of the famous mutiny. Her captain was the redoubtable Angus Walters of Lunenburg who still breathes fiery imprecations on the government which would let his beloved Bluenose be sold out of the country to break her back on a reef off Haiti in 1946.

Bluenose was a wizard at sailing to windward. When the wind piped up and she turned to begin the long zig zag tacking upwind to the buoy, no other schooner could stay with her and no other skipper could coax the last bit of speed from her as could Captain Angus Walters. He took her to England for the Silver Jubilee of King George V and that veteran yachtman took to her so much he presented her with a suit of sails from his own champion yacht Britannica.

On the way back home Bluenose rode out a hurricane in the North Atlantic which proved to all that here was no coastal craft but a deep water ship with a deep water crew fully as good as those bred in Canada fifty years before, when Canada was the third maritime nation of the world. Later she attended the Chicago World's Fair and got her first taste of fresh water.

The depression made things rough for Bluenose as it did for everything and in 1936 she suffered the indignity of engines being installed. During the war she lost her masts and went into the freighting service in the West Indies where at about 8 p.m. on a dark and blustery night in January 1946 she struck a reef, broke her back and slid to the ocean floor.

BEST NEWS IN YEARS FOR COIN COLLECTORS

The Official AUGUSTUS SAINT-GAUDENS COMMEMORATIVE MEDAL

While this medal will be ready for delivery in about 30 days, we do not as yet have pictures of it for publication. But we will do the best we can by word description.

The idea or theme of COIN MEDALS, is to commemorate great coin designers, the men who made the coins we collect. Other medals to follow, equally as beautiful as the Saint-Gaudens now offered, will commemorate Barber, Morgan, Brenner, and other names familiar to all collectors.

Each medal will depict on the obverse, the finest work of the coin designer. The reverse will have data pertinent to his life and work. Of course, these famous designers did nice work in coins, but in medallics they could really give free rein to their imagination and ability. In a coin, the sculptor or designer is hampered by the small area of the coin, by the lettering and mottoes he is required to fit into the small area, and by the low relief, as the coins have to stack.

The Official Augustus Saint-Gaudens Medal is issued with the approval of the Trustees of The Saint-Gaudens Memorial in Cornish, New Hampshire. Two of the bronze medals, and the Number 1 and Number 2 of the serially numbered silver medals, will be put on permanent display in the Memorial Museum. These will be seen by thousands of visitors each year.

Now, to describe the Augustus Saint-Gaudens Medal,

OBVERSE: One of the finest medallic works of Saint-Gaudens, done by him in 1892, perhaps at the height of his career, for the Worlds Columbian Exposition. This medal is a private award medal, and as such, is very rare. It is Saint-Gaudens magnificent interpretation of the Discovery of America, showing Columbus stepping on the soil of the New World. Columbus' arms are outstretched, in humble gratitude to the Creator, for making his long voyage successful. A plaster cast of this Columbus is on display in the Memorial.

REVERSE: A depiction of Saint-Gaudens beautiful home and studio "Aspet", in Cornish, New Hampshire, where he lived, worked, and died in 1907. In the sky over the house, like a setting sun, is shown his famous Roman date Double Eagle, acknowledged the most beautiful American coin. This is truly an artistic presentation, as the sun did set on the famous sculptor's career the same year he designed the coin.

The Saint-Gaudens medal is being struck by The Metal Arts Company of Rochester, New York, master craftsmen in bronze and other metals. Any town, city, coin club, etc. desiring to commemorate some event with anything from a token to the finest medal, will do well to contact this company.

The Saint-Gaudens medal will be of 3 inch diameter, as all COIN MEDALS to follow. It weighs about 7½ ounces in bronze, and the .999 pure silver medal, being of the same thickness, weighs over 8 ounces. The silver medals will be serially numbered on the edge, and the issue will be limited to not over 5000. This is only one-half the number of Hawaii Half Dollars minted, and with the wide-spread interest COIN MEDALS will have, I can sincerely predict the Saint-Gaudens silver medal will be more difficult to obtain in a few years than the coin mentioned.

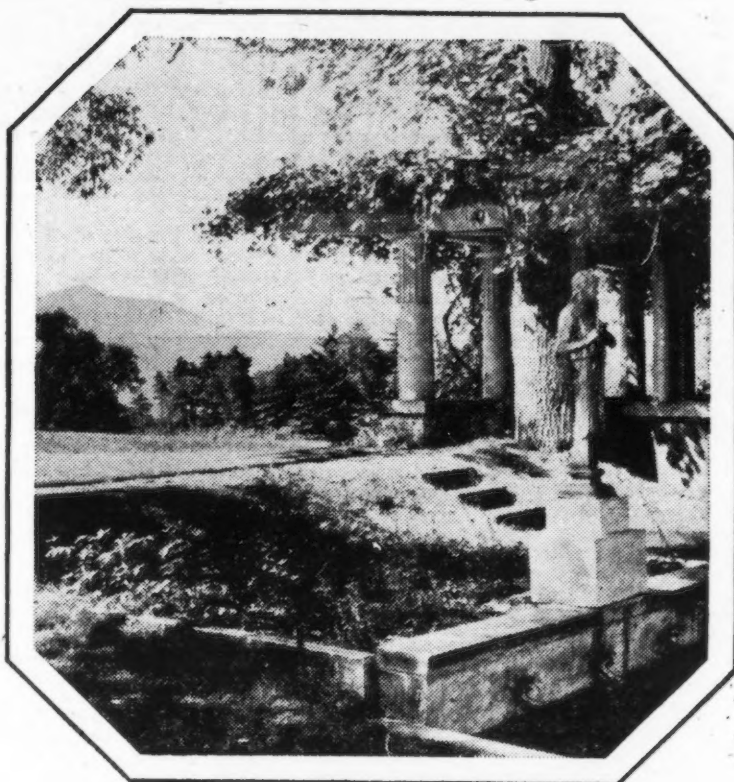

You can order now, for delivery in about 30 days.

The bronze medal is $5.50, or two for $10.00.

With appropriate holders and stands to be available later, two medals will afford a simultaneous view of the obverse and reverse.

Introductory price on the silver medal is a comparatively low $27.50

So we suggest you order now, as it has been proven that the first silver medals in a series are the most difficult to obtain later. Silver medal orders will receive acknowledgement of the order, with indication of the serial number of your medal.

SAINT - GAUDENS MUSEUM AT CORNISH NEW HAMPSHIRE

Illustrated above, is a corner of Saint-Gaudens studio in his former Home "Aspet". Every coin collector should visit this Memorial to our greatest sculptor, when his vacation takes him to the New Hampshire area. Therein, you will see many of his works.

The Memorial is directly across the Connecticut River from the beautiful town of Windsor, Vermont, and you drive across the river through one of the longest covered bridges in the world.

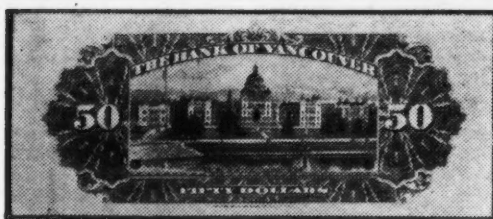

An art critic once said of the Memorial, "There is nothing about the Museum more important than just its enforcement of the deep sincerity, the high integrity of sculpture as Saint-Gaudens practiced it. I think of the Museum as upholding a fine standard. It is full of charm and beauty but most of all it seems to me to embody the conscience of a great artist".

The Memorial is open to the public from May 30 to October 15.

and treasurer; directors: Maritimes, Major Sheldon S. Carrola, Armdale, N. S.; Quebec, Harley F. Graham, Sherbrooke; Ontario, Bruce R. Brace, Hamilton; Manitoba, H. C. Taylor, Winnipeg, Saskatchewan, H. H. M. Van Buskirk, Regina; Alberta, Donald M. Stewart, Calgary; eastern United States, John J. Pittman, Rochester, N. Y.

The C.N.A. Journal, in listing qualifications of candidates, described the following:

Eddy Echenberg: C.N.A. director for Quebec, 1959-1961; life member of the C.N.A., member of the American Numismatic Association; co-founder of Sherbrooke Coin Club; president of that group from 1957-1960; leading organizer of C.N.A. convention at Sherbrooke; only honorary member of l'Association des Numismates de Montreal, and director of l'Association des Numismates de St-Hyacinthe; member of Montreal Coin and World Paper Money Clubs, the Vancouver Numismatic Society. He has contributed material to the C.N.A. Journal.

A. Mitchell MacDonald was C.N.A. director for the Maritimes, 1959-1961; life member of C.N.A.; member of A.N.A.; co-founder of the Halifax Coin Club (first in the Maritimes) first president and now honorary president of the Halifax Coin Club; representative for the Maritimes at the C.N.A. Regina and Sherbrooke conventions; personally associated with many groups in advancing numismatics across Canada during the past three years; has contributed material published in the Canadian Numismatic Journal; took necessary initiative to secure the 1964 C.N.A. convention for Halifax, and is actively concerned with this important event.

Scott Simpson has been a C.N.A. member since January, 1957. He is an active and leading member of the Vancouver Numismatic Society, and a keen student of numismatics for the past 10 years particularly in British Columbia, Yukon tokens and coins of the Philippines.

Arthur F. Geier has been a C.N.A. member since January, 1959, and actively engaged in the promotion of numismatics as a study and recreation in the mid-west—notably Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois—for many years. He is vice president of the Winona Coin Club, Winona, Minn., and has contributed material published in The Canadian Numismatic Journal.

Duane M. Tucker has been C.N.A. member since August, 1960. He is president and manager of the State Security Bank, Plentywood, Montana, and an executive of the Montana Bankers' Association. Organizer and first president of the International Coin Club at Plentywood, he arranged for the international coin show there in April, 1961. He is well known to numismatists in Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Illinois Club To Meet On August 24

The Champaign-Urbana, Ill., Coin Club scheduled its August meeting for Thursday, August 24, to be held in the Wahl room of the University of Illinois Y.M.C.A., starting at 8 p.m., and visitors were welcome.

The club at a recent meeting voted to present Tom Wright, an employee of the Champaign News-Gazette composing room, with a paid-up membership in recognition of his providing printed minutes of club meetings.

OFFICIAL U.S.S. OLYMPIA MEDAL

This beautiful medal was made from the propeller of Admiral Dewey's famous flagship at the Battle of Manila Bay. The Olympia, as shown in the illustration, appears on the obverse of the medal surrounded by Dewey's famous words, "YOU MAY FIRE WHEN YOU ARE READY, GRIDLEY." The propeller and beneath it the inscription, "MADE FROM PROPELLER OF ADMIRAL DEWEY'S FLAGSHIP WHICH SERVED IN THE BATTLE OF MANILA BAY, MAY 1, 1898" occupy the reverse.

The Olympia medal is available in two sizes, one a full 3" in diameter and the other slightly larger than a half dollar. The medals were struck in limited quantities in 1957 when the U.S.S. Olympia was being restored as a national shrine.

Beauty of design, fine workmanship, and historical significance assure the increasing value of the medal. Order yours today!

Postpaid prices for the Olympia medals are as follows:

Three inch size $7.50. Half dollar size $1.25

memberships were all we knew. Then came the war and millions of men travelled in the armed forces all over the globe meeting other nations, having other coins in their pockets. Even if spare time was short, the most logical hobby became coin collecting. Thousands of soldiers brought and sent these "strange" coins home. In some ways this procedure happened in Europe too and entire nations became coin conscious.

"Finally all this crystallized in the 'Big coin year'—1961. Coin clubs sprang up all over the world. Thousands of collectors joined the clubs, in the U.S.A., Germany, Italy and Holland, with other countries following.

"Coin World was the publication which broke the barriers holding back the national scope. If you want to predict what is in store for our hobby; watch the past history of philatelics and you can fairly well predict the development.

"How then did Dick Johnson and his Coin World associates know that 1961 was the year? They did not. All they knew was that the big break was due and so they developed Coin World as a weekly numismatic newspaper on that assumption. Coin World was a major factor in helping to create the 1961 breakthrough.

"In Europe, this has been a big year but it may not have been 'The' big year as yet. I am going to see for myself what is in store for Europe when I go to the international coin convention in Rome.

"Now, with over 1500 Coin clubs and societies in existence for coin collectors, an International Society with membership in all clubs is due—a Society which facilitates the entrance into all coin clubs and societies as "guest" which in corporate the news of all clubs, all over the world and of which the membership will eventually be essential.

"I hear that such an International Numismatic Society is in the making and I hope to get more news about this. An I.N.S. could concentrate all coin activities of dealers and collectors on an international basis. I.N.S. should not have meetings but only mailing activities," Schulman concluded.

Collectors Organize

Collectors in the Greenville, Hillsboro and Vandalia, Ill., area were scheduled to hold a club organization meeting recently, at the Donnell Funeral Home, 203 West Oak Street, in Greenville.

The group is to be known as the Tri-City Coin Club, and all collectors in Montgomery County are invited to join. Information on future meetings may be obtained at the Donnell Funeral Home.

Kansas Clubs Join Forces

Salina, Kan., Coin Club and the Mid-Kansas Philatelic Society are jointly sponsoring a coin and stamp show to be held on September 9 and 10 at the 4-H Building Kenwood Park, Salina.

"The 4-H Building is a new exhibition hall," commented C. Dale Lyon, show publicity chairman, "and there will be ample room for bourse tables, exhibits, and auctions. Lunches will be served on both days," Lyon added.

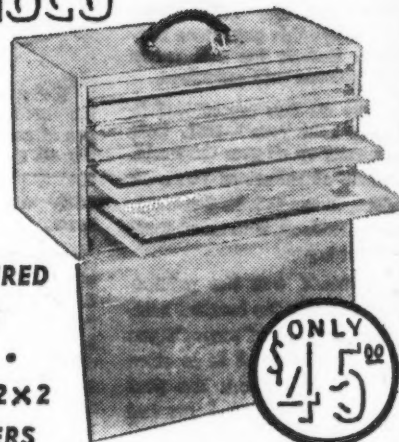

A few bourse tables for the two-day show are still available and $5 each and may be secured by contacting Mrs. Floyd Hazelwood at 902 North 11th street, Salina.

Wally Peckham, operator of the newly-formed Salina Stamp and Coin Co., is acting as the show's general chairman.

An auction will be staged on Saturday, September 9 with Al White in charge. Collectors interested in placing material in the auction should contact White at P. O. Box 225, Salina.

Robber Of $2,000 Coin Collection Sentenced

A Flint, Mich. man who spent part of a valuable coin collection in bars was sentenced from two to 15 years in prison by circuit judge Stephen J. Roth.

He is Roy Christianson, 34. Judge Roth recommended that Christianson serve two years.

Christianson pleaded guilty to a burglary charge May 1. He admitted taking the rare coin collection worth $2,000 from the apartment of Edward Eckley of Flint.

About half the coins were found either on Christianson or cached in the basement of his home.

Jerry Jones of Parsons, Kan. reported to police the theft of his collection of Jefferson nickels and Roosevelt dimes from the locked glove compartment of his car. The thief entered the compartment from the bottom, cutting a hole to gain access, Jones said.

Burglars took a number of 19th century half-dollars from the Jim Holland grocery, Ft. Smith, Ark. Police department records show that the grocery was entered during the night.

Russell Jacobs, 20, of Bay City, Mich., waived municipal court examination on charges of stealing several coins from the collection of his neighbor, Duane Buck. Jacobs was held to circuit court by municipal judge Marian M. Manary who set his bond at $300.

A number of rare coins were stolen from the D & D Auction, Great Falls, Mont., according to a report from the sheriff's office. Don Lattin, operator, reported that while he and his wife were on vacation, burglars took a number of Belgian, British and Italian coins. The prowlers broke out a window on the east side of the building and released a latch to gain entry.

Robert Bigelow of Mt. Vernon, Wash. reported to the Skagit County Sheriff's office that a collection of dimes had been taken from his bedroom sometime during the past three months.

Bigelow said the collection contains about 1,600 dimes minted between 1905 and 1961. They are catalogued, he reported.

Eureka, Calif. police are investigating a break-in at the office of real estate agent, Jack Thompson. A filing cabinet and a valuable coin collection were tampered with, but the only item found missing was an 1828 cent, valued at about $5.

Thompson said that while he was out to lunch, someone broke a window in a side door and gained entrance to the building.

A safe containing an old teapot full of old coins valued at about $125 was stolen from Benotti's Market, Springfield, Mass.

Walter Benotti, market owner, reported to police that the break-in occurred shortly before midnight. He said the safe also contained valuable papers.

Police said entrance to the establishment was gained by prying open a door on the north side of the building and police theorized the yeggs rolled the safe out the door to a waiting vehicle.

Burglars apparently broke into a home twice in one day to take about $35 in old coins, a portable radio, a pair of binoculars and a wrist watch.

Joseph Neligan of El Paso, Tex. told police he came home early in the afternoon and noticed his coin collection was missing. He assumed his wife had changed the location of his coin box and left the house without reporting the theft.

When he returned later in the day he discovered the theft of the other items. According to police, the robbers forced open a rear window.

Sidney Degen, 64, a Hollywood, Calif., coin collector, was beaten and robbed recently on a residential street in West Hollywood.

Degen told sheriff's deputies he was returning from a tour of coin dealers' shops in downtown Los Angeles when he was assaulted. A man knocked him down, and his companion grabbed Degen's brief case which contained coins valued at $1,550.

Approximately $60 worth of coin were taken from the Joseph Tomasovic home in Detroit, according to police.

Two 13-year-old boys admitted theft of a silver dollar coin collection from an Eastside apartment in Kenosha, Wis.

Oklahomans To Hold Auction

An Auction night will be the feature of the next meeting of the Lawton-Ft. Sill, Okla., Coin Club, to be held Monday, August 28, in the Civic room of the Security National Bank in Lawton, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The last session of the club was "Display" night, featured by many exhibits including type sets of U.S. coins, Canadian small cents and dimes, sets of Buffalo and Jefferson nickels, and a number of Confederate bills.

Following the business meeting, a question and answer session was held, to help new collectors become better acquainted with the hobby of coin collecting, conducted by president Jack Slabaugh.

Schulman Reports

Collectors Warned About Italy's Tough Export Laws

By Hans M. F. Schulman

This is the warning I am giving all you collectors and dealers when you go to the different conventions, which are being held in Rome. If coins are found on you even though you do not have any commercial intentions, it could delay your entry or exit in Italy. The reason of this warning is that through the illegal exportation of ancient Roman and Greek vases by certain numismatists, the entire numismatic profession is under surveillance in Italy at present. Membership lists of groups like the International Association of Professional Numismatists have been in the possession of Italian customs and I can only urge you all to keep strictly to the letter of the law in this country.

Many Americans who have vaguely heard about the trouble certain good friends have had in Italy may not exactly understand and may even think that these friends are dishonest people.

Nothing is further from the truth and for us Americans this law on treasure troves seems illogical and therefore it is easily understood that Americans and other nationals who do not have such a law in their home country, break it elsewhere.

In Italy, Greece, Spain, France and in many other places it is the law that whatever is found in the ground belongs to the State and not to the finder, whereas in America such a law does not at present exist. Builders, constructors, excavators, farmers and just plain diggers in Southern Italy, Sicily and Greece continuously come across valuable vases, pottery, sculpture of the ancient cultures. They know that these have high values and if their find is made without witnesses, they often do not call in the state inspector but they contact somebody who has direct connections to the archaeological trade.

Some of these traders have made friends in these southern areas by visiting them regularly and they are at once advised when there are valuable treasures found for which they pay generously.

Our good friends had such contacts and they often went to the areas where a lot of digging takes place and unfortunately they were caught buying these treasures for exportation to the USA and other countries.

It is as simple as that and according to our moral code . . . these people are good law-abiding citizens, correct and honest in their dealings and they are just victims of a law that they do not really understand. In their possession were lists of customers, collectors and dealers and colleagues . . . all of these names are now suspicious to the Italian police.

So I repeat my warning to ALL OF YOU . . . do not carry objects of art of value, gold, coins, or the like with you on your trip to and from Rome.

The Cleveland convention of the North East Ohio Coin Club was a great success and foreign coins were quite predominant. Elsewhere in "Coin World" the different rewards are mentioned and my column is not the place to go into details of the conventions. However when I find coins of which the existence was unknown up till now and which made me stand aghast, then I certainly feel that I should go into details.

At the time that "Coin World" wrote a complete listing of platinum coins for the collector, I thought that that listing was quite complete. We know now that that listing is only partial, because, if good friend Nick Parker in one year can find three coins in platinum which I did not know existed, then there must be many others in platinum in the world unknown to us.

Nick beautifully exhibited the following three rarities: Netherlands: Brussels mint. 5 gulden 1826B, pure platinum, absolutely genuine. Philippines: 4 Pesos of Isabelle II pure platinum, absolutely genuine. Newfoundland: 2

Many Reasons Given For No Proof Coinage

There are three reasons why the Canadian federal government refuses to produce proof sets, according to the Hon. Donald M. Fleming, minister of finance.

Fleming said there is a lack of equipment, staff and working space, the Marles & Co. Bulletin reveals.

Fleming also said the Mint is currently unable to cope with five other problems involved in the production of proof sets.

These include:

The selection of perfect blanks which would necessitate the very close examination of both sides and the edge of every blank used.

Each proof coin must be struck at least two blows in the press in order to bring out the design in perfect detail.

All handling of such coins must be done by clerks wearing cotton gloves to avoid finger prints and stains.

Special air-conditioned storage should be available, even for short periods, to prevent oxidation.

Club Plans Fall Show

There are still a few bourse tables available for the Greensburg, Pa., Coin Club second annual Bourse and Coin Show to be held on September 16 and 17 at the Redwood Room of the Mountain View hotel, announced John Miller, club secretary.

Miller can be contacted at 517 S. 5th street, Youngwood, Pa.

The hotel is located on Route 30, four miles east of Greensburg. Doors will be open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. on the first day, and from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. on the second day.

Earl Lindh is acting as the show's general chairman, while Harrold M. Boyd is exhibits chairman.

Fred Lentz Elected Texas Club President

Fred Lentz has been elected president for 1961-62 of the Marshall, Texas, Coin Club, according to reports from the club. Other officers include:

J. P. Cornelius, vice president; Mrs. James R. Crawford, secretary; Jimmy Muckleroy, treasurer; Eugene Spruell, program chairman; Gaines Baldwin, auctioneer, and Wayne Watson, publicity chairman.

Ferguson Sees 1961 Meet Best

J. Douglas Ferguson, of Rock Island, Quebec, honorary president of the Canadian Numismatic Association, today said the forthcoming Canadian Numismatic Association convention should see the the greatest gathering of numismatists in the history of Canada.

The revered numismatist issued the following statement for Coin World's pre-C.N.A. convention issue:

"We are all tremendously looking forward to being in Hamilton for this year's convention. We are extremely fortunate that those in charge of the convention are not only capable numismatists but are experienced in the heavy convention responsibilities that they will be undertaking.

"The city itself is a part of the greatest industrial development in Canada, while at the same time being on the edge of the beautiful wooded countryside, which is so well-known. The location for the convention is an excellent one, with its central location and reasonable proximity to so many thousands of numismatists, both in Canada and the United States. It should see the greatest gathering of numismatists in the history of Canada.

"The friends, both new and old, that we make on such occasions are the greatest reward that we can have and there is no opportunity to equal that of such a gathering. The auction, the dealers' bourse, and exhibits will give such great opportunities and will be inspirational to the highest degree.

"I look forward to seeing you in Hamilton."

Ferguson developed his numismatic interest at an early age, as a result of interest in history, and particularly the early days of the United States of America and Canada, as sponsored by his grandfather (on his mother's side, whose family had come to Canada following the American Revolution), and his father. The first pieces in his collection were American colonial notes as given to him by his grandfather at a very early age.

Living in the city of Toronto he had the advantage in his teens of the help of the then dean of Canadian professional numismatists, George Lowe, and two of Canada's early "greats" in numismatics, Dr. Bateman and S. S. Heal.

Moving to Montreal following his university work and entering business, he had the advantage of the very close friendship for many years of the late L. A. Renaud, perhaps Canada's greatest knowledgeable numismatist, who was then the curator of the Chateau de Ramezay.

Other famous Canadian numismatists with whom he had the privilege of associating during this early period were practically all the "greats" of Canadian numismatists with whom he had the Ludger Gravel, Dr. Eugene Courteau, Mr. Tennant, Dr. Langstroth, Mr. Wickham, Mr. Tremblay, and Judge Lees.

During this period he was made a member of the Council of the Antiquarian and Numismatic Society of Montreal, which associations have continued through the years, and which he now serves as life governor and life trustee. This is the oldest numismatic organization in Canada, and one of the oldest in America, which owns and operates the Chateau de Ramezay, which houses Canada's greatest public collection of numismatic material.

In 1930 he attended his first numismatic convention, that of the American Numismatic Association in Buffalo. His close association with that organization resulted in the constitution of that association being changed to allow a Canadian to be made president, and he served in that capacity for two years during the early period of the second World War.

He was the first Canadian to be made a Fellow of the Royal Numismatic Society; has been for many years a Fellow of the American Numismatic Society. Besides being the Honorary President of the Canadian Numismatic Association, he is the honorary president or honorary member of a large number of other numismatic organizations.

Ferguson's collection is considered by many people to be the most outstanding that has ever been formed of Canadian numismatic material in all its branches. His numismatic interests have not been limited to Canada but have encompassed the entire numismatic world in all its periods.

He is as well-known to the business community of Canada as to the numismatic community. He was the founding president of the Rotary Club of the Buncary in 1934; a past president of the Canadian Corset Manufacturers' Association; a past president of the Canadian Manufacturers association, as well as of the International Chamber of Commerce serving the boundary communities in which he lives. He is the Honorary Chairman of the Board of and is chairman of the board of directors and president of Spencer Supports (Canada) Limited.

Ferguson is a member of the Canada Foundation and of the Newcomen Society of North America and a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society.

Tokens Issued For Workers

Ordinary railway tickets were not convenient for use among the Indians and workmen on the Lachine Canal, when they formed the bulk of the third class travel on the Montreal and Lachine Railroad Company. These tokens were therefore imprinted from Birmingham, England, and strung on a wire as they were collected by the conductor.

Alliance, Ohio, is the home of a new coin club, organized in June and headed by Lawrence Galpin as president. Other officers include:

John Brill, vice president; Joseph Dalton, secretary-treasurer; and board members Carlos Markel, Harold Nogle, of Beloit, Ohio, and Ray Snider and John J. Popa.

The club was scheduled to hold its third meeting on Tuesday, August 15, featuring an auction and a guest speaker. Meetings are held on the third Tuesday of each month at Henschen's Garage, 906 South Union Avenue, Alliance, starting at 7:30 p.m.

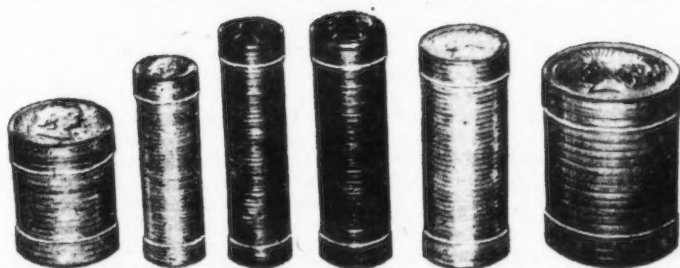

Brainard Talk Club Program

Karl M. Brainard, prominent west coast numismatist, gave an illustrated talk on grading coins at a recent meeting of the Torrance, Calif., Coin Club, according to a report from secretary Lola Gutierrez. Present were 89 members and 10 guests.

Following his talk, a certificate of appreciation was given Mr. Brainard by the club. Another feature of the meeting was a display of foreign coins by Horace Bloxam.

Chartered Bank Currency Colorful

By Harold Don Allen

Canada's most interesting numismatic material of the past hundred years has originated not at mints but at private printing concerns, and has been produced not for a government or a federal agency but for the country's traditional nucleus of strong commercial banks.

Collectors group the currency as "chartered bank notes," but little proper research has been done on the series, adequate catalogues are nonexistent, and consequently interest lags badly. The situation has its advantages for the serious numismatic student, for pioneer work awaits the doing, and the necessary reference collection can be acquired at a cost that reflects the limited demand rather than the importance and desirability of the material.

Canada's "chartered banks," commercial banks operating on government charters, were responsible for the bulk of Canadian folding money prior to the establishment of a central bank, the Bank of Canada, in 1935.

These banks, now eight in number, persist, providing full banking services for Canadians in ten provinces and the territories through thousands of neighborhood branch banks. Their note issuing function is no more, but close to ten million dollars in their old bills, released prior to 1945, remain unredeemed.

This material, coming to light from time to time, assures new collectors an adequate supply of representative later issues, and the price for average specimens may represent no more than a nominal advance over face. Much such material at present is being "cleared" and destroyed.

The most colourful aspect of such Canadian bank currency is its individuality, each bank having designed its own distinctive and artistic sequence of notes. (In this respect Canada's chartered bank dollars resemble current Scottish pounds.) The only uniformity specified for Canadian bank bills was in denominations, which (from 1880) had to be in multiples of five dollars, thus $5, $10 and $20, generally supplemented with $50 and $100 values, a single chartered bank (The Bank of Hamilton) having experimented with a $25 commemorative bill.

The notes did possess uniformity in size, a fact generally agreeable to collectors: prior to 1935 the notes were "large", resembling early United States and Canadian government releases; with the introduction of Bank of Canada currency in reduced format that year, the remaining chartered releases adopted the new dimensions, approximating present-day United States and Canadian currency in size and shape. In all other respects the artist was given wide scope for his talents, and some exceptionally attractive designs are to be found among the more accessible of later notes.

The currency of 10 banks would seem to dominate the collector's vista of Canadian bank circulation, but only because these banks continued to release notes into the period from which most of the accessible currency dates. The Bank of Montreal, the Royal Bank of Canada, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce represent the "big three" in note circulation, followed by such venerable institutions as the Bank of Nova Scotia, then Bank of Toronto, the Dominion Bank, the Imperial Bank of Canada, and the two banks most closely associated with French Canada Banque Canadienne National and La Banque Provinciale du Canada.

The tenth institution, Barclays Bank (Canada), was the most recent addition to the roster, opening its doors in September, 1929, the Canadian member of an international group of banks. Its circulation was small, the notes are relatively scarce, and its identity recently was relinquished on its merger with a larger bank.

Notes of all ten banks are sufficiently plentiful, however, that the new collector could hope to obtain specimens of the fives or tens of each—still negotiable—at a premium of two or three dollars over face. Crisp specimens, and earlier issues (before 1935, especially before 1910) are relatively scarce, and command a good price when the Canadian numismatic market is brisk.

Canadian classic is The Bank of Montreal 20 dollar note of 1891, produced by the American Bank Note, N. Y., firm. It typifies the more conservative style of Canadian bank currency design of the late Victorian period. The presidential portrait (at right) and signature are Donald A. Smith, later Lord Strathcona, who drove the famed "golden spike" to complete the Canadian Pacific Railway's coast-to-coast link, an important factor in Canadian federal union. The central device, with Indian supporters, modifies the Montreal municipal arms.

The 1929 issue date and modern appearance of this allegorical note belie its great scarcity: few bills of the blue $20 denomination of the tiny Barclays Bank (Canada) initial release ever saw circulation; fewer still exist today. The Bank subsequently merged with the Imperial Bank of Canada, now the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, but its later issues, were scarce relative to other bank releases of the period, and can be had at competitive prices.

The picture, however, is far from this simple; indeed, the complexity is what attracts and challenges the numismatic student. Close to a hundred banks of issue have functioned in Canada; some failed, a great majority surrendered their identity in honourable mergers with other stronger banks. (This trend continues; banking history will record that it was the Spring of 1961 that Parliament was informed that the Department of Finance had approved the union of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and the Imperial Bank of Canada, two of the nation's oldest, most prosperous banks. The new institution, the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, served to reduce, from nine to eight, the number of Canadian chartered banks.)

Of the hundred banks, some were short-lived, and their stories are obscure. Others were firm cornerstones of Canadian commercial banking, and persisted into the twentieth century: an older generation remembers their names, and recalls that some of the longer established branches of present Canadian banks once had other gold letters on their windows, perhaps The Merchants Bank of Canada, Molson's Bank, the Bank of British North America, or the Weyburn Security Bank. The new collector very well might aspire to ownership of a few of these fine old notes, though there can be no thought of completion. Money of the 1920's would have included a good representation of such bills.

The great fascination of Canada's bank currency may come with still earlier releases, notes from before the turn of the century (where even a dollar bill was "big money") overprinted with the names of pioneer towns where the notes were released. This overprinting, almost universally employed in the 1850's, was continued into the 1890's by a few banks, including Commerce and Toronto. A "classic" overprint is the bold "Yukon" on the 1892 series of Commerce $5, denoting a bill that saw service in Klondike gold rush days.

Like the overprints, which lend to the issues of a few big banks something of the flavour and fascination of United States national currency, signature varieties and countersignatures may be matters for the specialist, or may be an area which the new collector wishes to explore.

All Canadian bank currency—and, indeed, the federal notes, other than fractionals — bore ink countersignatures, as recently as about 1920. The teller's first duty of the morning would have been to affix his signature to the supply of new notes for the day. Beside his autograph would be the reproduced signature of the bank president — whose portrait, in all likelihood, appeared on the note.

The author can recall, as a boy, talking currency with an old teller in the St. James street head office of La Banque Provinciale du Canada, Montreal. No, the teller did not have in his till any of the Bank's bills for a young student and collector but — and here the teller took out his wallet and extracted a crisp long folded bill — in the old days we used to sign them! The teller had carried a note with his own signature for close to forty years.)

Even the reproduced signatures abound in fascination, and a change in bank officers often meant a change in portraiture, usually a new date of issue. Every indication is that the portraiture was superb, the ultimate craftsmanship in the demanding art of engraving on steel. One has only to stand in the board room of a big Canadian bank, inspecting the painters' and the photographers' renditions on the walls, and compare with the miniature masterpieces reproducing the features of banking leaders on the folding money of generations past.

Such notes never have been the work of government printers, but of private firms of security printers, a majority of the issues of this century being of Canadian origin. British American Bank Note Company, located in Ottawa with an earlier plant in Montreal, has produced some of the nation's finest currency and postage stamps, and its work covers more than nine decades.

Harold Don Allen, like many Canadian currency connoisseurs, looks upon the Canadian Bank of Commerce allegorical classics of 1917 and 1935 as the most beautiful of Canada's—perhaps the world's paper money. This $20, honoring the fisheries, depicts King Neptune with trident, with allegorical figures and produce of the seas. It combines the highest quality of steel engraving with skillful use of supporting tints, and is the work of Canadian Bank Note Company, Ltd., Ottawa, Canadian affiliate of the American Bank Note pioneer firm.

American Bank Note Company, Ottawa, was opened in 1897 as a Canadian plant of the world's leading firm of security printers: its influence on Canadian currency was immediate, and it produced the greater number of the later chartered bank issues, with the imprint (from 1923) of Canadian Bank Note Company, Limited.

Many of the finest notes of the nineteenth century were the work of the New York parent firm. Such bills are characterized by a uniform high quality of steel engraving, lavish use of colour tints, first-grade papers, and frequent employment of "planchette" discs, a standard Canadian security device. Certain other note releases, mostly prior to 1910, were of English origin, and these scarcer bills are conspicuous for their artistic proportions, subtle use of colour, and by the British security device, the silk threads. The Waterlow and Sons, London, imprint is best known.

Serial numbers may fascinate the specialist, for they reveal much. Records exist of certain special sequences of common bills more often than not, their intended purpose is no longer known. One peculiarity in Canadian numbering is so universal as to merit mention: most chartered bank notes carried on their obverse plates a conspicuous letter, well apart from the serial number, usually one of A, B, C, D. (Certain issues used, instead, E, F, G, H, to denote a second release.)

These letters very much are a part of the serial number, and should be recorded for insurance or other documentation. Such the 1961 meeting in Hamilton.

notes were printed in sheets of four, and all notes on the sheet bore identical serial numbers. The black series letters served to distinguish individual notes. (This fact was so little appreciated that one of the larger chartered banks confessed to me that its records of note shipments had included only the digits, not the letters.)

Collectors of the federal series will recognize that such series letters extended to the Dominion of Canada currency, including shipplasters (in connection with which much nonsense has been current about the relative scarcity of the plate letters, all of which, obviously, were released in equal quantities.) The letters also took on the same significance on the Bank of Canada's initial (1935) bank note release.

The true charm of the chartered notes comes from their individuality, and the story of Canada and her banking history that each such note can tell. Donald A. Smith (Lord Strathcona) bridged the nation when he drove the golden spike to complete the Canadian Pacific Railway—his signature and portrait appear as president of Canada's senior bank.

Historic landmarks are preserved: the Maritime fishing wharf, the gates of the walled city of Quebec. The old buildings and the tram cars, the Royalty and the industrial scenes; the most fascinating glimpse that numismatics can offer of the last century of Canada's colourful past.

Fair To Very Fine Grading All-Important In World Of Numismatics

By James G. Johnson

Several weeks ago I ordered some coins from an ad in Coin World (naturally enough), that were at a reasonable price, and advertised as "BU". To me, that stands for just one condition, brilliant uncirculated which means original Mint lustre, just as the coin came from the Mint, with or without bag scratches and the like. It has long been recognized by some collectors and some dealers that a coin may be uncirculated without having lustre, and may have some or most lustre without being uncirculated. The two are not necessarily synonymous.

However, when my coins arrived, I got a shock. Only one had any lustre whatever. The others were dull in the extreme. Whether or not they actually were uncirculated, I did not check to find out.

The coins went back, with a polite request to the dealer that he send me either the coins as advertised, a credit slip, or a refund. He sent me a refund, with no comment on his part whatever. That implies that his wrong grading was intentional, with intent to deceive the beginner.

Such dishonesty I cannot excuse, and that dealer is now on my permanent blacklist. I won't print that list, but I will tell it to anybody that asks me, just as I would appreciate it if anybody else told me what dealers had "skinned" them.

Some mistakes are due to carelessness or ignorance, and can be tolerated if and only if the carelessness is corrected in short order, and the ignorance is overcome by learning.

For example, several months ago I ordered some BU Indian head cents from a Boston, Mass., dealer who had advertised them at somewhat of a bargain, and stated them to catalogue at a certain value. When they came, they were about $5 off that value, which reduced their "bargain" value by considerable.

So I wrote the dealer, and suggested that somebody in his office had made a mistake and sent the wrong coins. He wrote back fast and said that was the case, and enclosed a replacement for any one of the group I had received.

He did not even ask to have one of them returned. However, he did get one back, with my thanks for his quick correction of the mistake, although to my discredit it took longer for me to return it than it did for him to send me the right coin.

That dealer did the right thing, and he will be on my "good books" for a long time to come. I will give him first chance at any future orders I may make, if he has something I want.

Going back to the first dealer, the one I have "blacklisted" for myself, if he had made some explanation or apology, I would have assumed ignorance or carelessness. But not even to scribble a word to send along with the check, is evidence enough that what he did was intentional. In that connection, I would like to quote a paragraph from the News Bulletin of the Kansas City Numismatic Society, written by Robert A. Staiger.

"I think that the single most disturbing element to come to the fore in numismatics is the unfortunate tendency to overgrade the coins that are offered for sale. In the last several years the practice of overgrading has spread like an epidemic until only a relative handful of dealers can be relied upon for correct descriptions in their mail order auctions (or anywhere else).

"In my opinion, the best and only way to stop this despicable practice is to immediately return the incorrectly described coins to the erring dealer with a sharp note. If this fails to curtail the practice, simply stop doing business with him."

Mr. Staiger has hit the head on the nail. Buy only from dealers who advertise "Satisfaction guaranteed", and then return any overgraded coins. If enough people do that, then the dishonest (because that is what they are) dealers will either reform or go out of business, preferably the latter. Let them be dishonest in some other field, as they probably will be.

I am leaving some room here for ignorance. Just as many collectors don't know how to grade coins, quite a few dealers are in the same boat. But I can excuse it only if they are willing to learn. That is one of the purposes of a coin club, education of the mem-

PRESENTING A NEW KIND OF COIN BOOK FOR ALL COLLECTORS, INVESTORS AND COLLECTOR INVESTORS!

UNCOVERED!

The prices of uncirculated U.S. Coins for each separate year since 1935! A fascinating year to year history of coin prices that will open your eyes! Learn what the yearly price change percentage has been on each coin. Many surprises in figures revealed!

WHAT WILL YOUR EXPENSIVE COLLECTION, YOUR COIN INVESTMENTS, BE WORTH IN THE YEARS AHEAD... WHAT ARE THEIR "MATURITY" DATES AND VALUES?

For the first time this priceless data is made available in "The Profit March Of Your Coins From 1935 To 1968." Here you will find a scientific and accurate scale of future values based upon what each coin has done in the past. Up until now such predictions were based on the mere pulling of a hypothetical figure out of the air. You'll see how coin prices change over the years, the price change percentages, coinage totals, projected prices from 1961 to 1968, comments on the future... on each and every uncirculated coin, roll, or proof set.

Reading this guide will leave you with a new respect for your investment.

You'll see what the prices were back in 1936, 1945, 1950... or any other year! How they have changed, startlingly, in the thirties, forties and fifties... and what they will be in the next four or eight years!

Up until now, the factors involved in coin futurities have not been presented so there has been no yardstick with which to measure the possibilities. Now revealing pages mathematically prove that most investments in coins will, regardless of present confusion, produce future yields that will far exceed expectations!

Not only the coin investor, but the collector should have this guide in his possession! Collections have a way of growing and growing until they represent a tremendous investment. If you have such a valuable collection or have set aside rolls, you should know how long it will be before your coins are worth a certain amount of money... enough, perhaps, for college educations... travel... emergencies... or even partial retirement (it has been done). You'll get the answers when you have this unusual book before you. You will be shown the individual price pattern of each coin, the length of each cycle and the frequency of change. With this set pattern you can observe how long the upsurges and the downsurges lasted in the past and govern future actions accordingly.

"THE PROFIT MARCH OF YOUR COINS FROM 1935 TO 1968"

WHICH WILL OFFER THE BEST SECURITY OVER THE YEARS.

Inasmuch as the past is but a mirror of the future, it would behoove any coin collector or investor to seriously review the past price history! Such records have always been available in other investment fields! Now for the first time you have the same opportunity! Don't guess or worry any longer because of a lack of investment knowledge!

Last Year Broke Records For Canadian Coin Production

One after another of the records chalked up for Canadian coin production during the early 1940's as a result of inflated wartime needs were topped by new all-time highs during 1960, the Canadian Bulletin revealed recently.

"This unprecedented number (of coins struck in 1960) is 53,219,956 pieces in excess of 1959 and is the highest production in the history of the Mint" announces N. A. Parker, Master, Royal Canadian Mint in his report for 1960 recently released.

An analysis of the number of pieces produced in 1960 shows nickels had the most spectacular increase with the amazing total of over 37 million pieces! This exceeds the entire production of the previous four years from 1956 to 1959! It even dwarfs the previous war-time high of over 24 million for 1943.

(Readers are cautioned that this figure does not indicate the number of 1943 five-cent pieces still in existence as over 17 million of the 1942 and 1943 tombac pieces have since been returned to the Mint and melted down).

Ten cent silver pieces were also minted in quantities that more than doubled 1959 figures with another all-time record being reached at some 45 million pieces compared to 19 million in 1959. This is only slightly less than the production for the previous three years combined! It also leaves the previous record of 21 million set in 1943 far behind.

Twenty-five cents silver was the third denomination to set new production records in 1960 with almost 23 million pieces being turned out. This compares with the previous record of over 13½ million set in 1943.

While the increase in production of 50-cent pieces for 1960 was well below half a million, this was just enough to nudge the total past previous all-time high. The 1960 production reached a total of almost 3½ million pieces compared to the previous record of some 3 1/10 millions reached in 1943. 1959 production came within a hairs-breadth of reaching the 1943 figures, but 1960 finally saw the war time record toppled.

The only denominations for which 1960 production showed a decrease compared to 1959 were the small cents and silver dollars, both of which dropped somewhat in quantities. These were the only exceptions to the busiest year in the history of the Royal Canadian Mint since its inception in 1908. Thus 1960 not only smashed the previous overall production record, but also chalked up new individual records for 4 out of 6 denominations!

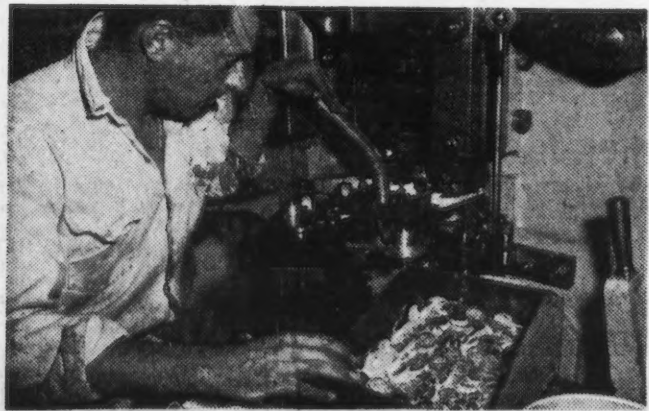

Ontario Group May Be Talked At Conclave

Ontario numismatists are exploring the possibilities of forming an Ontario Association of Numismatic Societies, using information from a survey to make plans.

Informal discussion of the arrangements will probably take place at the Canadian Numismatic Association Bill English, of Waterloo, said today, although no plans have been finalized.

Current Sets Get New Look

A new look has arrived for Canadian proof-like sets. Gone are the cardboard holders with cellophane covers. Gone are the problems of coins slipping out of their slots in the holders.

Jack and Beth Marles invited comments from the readers of their Canadian Bulletin recently to get public reaction on the new method of housing the sets. There were pro and con opinions.

The 1961 packaging, patterned after the U. S. example, was described by Royal Canadian Mint Master N. A. Parker as "The 1961 sets — are sealed between layers of plicofilm, each coin in an individual compartment." Each package contains the words, "Royal Canadian Mint."

Proof-like silver dollars are still packaged as before, each in individual cellophane envelopes.

Ten Classes For Exhibits

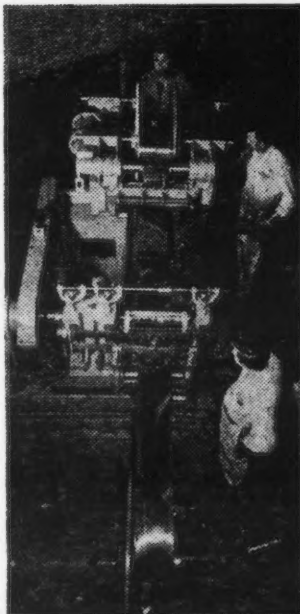

Judging classification for the Canadian Numismatic Association convention's exhibits will include 10 categories with a plaque to be awarded for the finest exhibit in each one, according to Eugene Culp, who is in charge of the displays.

Classes will include Canadian decimal coins, tokens, paper money, U. S. A. coins, Commonwealth coins, gold, foreign and ancient coins, decorations, medals and medallions, and non-paper money.

All displays are insured and security will be first class, Culp said as he anticipated an unprecedented number of exhibits.

Tennessee Club Meets

Next Monday, August 28, is set for the August meeting of the Morristown, Tenn., Coin Club, to be held at the Talley-Ward Recreation Center, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Comforts Arranged

There will be limousine service from Malton Airport, Hamilton, Ontario, direct to the convention headquarters, the Royal Connaught hotel, during the C.N.A. convention, Chairman Bruce R. Brace said. There is free parking for hotel registrants during the conclave.

Organization Underway

Coin collectors in the North Manchester, Ind., area were scheduled to hold a club organization meeting recently, at Werking's Grill in North Manchester. Information regarding the next session of the group may be obtained from Charles Vanyo, Laketon, Ind.

dollars, 1888 pure platinum, absolutely genuine.

We predict that Nick eventually will become the greatest platinum collector in the world. His enthusiasm, knowledge and personality will help him to accomplish his purposes as quickly as the scarcity allows. According to my files Nick has only three important competitors in the USA who collect ardently the platinum series.

This competition has kept Nick from getting all the platinum coins which become available in the USA, but Nick has found a system of competition which will get him very far. He takes his charming mother along to the conventions and we all feel that will just do the trick and get Nick the coins even faster.

Irving Moskovitz displayed two unique Austrian coins from the King Farouk collection, the Austrian 100 schilling pieces resembling the well known Maria Zell type but these two pieces are the patterns issued before the regular issues. They are much more beautiful than the final regular type and supposedly only one specimen is known of these gorgeous coins. We congratulate Irving on this acquisition.

Irving's exhibit always attracts large crowds and it always is the greatest attraction of gold rarities. It is good to mention that the carefully made clearly designed inscriptions make it highly educational. Those who are invited by Irving & Ruth to their room will have noticed that they never travel without an immense delicious salami. I wanted to know why. Somebody explained that as all coins have mintmarks like fish; mercury staff; gun; pencil etc. etc. Irving's mintmark is a salami.

Frank Sternberg of Zurich, Switzerland, an America numismatist in Zurich, writes us and we quote:

"With regard to your article please permit me to say the following. Restrikes of modern gold coins include mainly the well known Austrian restrikes of certain dates and some restrikes of the Bombay mint.

Most other so-called restrikes are just fakes. For instance there exist no official restrikes of the Swiss 100 francs 1925, but only the rare originals and the recent fakes. (These fakes were ably described by Jacques Dreifuss in the Swiss Numismatic Review in 1958).

Of modern Scandinavian coins I have seen only originals, and not a single restrike and also no fakes. The Polish 10 and 20 Zlotych are all right. The great quantity of these coins available can be explained by the fact that Polish gold treasure was blocked in Canada and has been released recently. (See Dr. George Weyr's recent article in Coin Galleries' Numismatic Review).-End of quote.

Recently the "American Banker" had an interesting article about "Money Collections as public relations and described the success of the Chase Manhattan Money Museum as a public relation draw.

The article mentions that only two other banks in the USA have important money exhibits of museum proportion and importance; namely the National Bank of Detroit (which we have mentioned in our own column so many times and which was Nate Shapero's brain child) and the Newport Balboa Savings and Loan Association of Newport Beach, Calif. This later exhibit has never been mentioned in our column. We would like to know more about this.

Chase's money museum attracted last year almost 140,000 visitors. On one day alone in December 3500 people visited the museum. Chase also has travelling displays for correspondent banks all over the country.

The National Bank of Detroit's Money Museum has attracted visitors from all over the state of Michigan, and has become one of the bank's most important avenues of public relations.

All these bank exhibits have grown greatly in value after many years of being in existence, but this should not induce other banks to build a coin collection because and I quote from the article "They really could bid the market up."

Waterloo Club Develops Circuit Of Speakers For Area Programs

One of the innovations of Canadian numismatics in recent years — and one that is expected to be copied by regional clubs elsewhere — is the Waterloo, Ontario, Speakers' Circuit and its accompanying publication containing full details.

The Speakers' Circuit was originated by the Waterloo Society for the purpose of promoting the study of numismatics through lectures by competent speakers, according to Rod R. Rekofski, convenor of the group.

It arranged to have printed a book including the names of a series of eminent numismatists who have gratuitously offered their services to clubs.

"There is no doubt that clubs and their members have greatly benefited from the lectures as many of the speakers are authorities in their field," said Rekofski.

Clubs were encouraged to contact the speakers directly and make all necessary arrangements. Since speakers do not receive remuneration, clubs offer to pay the cost of transportation.

Additional numismatist: who are willing to serve as guest speakers are being listed as their names are received, according to Rekofski.

Current speakers include:

Housing and Displaying Coins, Lloyd T. Smith, 123 Arundell Street, London, Ontario, phone: GL 5-3115; speaker's affiliation: London Numismatic Society, Canadian and American Numismatic Associations; 45 minutes; subject, a comparative discussion on the relative merits of the various holders on the market and methods of preparing and producing holders, also an exhibit case that is adjustable for different types of display and yet inexpensive to produce.

An outline of Currency in Canada, Lloyd T. Smith (see above); 30 minutes; subject, type display and outline mainly for the junior or not too advanced collector.

Canadian Numismatics, J. E. Charlton, co Canadian Coin Exchange, 80 Richmond Street, East, Toronto 1, Ontario; speaker's affiliation: Toronto Coin Club, Canadian Numismatic Association (Life Member), Royal Numismatic Society, American Numismatic Association, Central States Numismatic Society; 30 minutes; subject: Mr. Charlton is well known to numismatists in North America and has prepared a very interesting lecture dealing with the growth of numismatics in Canada. Mr. Charlton traces the development of societies and discusses today's trends in the hobby. The speaker has up-to-the-minute information on the hobby and encourages his audience to participate through the asking of questions.

Odd and Unusual Money, J. E. Charlton; (see above) 30 minutes; subject: Mr. Charlton has collected a treasure trove of odd and unusual pieces of money from all parts of the world. During the lecture, the speaker describes various pieces and indicates their purchasing power. The audience is encouraged to question the speaker while the pieces are on display. This is a very informative and interesting lecture.

English Trade Tokens, F. Howard Whitfield, 89 Stanley Street, London, Ontario. Phone: GE 4-4118; speaker's affiliation: London Numismatic Society (Life Member); Canadian and American Numismatic Association; 40 minutes, approximately; subject, display and talk on the English Trade Tokens.

mately; subject, Display and advice to the young and the new collector.

Kings and Queens Since 1066; speaker, Jack Shepherd, 167 Codrill Avenue, Downsview P. O., Ontario; speaker's affiliation, Metropolitan Numismatic Club, Canadian and American Numismatic Association; 30 minutes; subject, Mr. Shepherd illustrates his lecture with coins and medallions from practically every reign from the time of William the Conqueror. Mr. Shepherd discusses the lives and times of various monarchs and his medallions commemorate historical occasions.

Roman Imperial Coinage; speaker, Mrs. Joan Whitby, 733 Scarborough Golf Club Road, Scarborough, Ontario; speaker's affiliation: Metropolitan Numismatic Club, Canadian Numismatic Association, Royal Numismatic Society; 30 minutes; subject, Mrs. Whitby had a wealth of knowledge of numismatics and writes The Coin Corner in the Telegram. In her lecture, Mrs. Whitby discusses denominations, metals and gives outlines of the lives and times of the emperors. Mrs. Whitby displays coins from her own collection.

Purpose and Pleasure of Displaying Coins; speaker, Frank Uttley, 35 Chestnut Street, Kitchener, Ontario, Phone: SH 3-6932; speaker's affiliation, Waterloo Coin Society; 45 minutes; subject, Mr. Uttley has a wealth of original ideas for effectively displaying coins. He illustrates the benefit to be derived from good displays and during his lecture he prepares displays and exhibits completed displays.

Development of Portraiture on British Coinage; speaker, Rod R. Rekofski, 163 Lancaster Street, East, Kitchener, Ontario, Phone: SH 5-9728; speaker's affiliation, Waterloo Coin Society, Canadian Numismatic Association, British Numismatic Society; 45 minutes; subject, development of portraiture in all its interesting forms from the earliest times to the present. Lecture is illustrated with colour slides and coins will be displayed.

Small Canadian Cents; speaker, Rod R. Rekofski (see above); 30 minutes; subject, illustrated lecture using coloured slides of subject coins showing the changes in Royal Styles and Titles, change in portraiture and names of designers.

Coins of Roman Britain; speaker, Rod R. Rekofski (see above); 30 minutes, approximately; subject, illustrated lecture using coloured slides of coins circulated in Britain during Roman occupation with historical background. Lecture has a broad appeal and illustrates use of photography in numismatic lectures.

Fundamental Knowledge for Collectors; speaker, Ed Knight, 245 Queen Street, West, Toronto 1, Ontario; speaker's affiliation, Metropolitan Numismatic Club, Canadian and American Numismatic Association; 30 minutes; subject, through many years as a collector and dealer, Mr. Knight has gathered considerable knowledge which is useful to a collector. Mr. Knight discusses housing, cleaning, cataloging, how to use coin catalogs, insurance and many other topics, all of which should form the basic knowledge of a numismatist.

Canadian Coin Varieties and Die Breaks; speaker, Ed Knight (see above); 30 minutes; subject: Mr. Knight graphically illustrates his lecture with chalk drawings and displays many of the varieties and die breaks he discusses.

Odd and Unusual Moneys of the World; speaker, Arthur Lavine, 245 Glencairn Avenue, West, Toronto, Ontario; speaker's affiliation, Metropolitan Numismatic Club, Canadian and American Numismatic Associations; 30 minutes; subject, Mr. Lavine has been a collector of this series for some time and has prepared an interesting lecture dealing with this phase of numismatics. In his display he will show many scarce issues together with broken and redeemable issues.

Bulletin Cost Dollar Per Year

The Canadian Bulletin, a lively mimeographed publication with timely news stories and interesting features as well as price listings of Canadian coins and tokens for sale, is well worth the $1-per-year subscription price.

Single copies for sampling are 10 cents, according to Jack and Beth Marles, who head the Marles & Co., Canadian specialist-dealers.

Address of the firm is Marles & Co., Dept. B-3, Box 10, Station A, Calgary, Canada.

Ladies To Be Happy

A fashion show, a tea, a card party and other pleasant informal plans are in store for the ladies attending the Canadian Numismatic Association convention — plus a tour through and around the city of Hamilton which recently has grown larger than Winnipeg.

The Romance of MONEY

By Ted R. Hammer

From the mailbox:

Q. You wrote that our colonists were not allowed to coin money and brought little with them. How were they able to trade? A. You just answered your question — they traded. Just as had been true down through the centuries from caveman days, American colonists used barter. As was true 4,000 years ago, a measure of value was necessary. The colonists used tobacco, Indian shell money, (wampum), bullets, furs. A small amount of money came to the colonists via trade channels, but the value of various foreign coins differed from state to state. Centuries ago the word trade came into our language and persons

Courthouse Site

The Umpqua Valley Coin Club of Roseburg, Ore., was slated to hold its August meeting on Thursday, August 24, at the County Courthouse in Roseburg, starting at 8 p.m., according to secretary Jeri Heidrick.

still "go trading" today, even if they merely swap money for goods.

Q. I read in an old magazine of wheat being sold at a bit a bushel in the 1840s in Ohio. What does that mean?

A. A bit was 12½ cents—half of a quarter-dollar. In colonial times, the Spanish dollar frequently was cut into eight pie-shaped "bits" for small change. The term bit thus entered our language and is still in use today, although many persons will tell you two bits or six bits is slang.

Q. Did Germany ever have a coin called a counter?

A. Counters have been used in most countries in all periods. The word has two meanings: (1) It may be a bit of metal or disc used in calculations, as in games of chance. The clown in Shakespeare's "The Winter's Tale," attempts to complete his money but says "I cannot do't without counters." We've heard of persons who cannot read and write, yet who can compute rapidly with counters. (2) A token struck in imitation of a coin. They often serve also as counters. Some famous ones came from Germany.

Q. Although I have been collecting coins for almost a year, I still do not know how dealers and collectors get coins.

A. It is not as simple to answer this as might appear at first. Dealers buy coins from other dealers, from collectors and from other persons who happen to have them. And collectors buy from dealers or from one another, in addition to doing much swapping. Many a coin collector is a sharp horse trader.

Q. How can I make money on coins?

A. Sell them for more than you pay for them. If we knew more about it we would turn professional numismatist. We're sure it's a better racket than this writing kick.

Auction For Camp Hill

Slides and an auction will feature the next meeting of the West Shore Coin Club of Camp Hill, Pa., to be held at the Blue Shield building in Camp Hill, Monday, August 28, starting at 7:30 p.m., according to a report from Mrs. Elizabeth G. Slick, secretary. Visitors are invited.

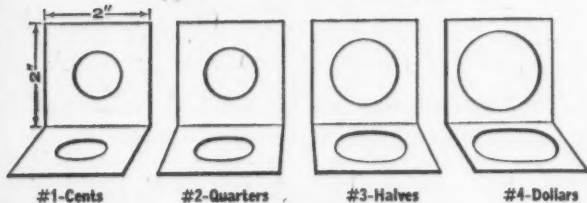

At the last session of the club, slides were shown on Confederate money. The group voted to hold its annual banquet on Monday, September 25, at the NCO Club, New Cumberland, Pa., General Depot.

Harry Seig, a visitor, was announced as the winner of a special prize of a 1961 proof set, while Mrs. Slick was awarded a $5 gold coin for sponsoring the most new members in a recent membership contest. In attendance were 35 members and four guests.

Westover Club Relocates

The Mountaineer Coin Club of Westover, W. Va., unable to find a permanent meeting place in that community, has moved to Morgantown, and will hold its next session on Sunday, August 27, in the Morgantown Community building on Fayette Street, starting at 1:30 p.m., according to president Andy Selensky.

Following the August meeting, the dates will also be changed, and starting in September, the club will meet on the third Sunday of each month, instead of the fourth.

Organized last March, the Mountaineer club has grown to 68 members. Junior membership totals 20, including three accepted at the last meeting. The club was recently accorded American Numismatic Association membership.

Collectors Meet

Coin collectors in the Jamestown, Tenn., area met recently in the Mark Twain cafe, Jamestown. Arthur Dayhuff was responsible for the meeting. Interested persons should contact him for information on future meetings.

Today, There Are Over 1,200 Active Coin Clubs!

Growth of public interest in the hobby of coin collecting is most effectively dramatized by the "explosive" growth in the number of formally organized Coin Clubs and Numismatic Societies throughout the United States and Canada. In 1957 when the authoritative Numismatic Directory was compiled, there were only 277 clubs listed. Today, Coin World's Club Editor is in constant touch with more than 1,200 Coin Clubs in the United States and Canada!

Reports of the programs and activities as well as the specialties of the membership from the Bangor, Maine, Coin Club to the San Diego, Calif., Coin Club, or from the Bellingham, Wash., Coin Club to the Key West, Fla., Club appear regularly in the pages of Coin World. No other coin publication gives the personal attention and interest to Coin Club news that Coin World does, for The Numismatist reports only on the several A.N.A. affiliated clubs.

After all, Coin Clubs are composed of people and Coin World has always been interested in people and their numismatic activities . . . because Coin World is primarily a numismatic newspaper! You've seen pictures and read news stories about national leaders in numismatics as well as everyday Joes and Janes who love coin collecting and love to talk and read about it . . . that's why today Coin World is the world's leading weekly hobby newspaper!

Coin collecting news and numismatic knowledge are most eagerly sought by news-hungry collectors . . . which in turn has stimulated greater interest than ever before in regional and national numismatic associations because of Coin World's complete and factual reporting on these groups. This growth of interest is dramatically illustrated by the A.N.A. announcement in Atlanta that Coin World's editor is personally credited with adding 90 new A.N.A. memberships in the past year . . . and Coin World is only 71 weeks old!

Every thinking numismatist can readily see what a dynamic future there is in Coin Club growth at the local level and the tremendous potential on the regional and national levels with top-quality leadership . . . and Coin World will be there to report this developing potential every week!

ATTENTION COIN CLUB SECRETARIES

Coin World has a special informational packet made up with detailed forms and with full instructions on how to report all the news activities of your Coin Club. We have already mailed this news packet to 1,200 clubs but since there are six to eight new clubs formed every week, we may have missed these new clubs. So those Club Secretaries who have not already received this big blue press packet are asked to write to our Coin Club Editor, giving your name and address as well as that of your new club. One of these packets will be on its way to you pronto . . . together with a little memento of Coin World for you. It's free, of course, as is any news story about any coin club activity or convention.

Numismatic Depth Study

Early Half Dime Error, Overdates Recognized

By Q. David Bowers

During the past few weeks one or more queries have been received about the following coins: The 1796 half dime with LIKERTY instead of LIBERTY has been the subject of at least a half dozen inquiries, most of them about price.

With the information we now have on hand, we would suggest a valuation of $200 for a specimen in Good condition and $350 for a specimen in Fine condition. Ken Bressett of the Guide Book staff recently told us that this coin will be priced in future editions of that reference. In an article titled "Blundered Dies of Colonial and United States Coins" appearing in the October, 1958, issue of Empire Topics, Walter H. Breen had the following to say about the LIKERTY variety:

"Incidentally, the so-called LIKERTY half dime of 1796 is simply the comparatively easily obtainable Valentine 1, with dies somewhat worn so that the B weakens and later appears open at top and bottom. It is, needless to say, not a mint (engraver's) error."

As a guide to the pricing the LIKERTY we would suggest referring to the "A.N.A. Convention Sale Catalog, 1959" published by Leo A. Young. The true value of the LIKERTY half dime in 1959 would be more or less established by the price it realized at the A.N.A. auction as the catalog was widely distributed. Lot No. 1339 was a 1796 Likerty half dime in

Very Fine condition. It realized $160.00.

Another confusing coin is the 1837 token with a defiant eagle killing a snake on the obverse and with FEUCHTWANGER'S COMPOSITION and a wreath enclosing ONE CENT on the reverse. This token is struck in an alloy resembling German silver and is the size of a present day Lincoln cent. This token is not a United States pattern, as many believe, but is one of the commonest Hard Times tokens. Lyman Low lists it as No. 120 in "Hard Times Tokens". Specimens of this token in Fine condition may be obtained for a few dollars.

Recut dates are another subject of inquiry. Recut dates of nineteenth century coins are not rare. They are particularly prevalent in the nickel and copper nickel series. The hardness of these alloys caused rapid die wear (and often breakage). When the date on the die became weak, it was often strengthened by repunching the numerals. Often the alignment differed slightly from the original, thus producing a recut date. The 1865 to about 1870 nickel three cent pieces are often found with this recutting as are shield nickels of the same era.

Unknown to most collectors, Lafayette dollars may be collected by die varieties. At least four different die varieties and combinations exist, and perhaps searching would reveal more.

The 1826/5 overdate cent remains controversial. Well preserved specimens of this variety show what may be traces of a 5 under the top curve of the 6. Whether or not it is an overdate is strictly a matter of opinion. Howard Newcomb did not list an overdate in U. S. Copper Cents 1816 to 1857.

There were only two specimens of the 1870-S $3 gold piece said to have been struck. One

Something Worth Thinking About

In a recent batch of mail, we received a letter that caused us to do a lot of thinking.

We would like to pass its contents on to you and let you find out if it proves thought-provoking for you.

The first item to be taken from the envelope was a little business card but it was not the usual type. In the upper left hand corner were the words "no business" and in the upper right hand corner was "no phone". In the lower left hand corner was printed "no address" and in the lower right hand corner of the card were the words "no money".

In the center was the man's name and below it was just the words "tired".

Attached to the card was a little folder entitled "Just for Today" and we would like to print its entire contents and after you have read it you be the judge as to whether or not the letter contained a message worth thinking about.

JUST FOR TODAY

Just for today I will try to live through this day only, and not tackle my whole life problem at once. I can do something for twelve hours that would appall me if I felt that I had to keep it up for a life-time.

Just for today I will be happy. This assumes to be true what Abraham Lincoln said, that "Most folks are as happy as they make up their minds to be."

Just for today I will adjust myself to what is, and not try to adjust everything to my own desires. I will take my "luck" as it comes, and fit myself to it.

Just for today I will try to strengthen my mind. I will study. I will learn something useful, I will not be a mental loafer, I will read something that requires effort, thought, and concentration.

Just for today I will exercise my soul in three ways: I will do somebody a good turn, and not get found out; if anybody knows of it, it will not count. I will do at least two things I don't want to do—just for exercise. I will not show anyone that my feelings are hurt; they may be hurt, but today I will not show it.

Just for today I will be agreeable. I will look as well as I can, dress becomingly, talk low, act courteously, criticize not one bit, not find fault with anything, and not try to improve or regulate anybody except myself.

Just for today I will have a program. I may not follow it exactly, but I will have it. I will save myself from two pests; hurry and indecision.

Just for today I will have a quiet half hour all by myself, and relax. During this half hour, sometime, I will try to get better perspective of my life.

Just for today I will be unafraid. Especially I will not be afraid to enjoy what is beautiful, and to believe that as I give to the world, so the world will give to me.

P.S.—Should you care for a copy of the little folder we suggest you write to Adam L. Krause, 1404 Jackson Street, Great Bend, Kansas, and ask him how it might be secured. Be sure to enclose a self addressed stamped envelope if you desire the information.

We Like This Kind Of Letter

Dear Mr. Watkins:

I am a new coin collector and small dealer and a subscriber to Coin World for a short time. I want to thank your staff for the wonderful job they are doing. It seems as if every member on the staff is going overboard to give the entire Numismatic world the best. Most of all I like your "Weekly Report to Our Readers" and the overall program that your paper seems to have; we also look forward to "Trends", "Fair to Very Fine," all in all we just enjoy your paper.

I want to take advantage of one of your services, to have Coin World sent as a sample to the people on the attached list. Also our coin club (Wheatland, Pa.) is having an outing on Sept. 10th. I would like to request 75 copies to give out at that time. We have 129 members in our club, and it is growing, we should hit over the 200 mark by the end of the year.

Thank you very much for your consideration in this request. In my opinion there are only two kinds of coin collectors, those who subscribe to Coin World and those who should.

If you can, please send the 75 sample copies of Coin World to: Gerald T. Lewis, 314 Main Street, West Middlesex, Pennsylvania.

EDITOR'S NOTE: You can rest assured that we have issued an order to have 75 copies of Coin World sent to Mr. Lewis for use at the Wheatland Coin Club outing.

Keokuk Club Will Plan Fall Show

Plans were to be discussed for the fall activities of the Keokuk, Iowa, Coin Club, mainly its Fall Show in November and its joint affair with Fort Madison and Burlington clubs in October, at the August meeting of the Keokuk group, scheduled to be held Thursday, August 24, in the Washington Central School gymnasium, 115 North 9th Street, starting at 7:30 p.m.

Dates for the fall Auction and Bourse have been announced as November 17 and 18 on a tentative basis, with Bert Self as general chairman and co-ordinator. Committee chairmen include:

Bourse and Exhibits, John Porosky; publicity, Mrs. Helen Wallace; building and seating, Dale Jannings and George Elgin; catalogue printing, Robert Grass; auction and grading, Tommy Sinnott and Lee Marsh; refreshments, Jason Ryder and Owen Taylor.

Mrs. Phil Budd is Keokuk chairman for the joint banquet, this year to be held at Fort Madison on October 18. Plaques and ribbons will be awarded for exhibits. Last fall, Burlington was host, and in 1962, the affair will move to Keokuk.

Iowa Club Will Meet At Library

The Reinbeck, Iowa, Coin Club has slated its next meeting for Saturday, August 26, to be held in the basement of the Reinbeck public library, starting at 1:30 p.m., according to a report from secretary Donna Hall.

At the last session, Bill Casey, Cedar Falls, Iowa, dealer and member of the club, donated to the group a grading card showing eight grades of the Lincoln cent which he had prepared.

Feature of the meeting was a "bourse table auction", at which the member wanting to dispose of a coin puts it on a card with his minimum acceptable bid. Members write their membership number and their bid on the card, successively, until a timing bell rings. Bidding then stops, and the coins are distributed to the high bidders.

Three visitors were present and all joined the club before the meeting adjourned. They were Duane Clow and Randy Ohrt of Reinbeck, and Jim Jacobsen of Hudson, Iowa. The club now has 37 members including 15 juniors.

Depth Study . . .

piece now reposes in the collection of Mr. Louis Eliasberg of Baltimore, Maryland. The other was supposed to have been placed in the cornerstone of the San Francisco Mint. When that cornerstone was later opened, no 1870-S $3 was found.

The 1838 half dime comes with two distinct sizes of obverse stars . . . large stars and small stars. The small stars variety is quite rare.

John N. Rowe of Dallas, Texas reports the confirmed existence of an 1853 United States Assay Office of Gold $20 in brilliant proof condition struck on an octagonal planchet.

Several dozen Indian cents with the 7 in the date cut over a smaller 7 (from a half dime punch?) have been located . . . including at least two in Brilliant Uncirculated condition. The 1873 Indian cent with the letters in LIBERTY completely doubled remains quite rare. Fewer than a dozen have been seen or reported. A fine specimen recently sold for nearly $100.00 and a Brilliant Uncirculated specimen, possibly the only one known in this condition, changed hands for close to $300.00.

No 1882-1 nickel that is unequivocally an overdate has been reported thus far. Several specimens examined have been either recut dates or "filled dies." As we mentioned in a previous column we would like to hear from anyone owning an 1882/1 nickel. If we learn that this coin definitively exists we will print an enlarged illustration here.

We note that an 1875 $3 will be offered at auction in the autumn. Knowing that there are at least a half dozen collectors who have all the $3 pieces except the 1875, we anticipate an interesting contest. No less than $3500.00 was recently offered and refused for a $10 gold piece in Proof condition of the same date. A few of the collectors among us can remember nostalgically the grand sum of $2872.50 for which a complete set of 1875 gold Proof coins sold for in the 1941 William F. Dunham sale.

Club Holds Auction

The Barboursville, Ky., Coin Club was slated to hold its July meeting at the home of Mrs. Keith Wilson. An auction followed the business session and program.

ATTENTION DEALERS!

For some time we have realized it is difficult for the average dealer to tie up a large amount of capital in higher priced rolls in order to have singles to sell. Dolbee, Inc., proposes to do something about this problem. We will supply singles (listed below) in lots of 5, or more, at prices slightly above roll prices. This has been tried before, but usually prices were too high and the small dealer could not resell at a reasonable profit. With our large roll stock, we believe we can render a valuable service to the small or medium size dealer. We shall continue to advertise full rolls in alternate ads. See last week's ad in Coin World for roll prices.

Numismatic Interest Skyrockets In Europe

By Robert Obojski

After visiting six countries (Switzerland, Germany, Denmark, Sweden, France, and England) during my recent numismatic tour of Europe this summer, I have come to one major conclusion—coin collecting activity in Europe today has reached a new all-time high.

I base this conclusion on conversations I've had with numerous European dealers, curators of numismatic collections at museums, and mint officials.

Before World War II, serious coin collecting in Europe was indulged in primarily by the wealthier classes, but since the war the hobby has spread to people in all walks of life.

As a Zurich dealer remarked: "One of the best collections of Swiss coins today is held by a street car conductor in this city."

And, as in the United States, the number of coin clubs in England and on the Continent has increased significantly during recent years.

Auction Held By Ohio Club

Two recent meetings were on the schedule of the Glass Center Coin Club with the first to be held at the V. F. W. Post in Sylvania, Ohio, during which a short business session was conducted.

Balance of the meeting time was devoted to the coin auction and membership.

The later meeting was a social session but the program was to have been devoted to silver dollars and tokens.

What does all this mean to the American collector?

Well, it means for one thing that prices of choice European coins, and of choice ancient pieces of Rome, Greece and Byzantium, are going up.

As one New York dealer told me: "It used to be that you could go to Europe and pick up classic rarities in all fields at reasonably low prices. But now that the economy of Western Europe has boomed, collectors there have more money to spend, and there is real competition for the good coins. Sure, you can still pick up bargains in Europe, but you've really got to hunt for them now."

In this same vein, a West Berlin dealer commented: "Lately it seems that I just can't stock enough good coins to supply my customers with all their needs."

Dealers in Europe will also tell you that they often can't supply American collectors and dealers with classic Greek and Roman gold coins, because collectors in countries like France, Germany and England are hanging on to them.

"Few of the really rare gold piece," a London dealer said, are sold over the counter today. "When they are sold on occasion, you'll find them at auctions."

Philately still remains the number one collecting hobby in Europe primarily because stamp collections can be built up very inexpensively. But there are definite signs that Europeans, like Americans, are becoming disenchanted with stamp collecting because during the past decade and a half the market has been flooded with a deluge of new issues from virtually every stamp-issuing country in the world.

There are just too many stamps and many formerly avid philatelists have turned to numismatics in Europe.

As one Paris dealer concluded: "There is still a comparatively limited number of good coins available both in the ancient and modern fields, and this is one of the major factors that makes numismatics a challenging hobby."

Bourse Space Available

A few bourse tables are still available for the Illinois State Numismatic Association's fall convention to be held in Peoria's Pere Marquette hotel on September 23 and 24.

Reservations for bourse tables at $25 each may be made by contacting Charles Amry, in care of Bechtel's Coin Shop, 2517 N. Sheridan, Peoria, Ill.

The Peoria District Coin Club is hosting the convention with Robert P. Whitmore of Peoria acting as general chairman.

Convention activities will begin with a banquet at the Pere Marquette at 12 noon on Saturday, September 23. First auction sessions will begin immediately after the banquet at 1:30 p.m., while the second will start at 7 p.m.

Third and final auction session commences at 2 p.m. on Sunday. Joe O'Donnell is chairman of the auction committee.

Four special prizes will be awarded, the first being a 245-pound Gray Fortress safe. Gold pieces of 20, 10 and five-dollar denominations will also be awarded.

Clubs To Hold Joint Meeting

Final plans for a joint meeting with the Medicine Hat, Alberta, Coin Club on September 3, are expected to be made at the next session of the Havre, Mont. Coin Club, set for Sunday, August 27, at the V.F.W. clubrooms at 118 4th Avenue in Havre.

The entire club is expected to make the trip to Medicine Hat for a "Coin-a-rama" meeting, according to secretary Edna J. Daniel.

Other plans for the Havre club include an Open House, show and bourse, for sometime this fall, with the date as yet undecided.

California Show Draws

Over 300,000 persons viewed the numismatic display at the Southern California Exposition and San Diego County Fair held jointly recently at Del Mar, Calif., reported Francis S. Jones, display chairman.

This annual event is sponsored by the San Diego County Inter-Club Numismatic Council.

Most exhibits comprising the display were entered into general competition. Top awards were: senior best in show, T. W. Ward, Fallbrook, Calif., for his display of Roman Republic and Imperial bronze and silver coins.

ment of a series of lights showing the rarity of coins found in change.

Wallace Memorial Trophy: Michael McHenry, Solana Beach, Calif., for his "Coin Farm." This is the first time that a junior exhibitor has ever won the Wallace Award. Michael's display was laid out like a farm with all coins being used to illustrate farm scenes. The coins show animals, plants, trees, farm buildings, etc.

Jetons Were Counters

Fench jetons struck for French colonies in America were not coins but counters.

Penn-Ohio Club Picnics At Lake

The Penn-Ohio annual picnic was held Sunday, August 6, in a private section of Geauga Lake Park, State Route 43, Geauga Lake, Ohio.

The picnic was served family style to members, their families and friends. There were reduced prices for the concession rides, free beverages, and dealers set up tables at no charge for the tables.

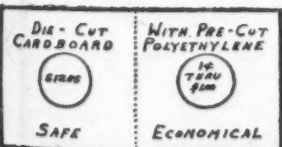

There was boating, swimming and many informal pleasures for the affair.

To Plan Banquet

Plans are expected to be made for its share in the October joint banquet of the Burlington, Fort Madison and Keokuk coin clubs, when the Burlington, Iowa, club holds its meeting next Tuesday, August 29, in the lounge of the Farmers and Merchants Bank building, Jefferson and Third Streets, in Burlington, starting at 7:30 p.m.

'Triple Struck' Liberty Explained For Discoverer

Ben Samz of Morrisville, Pa., reports finding a 1937-D cent with a triple striking of the word "Liberty", some of the letters in each striking being quite clear.

COMMENT: Several ways exist in which this could happen, although it would be impossible for the "Liberty" alone to be multiple-struck. However, evidence on the other parts of the coin could well be worn off or so faint as to be visible only with a fine magnifier.

It is also very possible that the planchet moved with the "3 o'clock" side as a pivot, so that the greatest variation would show up on the left and none on the right, with degrees of difference in between. Samz would like to know if similar cents have been found, but we think such a deviation from normal is probably unique. If anything is reported along this line we will print it.

Elwood Yerian of Worthington, Ohio, writes in that the impossible has happened; and he quotes chapter and verse. A collector asked a restaurant owner to let him look at a handful of dimes. In the handful were two 1916-D Mercuries, condition not stated. The incident occurred in Columbus, Ohio, before witnesses, Mr. Yerian reports, and Charles Hoffman of Columbus was the lucky collector.

COMMENT: Nothing is impossible, although some things are improbable, but in our many years of newspaper experience we have seen the improbable happen often enough to accept it. We once spotted a 3-legged Buffalo nickel as one of only four nickels in a cash register.

Mrs. Walter Stewart of Le Claire, Iowa, writes in on some dime variations; a 1945-D with the "D" way up in the notch where the leaves attach to the branch, and a 1959-D Roosevelt with microscopic "D". She has found only one of each and would like comments.

COMMENT: We have printed a good deal about "misplaced" Mint marks. They make an interesting subject but are not scarce, although any given position may be. However, the same position would be found on all coins made from the same working die, whether they be few or many. It would take a thorough study of dimes to determine any relative quantity by mint mark position, and nobody has done it.

We once checked a batch of some 50 1924-S dimes, and found three major positions vertically, high, medium, and low, and also right, center, and left, horizontally, plus "tilted". We have them put away somewhere, labeled "curiosities", and they probably will be there 10 years from now. If we get ambitious some time, we might make a small exhibit of them for a coin club display.

As for the micro "D", that is the first we have heard of this one, although, again, it is not surprising. It would also have to be on every dime made from the same working die, but that punch may not have been used on any other working die, before or since. This report will send the variety collectors to their dimes, and we may get more information. If we do, we will print it.

Bill Bauers of Pittsburgh, Pa., reports on some "D"-Mint Jefferson nickels with filled "D" and wants to know if they are valuable.

ANSWER: Not especially, except to a collector of "Fidos" who might pay 10 cents to a quarter for one to fill out a set. Filled letters and Mint marks happen in all denominations, and usually go unnoticed. Take them to a coin club and ask an "error" collector.

Louis Schuck of Istanbul, Turkey, has written in about a 1915-D $5 gold piece which he has located there, and wants to know if his catalogues are in error in omitting it, or if it is unique and was omitted for that reason, or if it is counterfeit.

ANSWER: Counterfeit gold coins have been reported in Europe, and this could well be one of them, although why a non-existent piece would be picked on to imitate, we don't know, possibly through ignorance and pure coincidence, like the 1944 plain Jefferson nickel counterfeits.

On the other hand, some unique coins have turned up in peculiar places, and King Farouk had a few of them. We are open-minded but doubtful. One thing is sure, and that is that no "expert" would attempt to judge the authenticity of your coin without seeing it, and most of them would take it for granted that it was counterfeit and would not bother to look at it.

We suggest you write our columnist Hans M. F. Schulman and (Continued on Page 55)

New Edition Available For Charlton Catalogue

About the only price reduction to be found in the new 10th edition of J. E. Charlton's "A Standard Catalogue of Canadian Coins, Tokens and Paper Money" is that of the book itself, according to the Whitman Publishing Company, distributors of the book.

Larger volume printing has enabled Whitman's to lower its per-book cost, which it is passing along to the collectors, Kenneth E. Bressett, numismatic editor of the firm, announced.

The Catalogue of 126 pages, fully illustrated, costs $1 in the United States and $1.25 in Canada.

One of the most pleasing changes in the book is replacement of many line drawings of early tokens with actual photographs. This not only improves the book's appearance but gives readers a better understanding of the pieces depicted, Bressett points out.

"The increasing interest in collecting Canadian coins, both in and out of that country, the gradual improvement in this book and now its reduced cost—all seem to insure it a bright future of increasing popularity," said the publisher.

J. E. Charlton, F.R.N.S.

Inquiries from dealers may be addressed to the Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wis., who design, publish and distribute the catalogue under special arrangement with author Charlton.

Harold Don Allen, in reviewing the Catalogue, called the Charlton 10th edition a "polished and definitive work one would expect it to be."

He continued: A first reaction must be to marvel at the growth of this publication and of Canadian numismatics in the turbulent decade that these ten editions represent. It seems clear that the two have gone hand in hand, that the first "Charlton" placed Canadian collecting on a sensible foundation, and that subsequent editions have improved on modest beginnings, developed pricing to a fine art, and attracted ever-growing numbers to the numismatic fold.

Such developments clearly have shaped the new tenth edition, the third to be superbly produced by the well-known Racine firm. The new, low retail prices, the publisher states, are simple facts of practical economics: huge press runs on the new edition have permitted reduction in the unit cost to

Proof-Like Sets Available From Mint Until October 31

The term "proof-like" is commonly used by Canadian collectors to distinguish the coins especially minted and handled for collectors by the Royal Canadian Mint, the Canadian Bulletin, a Marles and Co. publication from Calgary, Canada, reminds.

These coins are set apart from the regular coinage distributed initially in cloth bags. The Mint itself simply refers to all coinage released as "uncirculated" regardless of quality or method of handling.

N. A. Parker, Master, Royal Canadian Mint, has released the following information of interest to those ordering "proof-like" coins:

Orders will be accepted between January 1, and October 31, 1961 for 1961 coins. (Prior years may not be purchased).

Orders must not be less than one set or two separate silver dollars. (Orders for rolls, bags or odd quantities not accepted.)

While these coins are expected to be released in March, delivery may be delayed until later.

The Mint charges $3 per set or $1.25 per silver dollar. There is no reduction on large orders.

Payment must be made to the "Receiver General of Canada" in Canadian funds or its equivalent by money order, bank draft or certified check. Uncertified check and remittance for incorrect amounts will be returned. C.O.D. orders or postage stamps are not accepted.

Orders should be sent to the Master, Royal Canadian Mint, 320 Sussex Drive, Ottawa, Canada.

the level of the book's American counterpart.

The buoyant economy and high interest in Canadian numismatics are reflected in the advanced price listings, but cutbacks are indicated where the previous year's market proved somewhat out of hand, notably on certain key silver dollars.

Elsewhere the rule of thumb that choice specimens of the scarce dates and varieties imply record high prices has continued to be borne out. (The two favorites the 1921 5 cents and 50 cents, list at $1,100 and $4,000, respectively.) The catalogue quotes mint statistics and values for five grades of the classic tokens, the decimal sequences, and the government paper currency of Canada, including Newfoundland.

The table of contents is in line with what Mr. Charlton considers the collecting interests of ninety per cent of his potential readers. His aim, he acknowledges in correspondence, is "to concentrate on the decimal coinage, popular tokens, and government notes, to improve on the illustrations and text, to revise the values each year, and to keep down the cost of the book."

Virtually all of the line drawings of earlier catalogues have been replaced by photographs in the tenth edition: the few remaining "have not yet become available for photography" (offering interesting insight into the rarity and desirability of certain key tokens), but the publisher hopes to complete the photographic treatment in the next edition.

The book sets out to be compact, inexpensive, easy to work with—and admirably succeeds. The experienced collector will find himself working with a familiar and quite indispensable tool; the newcomer will have a highly authoritative sourcebook on the principal varieties of the most popular Canadian series. Mr. Charlton's unparalleled experience with contemporary Canadian numismatics couple with the Whitman imprint and a distinguished panel of contributors in assuring a truly definitive work, with authoritative pricing.

The quite unprecedented popular interest in Canadian numismatics, in Canada, in the United States, and in Commonwealth nations guarantee the new "Charlton" the reception it so fully deserves.

Canadian Proposes Reversible Bank Notes As Big Labor Saver

Proposed reversible Canadian bank note.

Reversible bank notes! No matter how you stack them, backward or forward, you can always read the denomination quickly and with ease.

This is the idea being advanced for Canadian bank notes by Rene Laflamme, B. L.Ph., of Hull, Quebec and the author of Provincial Government Lottery Bonds, 1941.

Laflamme feels that the present Canadian bank notes cause a great deal of inconvenience to businesses, banks and citizens in general because the handling of the notes requires much tedious work in respect to sorting them as to face and vertical position.

He points out that the Canadian notes today have two different sides both of which are printed vertically, from top to bottom, and therefore, it is necessary for the owner or handler to sort them methodically.

Laflamme strongly emphasizes, however, that "the new reversible bank notes would put an end to all this handling because no matter how these new bank notes would be placed, they would always be on the right side and in the right upright position because either side is reversible. Thus, this new bank note would not have a definite top or bottom part; both sides would act as top face and they would always appear in the right position."

The illustrations, supplied by Laflamme, show, on one side, two opposite pictures which could be that of a sovereign, and also include the serial number, signatures, the value of the note in figures and in full letters, in reversible position. On the other side, which can also be used as the face of the note, appear the same pictures, in opposition along with two opposite rows showing the coat of arms of various Canadian provinces and also, the value of the note, in figures and in full letters, as on the reverse side.

Another great advantage of the proposed reversible bank notes, Laflamme indicated, would be the reduced costs of engraving, the same two patterns being used for the two sides of all face values, with only minor changes being required as to denominations and colors.

Laflamme recommends that a petition be sent to the proper authorities of the Bank of Canada, requesting the adoption, with modifications, if necessary, of the proposed reversible bank notes.

He concludes his case for the reversible bank notes by saying that "all Canadians and, in particular, all businessmen would save a fantastic sum of labor devoted, presently, to the sorting of bank notes and this would also be a lesson in management and methods for the country as a whole."

Specimens as souvenirs are being offered to serious collectors. Laflamme asks only a self-ad-

Collectors Meet With Impact

Mr. and Mrs. Ladd Creighton, of Mullins, S. C., would rather meet their fellow collectors at a nice, quiet club meeting or a slightly noisier convention....

Early in the afternoon of August 1 their automobile stalled on the tracks in the path of a speeding Southern Railway train five miles west of Spartanburg, S. C.

The Creightons scrambled to safety an instant before their car was struck and demolished.

Sure enough, Davis, A.N.A. No. 41495, of Columbia, S. C., knew the Creightons—they had met during coin dealings at the Sumter, S. C., Coin Club.

Engineer W. J. Cathey, of Asheville, N. C., said he saw the Creighton auto in time to make an emergency application of the brakes, but the collision could not be avoided. Yes, he's a numismatist, too.

Train officials praised the Creightons for their alert thinking in scrambling to safety.

Everybody agreed it was fortunate the two Creighton sons were at camp...and the family coin collection was safe at home.

Coin Club Has "Hobby Night"

Liberty Numismatic Society, San Mateo, Calif., was slated to hold its latest meeting on August 24 at 7:30 p.m.

The agenda called for giving the "right of way" to other hobbies, a program held once a year. Collectors were to have brought in their collections of stamps, post cards, Californiana, handwork and other items.

San Mateo club meets on the fourth Thursday of each month in the Studio Room, Lower Mall in the Hillside shopping center, just off Hillside boulevard, west of El Camino Real.

Inman Coin Club Meets August 28

The Inman, S.C., Coin Club has scheduled its next meeting for Monday, August 28, to be held in the Community building at Inman Mills, starting at 8 p.m. according to a report from secretary Billy Fred Martin of Inman.

Organized in February, 1958, the Inman club has 40 members including six juniors. In addition to Billy Martin, its officers are Johnny Martin, Inman, president, and Jesse Glass of Pacolet Mills, S.C., vice president. Glass is also an officer of the Pacolet Coin Club.

Club To Organize

Coin collectors in the Boone County, Nebr., area were recently invited to hold a meeting for the purpose of organizing a coin club. The session, called by James Crosby, was to be at the Town House cafe meeting room in Albion, Nebr. Information regarding future meetings may be obtained from Crosby.

Wisconsin Club Meets

The Fond du Lac, Wis., Coin Club was slated to meet on Thursday, August 24, at the City Hall Recreation room, 76 East Second Street, starting at 7:30 p.m., according to secretary Alex Kaiser. Visitors were welcome.

Auctions Featured

The Lewis Wetzel Coin Club of New Martinsville, W. Va., has scheduled its next meeting for Monday, August 21, to be held in the Parkway Center, Parkway and Monroe, in New Martinsville, according to Mrs. Tex Cozart, secretary. The club, organized last April, has 30 members and features an auction and trading at each meeting.

Joint Session Held

The Madera County Numismatic Society of Madera, Calif., was host to a joint meeting, recently, of the Fresno, Merced and Madera coin clubs, held in the Madera high school. A coin trading session was featured, according to host club president Joe Pettit.

Uttley Natural For Numismatics

Frank G. Uttley, president of the Waterloo, Ontario, Coin Society—amiable, outgoing, a leader with ideas and the skill to carry them out—has gained a widespread reputation for himself—not only as a fine numismatic student, but as a man who shares his enjoyment and knowledge with others, both senior and junior.

Uttley's self-styled autobiography written in a clever and bemused style for Coin World is presented herewith verbatim and untouched:

Twenty-one years as a corner-grocery-clerk, interrupted only by a few years of not-unusual-service in the Canadian Army, and now unemployed due to business decrease, I'm afraid, isn't a very interesting news story. However, here goes.

I was born. That was my first mistake. Kitchener isn't sure whether or not they should admit their claim on me—but I'm pleased with them. It took six or seven years for me to get my bearings, and then the next 10 or 12 years were loaded with mostly—favourable—neighbourhood club activities, school, sports and various hobbies—again, nothing unusual. The latter of these two gradually included a few pretty girls. This, of course, in due time started a new era—and things have never been the same since! Even a few assets were gained. But that was a mistake, too. Still, I'd do it over again—I think.

Resulting from the activities of that era are: (a) One daughter and one son-in-law who are not coin collectors. They are too busy collecting little grandsons for me. Two, so far.

(b) One son who is soaring through the heavens on a golden carpet with his bride-to-be, August 26. Apart from the possibilities of "collecting" wedding gifts, they don't seem to have time at the moment for anything but each other—ahhhhhh—and I'm proud of his choice.

Time goes on, and sad but true, circumstances sometimes force people into positions where they "can't play the game according to Hoyle." Thus our marriage was absolved several years ago. (Contrary to some Coin World cartoons, coin collecting had no influence in the matter.)

Time goes on, and so does man, and so does romance. I think, though, that the romance we discuss had better be the romance of numismatics—to the extent in which I have become involved. Becoming involved was my biggest mistake.

Like other collectors, it is difficult now to find time for anything else. This happened about three years ago when a coin-collector-acquaintance heard that I had been collecting for some time. We talked about it. My interest in the hobby was not particularly sincere and received no out-of-way effort. It wasn't even secondary to other "projects" in which I was interested.

I was merely putting aside one Canadian coin and one American coin of each denomination and of each year as I found them in circulation, whenever I could afford to do so. This was done without a coin catalogue and without even knowing what the little letters under the Lincoln cent dates meant.

....And I'll be darned! The sociable glass of beer over which we gabbed had nothing to do with his talking me into going to a meeting at which he said a small group of fellows were going to try to organize a coin club. I was not anxious—I simply felt that by going, there was nothing to lose and that perhaps a few new acquaintances might be gained.

This meeting which was held in the Board of Directors' Room at the Waterloo Recreation Department, took place on February 12, 1959. About 15 persons attended and the big question—to organize or not to organize—was settled. The Waterloo Coin Society came into being. The friend whom I've mentioned was elected vice president, Heinz Herzog. Other officers were: president, William English; treasurer, J. Edward Stahley; secretary, Miss Marlene Schultz and director, Ronald Phaff. With one or two exceptions, the rest of us present joined as members.

By the April 14, 1959, meeting, the Society had 23 members and had already received its C.N.A. Charter No. 18. Also at this meeting, it was approached by director of the Waterloo Recreation Department. He suggested the possibility of our members conducting junior coin clubs at Waterloo Public Playgrounds during the coming summer vacation season.

After lengthy discussion on the subject, a motion was made and passed in favour of his suggestion. I was nominated as committee chairman to plan and organize a summer playground coin club, and subsequently, voted on in May to enter into the W.C.S. executive as a director.

(The Playground Coin Clubs, now having expanded into Kitchener along with Waterloo, is beginning the third season, each year acquiring gradual improvements when possible. Although a considerable amount of back-stage work is important, I feel that the success of the program is dependent primarily upon those persons who "put it across." This includes other members of the society, the playground staffs, the recreation department staffs, and some of the parents of the children.)

In August, 1959, the W.C.S. became a charter member of the A.N.A., and in the following month we began discussions on the need for more informative numismatic displays. I found myself in charge of devising programs to stimulate interest in the members to construct displays for regular meetings, banquets, other exhibits, and special occasions. This job is still in effect at this time.

In October of that year when we began preparing for our first annual banquet (March, 1960), as co-chairman, my task was to draw up the banquet publicity bulletin, organize the display exhibition, select judges, devise a system of judging, present awards and design table decorations. These, along with dozens of other tasks directed by our other co-chairman, performed by many fellow-members, and supported by many visiting clubs, made it one of the largest banquets and exhibits in Canada up to that time.

A new slate of officers elected in December, 1959, was: President, J. Edward Stahley; vice president, Frank Uttley; treasurer, Bruce Raszman; secretary, Rod. R. Rekofski; librarian, Mrs. Ruth Mueller; directors, William English, Heinz Herzog and Phil Mueller.

Thinking up new promotional ideas, and stealing time to try them out, is a pet pastime of mine. One of these, which I believe is successful, is what we now call "executive meeting guests draw." This is: at each regular meeting we draw, from a box, membership numbers of two attending members. They are invited to attend the following executive meeting as guests. If they decline, other numbers are drawn, but most members accept the invitations anxiously.

They are aware that the purpose of their presence is to familiarize them with the committees' activities, procedures and problems; to become more acquainted with each other; to give the members more opportunity to offer direct opinions and suggestions; and to generate keener interest and understanding of club business.

At our second annual banquet my participation was much the same as at the first, although I was not co-chairman. On this occasion I introduced another idea new to coin clubs—a court of honour. This was an area devoted entirely to non-competitive exhibits for which materials were provided by the department of defence, Coin World, the Public Archives of Canada, The International Nickel Co. of Canada, Ltd., the Waterloo Branch of the Canadian Legion, the Preston Coin Club, the summer playground program, and by individuals having received awards of interest to numismatists.

Another suggestion accepted by the society has to do with our monthly bulletins and riders. This is that all materials we now print now go into perforated pages uniform in size and numbered in sequence, so that every member can save and fasten them monthly into folders which we provide at cost. Thus each member can compile his own "year book" and have a permanent record of all club activities, privileges, etc.

In December, 1960, I was elected president of the W.C.S. Other officers are: Vice president, Rod R. Rekofski; treasurer, Bruce Raszman; secretary, Mrs. Ruth Mueller; directors, William English, Heinz Herzog, Ed. Stahley and Phil Mueller.

It pleases me also to be a director of the Preston Coin club of which Robert Smith is president; of having been instrumental in bringing about the materialization of the W.C.S.'s medal (our pride and joy); and to be enlisted in the "speakers' circuit" sponsored by the Society under the convensorship of R. R. Rekofski; and to be a director in the study group for the tentative Ontario Association of Numismatic Societies which is under the same sponsorship and convensorship as the S. C.

....Coin Collecting! So much perpetual activity! It's money, money everywhere, and not a cent to spend. In view of all this, it's hard even for me to believe that my own collection is still terribly meager,—the pleasure being mostly in the organizational activity, the educational aspects of the hobby, the opportunities to serve the community, and the personal gain of so many new and wonderful friends.

Still, once in a while, I'm reminded that there are other things in life besides coins. These reminders find me entering into a third year as president of the Weber Park Rink Committee (Kitchener). Also, I'm a very interested member of a newly formed organization called "Parents' Associated" being sponsored by the K-W Family Service Bureau. Its basic purpose is to find ways to lessen some of the problems and tensions encountered in family life where there is only one parent.

In my spare time ????, for some years I've been working on designs of a long-range youth program, the details of which we'll not go into, but which is intended to someday serve as an instrument for many existing clubs.

Well, I'm afraid I can't write any more—I've run out of coffee!

Boston Club Two Years Old

The Canadian Collectors Club of Boston, founded in April, 1959, recently observed its second anniversary.

Lorne D. R. Dyke, Canadian vice consul to Boston, was present for the meeting and extended greetings from Canada.

He said organizations such as this do much to further friendly relations between the United States and Canada.

Toronto Club Observes Its 25th Birthday

This year was an important one in the annals of the Toronto Coin Club—it celebrated its 25th anniversary at a dinner April 22 at the Royal York Hotel.

The occasion has been commemorated by a medallion in aluminum, bronze and sterling silver. Obverse of the piece depicts Toronto's proposed City Hall, designed by Viljo Rewell of Helsinki, Finland, whose design was successful over some 520 submitted by architects from 42 countries.

On the reverse the inscription, "Toronto Coin Club—25th Anniversary Dinner—held at the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, April 22, 1961", records the occasion.

R. Blake Graham, vice president of the club, served as general chairman of the anniversary dinner committee. Mrs. Louise Graham is president; Miss K. M. Richards, secretary; F. C. Jewett, treasurer; directors include Mrs. R. Frampton, H. A. Craig and A. Lavine.

The club has more than 100 members. It meets the fourth Saturday of the month at the Royal York Hotel in Toronto at 2 p.m.

Coin Club To Have Picnic

The Pittsburgh, Pa., Numismatic Society will hold no meeting in August, but has scheduled its annual picnic for Sunday, September 3, to be held at Mowry Park in Pleasant Hills.

Members and guests will supply their own lunches, with liquid refreshments for both adults and children to be supplied by the club. Prizes will be given at the event.

At the July session, Dr. Robert J. Hudson showed slides of Civil War Tokens which were greatly enjoyed by the club members, according to Mrs. Agnys S. Williams, secretary.

First Canadian Coinage Early 'United Nations'

Money in the form of currency and coinage began to play a "central and determining" part in Canadian life as early as 1645, according to the historian Adam Shortt.

The Bank of Canada, Ottawa, has published a colorful account of the story of Canada's currency, and it turned back the calendar to the days of Indians and fur traders to discuss early monetary history.

Up until 1645, the book points out, there had been little occasion for the use of a regular currency. Indians traded their furs for goods and the colonists were mainly in the service of colonization and trading monopolies and were supported by them. What coinage there was consisted of a random assortment of coins from France — often clipped and underweight — and some English, Spanish and Portuguese coins originating in the illicit fur trading operations between French trappers and the merchants of New England.

The growth of French colonization which began about the middle of the 17th century was accompanied by continual difficulty in finding sufficient currency for the needs of settlers, merchants and government establishments.

The government of France, involved in almost continuous financing difficulties on its own account, was extremely hard pressed to find funds for the support and development of its outposts in New France. Not only were funds hard to come by but the scarcity of currency and coinage created a persistent problem in daily transactions.

As a result the currency included an increasing hodge-podge of Portuguese, Spanish and Mexican money circulating along with French gold and silver louis, livres, crowns, francs, sols marquez, liards and deniers.

The scarcity, and confusion of currency gave rise to a number of expedients over the years—some of which had no counterpart anywhere else in the world. Perhaps the most unusual of all was the famous "playing card money" first issued in 1685 by French colonial authorities. It was originally considered as only a seasonal stop-gap to enable the colonial establishments to get necessary supplies from the merchants until a shipment of funds arrived from France.

It was made by cutting playing cards into quarters and affixing the seal of the treasurer in wax and the autograph of the Governor and Intendant. Documents suggest that this first issue of quarter cards were designated for denominations of 15 sols, 40 sols and four francs. Later issues took the form of quarter cards, half cards and whole cards for differing denominations.

Although card money began as a short-term financial device it was not long before the cards began to circulate among people as a medium of common exchange and later issues of card money were provided with this specific aim in mind. With the passage of time, card money became an important part of the currency of French Canada and remained until the fall of Quebec in 1759.

One characteristic of the playing card money was that it tended to remain within the colonial territories. This was an advantage in relieving the shortage of domestic currency. It was a disadvantage in another sense since it was of no use in trade with France.

Because of the colonies' adverse trade balance the value of card money suffered in comparison with money which could be on the spot whenever the Intendant was hard pressed for money and was unable to obtain funds from the continental French authorities.

The government of France was constantly involved in efforts to restrain the issue of playing card money. On occasions, however, authorizations were granted when the need for an issue was plain to even the most myopic continental official.

The French government succeeded in withdrawing card money from circulation for about ten years beginning in 1718-19 and the money was redeemed in bills of exchange on France at about 50 per cent of face value. Despite an edict which strictly forbade any further resumption of card money for all time it reappeared in 1729. The value outstanding by 1749 had risen to about one million livres but the worst period was still to come. Between 1749 and 1759 the amount rose to some 14 million livres in the colony as well as some additional 40 to 50 million livres in bills of exchange still unpaid in France.

In 1759, five weeks after the fall of Quebec, the French government repudiated the obligations represented by card money. As a result, this currency immediately fell sharply in value. Later, when it became known that the council of state appointed under British authorities was trying to arrange for its liquidation with the government of France, a brisk trade in card money arose. Some quantity of it was accumulated by British traders as a speculative investment. Eventually a large part of it was redeemed at an average of 25 per cent of face value along with other colonial obligations such as bills of exchange and ordonnances.

Canadian Auction Held

The Red River Valley Coin Club of Fargo, N. D., scheduled a special auction of Canadian coins at a recent meeting, held in the Metropolitan Savings and Loan Association building. The auction was followed by a trading session, and visitors were welcome.

Business Sessions A Must For Good Club Says Leader

A plea for effort, tolerance and understanding toward coin club business sessions went forth today by Frank G. Uttley, of Kitchener, Ontario, president of the Waterloo Coin Society, who can speak with executive experience!

"Occasionally some distaste is expressed toward business discussion during the regular monthly meetings of many coin clubs, with the feeling that it subtracts from time which could be spent on other club activity," said President Uttley.

"Granted, some business matters can be boring, but it is not all so; and it all does have to be taken care of.

"I would like to point out a few factors regarding the fact that without at least a brief review on these matters during the monthly meetings, it is unlikely that there would be any other club activity.

"First. It is reasonable to believe that without a combined effort, tolerance and understanding towards club business, by both the committee members and the general membership, no organization can progress.

"Second. Your committee, in most clubs, is capable of handling minor business matters without authorization by the general membership. At the same time, many of these minor undertakings would be fruitless efforts unless they are recognized, appreciated and followed through by the general membership.

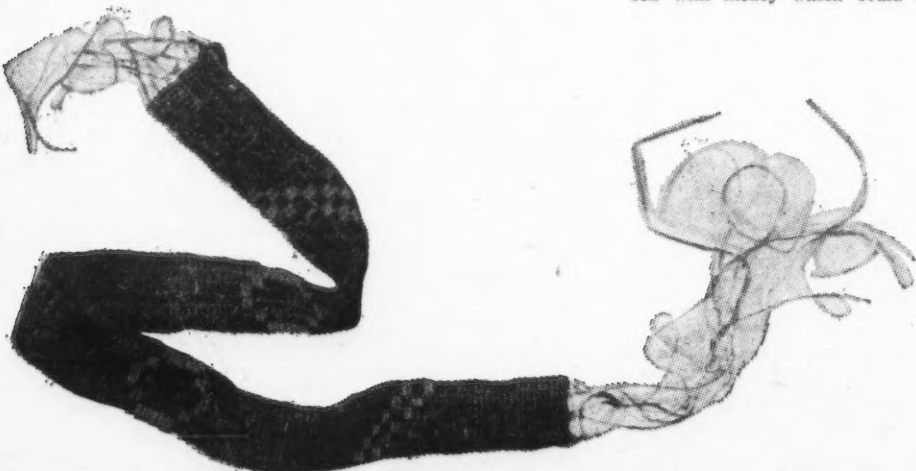

"Third. Your committee has little or no power, nor ability, to put into effect or to carry out any major proposals, (whether of a physical or financial nature) without the authorization—and cooperation—of the general membership.

"To sum it all up: The numismatic benefits available through a coin club, (to the club as a whole, to its individual members, and to many others) are dependent upon two bodies: the committee members and the general membership; and each is dependent upon the other.

The necessity of some unity then, to meet the objectives of the club can be achieved only at the regular monthly meeting. Here, however briefly, all business (the very nourishment of the club's existence) must be announced, either for settlement or for reference back to the committee.

This coin, a silver 15 sol piece was issued in accordance with an edict by Louis XIV, dated February 19, 1670, for the purpose of furthering the commercial transactions of La Compagnie des Indes. The "sol" had a current value in Canada of about one penny, 20 "sols" making one livre. By a later edict, dated November 18, 1672, the current value of this piece was raised to 20 sols. This is now one of the rarest of Canadian coins.

Wampum was declared as legal tender among the British-American colonies at an early date because of the insufficient supply of coins. It ceased to be legal tender in 1670, but circulated among Canadian colonists until 1704 and among the Indians until about 1825. Its value was reduced and finally destroyed by cheap European imitations. Wampum came in two colors, blue and white, the latter spent for imports from France. This differential was still further emphasized by the device of legalizing over-rated values for French coins in New France in an attempt to retain them within the colony.

Another feature of card money which recommended it in the eyes of the colonial authorities was that quantities of it could be issued bers who are ignorant in some of the more important phases of numismatics, one of which is grading. Any coin club which neglects that education is not worth keeping up.

It may not seem important to some of you. Look at it this way. A beginner trades or buys a coin for his collection. Later, he replaces it with a better one, or like a Mr. Goodrich who wrote recently in The Numismatist, wants or has to sell his collection, any number of years after he has acquired the coin or collection.

He finds that his coins are not as good as he was told when he acquired them, and might even be worth less than he paid. He is going to be pretty sour about it, and he has been robbed, no question about it. Nor is that an argument in favor of collecting only "BU" coins, as some people keep suggesting.

In the first place, that takes coin collecting fun away from the many and puts it back among the monied few where it used to be. In the second place, it does not make an answer for the collector who buys a coin labeled "BU" and gets what I did, as I said at the start of this column. Maybe he doesn't know the difference and keeps the coin. What happens when he eventually wishes to dispose of it?

So the answers are two: education and honesty, and there are no others that I know of.

In one coin club that I belong to, the president refuses to have a grading committee, on the grounds that opinions on grading differ. I grant him that, but only in minor details, and if a grading committee is composed of three or five experienced people, the majority will come closer to being right than any one of them, and the beginner will be protected. That committee should also form a panel for programs on grading that should be given every so often, for the benefit of the beginner.

Let the coin dealer also belong to a coin club. I realize that a few clubs won't have professional dealers as members, for one reason or another, probably for the laudable one of trying to avoid too much commercialization of their meetings. However, there are usually enough of the others that any dealer can find one. Let him both learn and contribute what he knows. Numismatics will be the better for it. Also, he can join a club as a collector or numismatist, not as a dealer, and keep his business separate as other collectors do, if it has to be that way.

Speaking of grading, I read a good many advertisements, and I have seen some terrible examples of grading and don't have to see the coins to realize it. Just two examples will fill my space.

1-A coin described as AU-UNC. or between "Almost uncirculated" and "uncirculated". That is a contradiction in terms and is impossible. A coin is either uncirculated or it is almost so, and it cannot be in between. I trust no

Kokomo Show In September

Saturday and Sunday, September 23 and 24, have been set for the Fourth Annual Exhibit sponsored by the Kokomo, Ind. Coin Club, to be held at the Kokomo Y.M.C.A. on 200 East Walnut street.

On the program are to be an auction, bourse, and competitive exhibits for which awards will be given. Specific information may be obtained from general secretary Noel Hutchens, 1109 North Wabash, Kokomo.

Final plans for the show and preliminary reports were expected to be discussed at the next meeting of the club, scheduled for Tuesday, August 22, starting at 7:30 p.m., also at the Y.M.C.A.

Iowa Club To Resume In Fall

The West Central Iowa Coin Club of Denison has adjourned for the summer, according to a report from secretary Warren L. Olson.

When the group reconvenes on Tuesday, September 19, the annual election of officers is scheduled to be held. Retiring officers, in addition to Olson, include John A. Meggers, president, and T. P. Feddersen, vice president.

The West Central club holds its meetings in the Fire Hall basement on North Main, in Denison.

dealer who grades that way. Although a group of coins could vary not any one of them can.

2-A coin described as "Fine with only two digits of date showing", especially Standing Liberty quarters. The date is an integral part of the coin, and if some of the figures are entirely missing, the coin cannot grade even "good", regardless of what the rest of it looks like, with the only exception being a Mint error like a filled die. So it is a "filler" and should be so labeled, regardless of scarcity. The dealer can price it any way he wants, but he should label it honestly.

I will grant that uncirculated coins differ from brilliant to dull, but an honest dealer will describe them honestly. Also, an uncirculated coin should be assumed to have full lustre, unless described otherwise.

I have seen coins advertised for sale as "uncirculated, dull", and knew what they would look like, or "uncirculated, bag scratches", or "circulated proof" which is entirely possible. A proof coin refers to the manner of minting, not to its condition, although it can be assumed they are uncirculated unless described otherwise.

Considerably more can be said about grading, and I probably will say more from time to time, because of its importance. All exchanges between collectors, and between dealers and collectors, depend upon it, with few exceptions. So numismatics depends upon it to a greater extent than is either admitted or realized. And I have now said more than I intended to, for this week.

Rulau Speaks On Heraldry

Russell Rulau spoke on "Heraldry — The Study of Arms" at the recent meeting of the San Diego Numismatic Society.

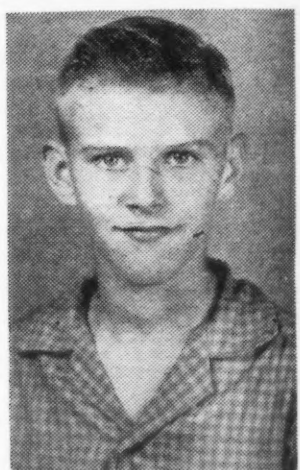

Rulau showed illustrations of arms and explained how to read the colors as shown on the arms on coins. He emphasized that in many cases the only method of identifying European coins is by studying the arms on the coins.

Members of the SDNS also voted to set up a credit plan for blood at the San Diego Blood Bank for the benefit of its members, announced Francis S. Jones, publicity chairman.

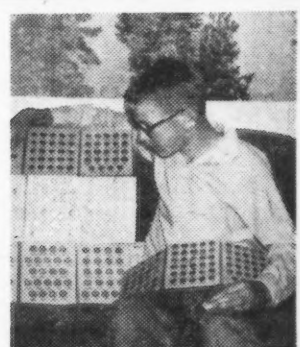

Mrs. Beverly Lundberg has been designated as chairman of this important committee.

Odessa Club To Host Meeting Of Texas Numismatic Association

The third semi-annual convention and coin show of the Texas Numismatic Association will be held in Odessa, "New Industrial Frontier" city of western Texas, on October 7-8.

The Odessa Coin Club will host the convention, which will be held in the ball room of Odessa's largest and finest hotel, the Lincoln.

Bourse tables are being provided for approximately 35 dealers from all parts of the country.

There will be an exhibit of rare coins and currency during the show, including the famous 1913 Liberty Head nickel, valued at $50,000, the 1822 five dollar gold piece and the 1804 silver dollar, valued together in excess of $100,000.

Police protection will be provided 24 hours a day during the show, and an adjoining security room will be available to all dealers and exhibitors.

On October 7 a coin auction will be held. Elliot Cashden of Fort Worth, auctioneer, will bring a $50,000 auction to Odessa. Cashden was auctioneer at the fall convention in Fort Worth in October of 1960.

The convention is being held when the weather is mild and pleasant in West Texas. F. E. Covill and Tom Nevinger, both of McCombs, Texas, are the co-chairmen of the show.

Monroe, Wisconsin Club Elects Three

The recently organized Monroe, Wis., Coin Club has elected officers and arranged a permanent meeting place, and will hold its next session on Tuesday, August 29, in the First National Bank building, 17th Avenue and 10th street, Monroe, starting at 7:30 p.m.

William Moon has been chosen president, with Howard Schultz elected vice president, and Douglas Watson, secretary-treasurer. Moon and Ross Martin were chiefly instrumental in forming the club last May. It now has 48 members including juniors.

Bremerton Club Meets

The Puget Sound Numismatic Society of Bremerton, Wash., was scheduled to hold its August meeting on Wednesday, August 24, in the social room of the Bremerton Y.M.C.A., First and Washington Streets, starting at 7:30 p.m. according to secretary Lee Tennison.

This medal was given to the chief of Indians of Alberta, Canada, in 1901 by the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and York—all of some 40 pieces distributed to the tribe chiefs in commemoration of the assembly of Indian tribes. It is of copper and measures about two and three-fourths inches by one-fourth inch in thickness. Nick Serniak, Brooks, Alberta, president of the Medicine Hat Coin Club, took time out from plans for the Medicine Hat Coin-a-Rama September 3 to share this medal with Coin World readers for the Canadian edition.

Margaret Quay Elected

Mrs. Margaret Quay of Lock Haven has been elected president of the recently organized Clinton County Coin Collectors' Club of Lock Haven, Pa., having taken office at the July meeting. Other officers include:

Malcolm Schenck, Mill Hall, Pa., vice president; Mrs. Lorena J. Smith, Jersey Shore, Pa., secretary; George Rhymestine, Lock Haven, treasurer; Mrs. Miriam Burkett, Mill Hall, assistant treasurer, and Leroy Burkett, Mill

Hall, assistant secretary.

The group held its organizational meetings in the Y.M.C.A. but because of increased size has been forced to move to the P.O.S. of A. hall where it will meet in future, on the first Wednesday of p.m.

Membership is open to collectors of any age, with boys and girls eligible as junior members. Interested collectors are invited to attend.

COIN WORLD CELEBRATES THE CIVIL WAR CENTENNIAL WITH A COMMEMORATIVE MEDAL

Available Only
To Coin World
Subscribers

(Non-subscribers, see new subscription form in this issue.)

Available Only
From Coin World!
(One of a series)

The firing on Fort Sumter one hundred years ago marked the beginning of the War between the States. As we join the five year centennial of this historic event, Coin World joins in commemorating this event by preserving in metal the heads of state for both the North and the South: Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis.

Bronze medals have been struck bearing the portraits of these two leaders. Above the three-quarter view of Lincoln and Davis appear the words: 1861 - CENTENNIAL - 1961, below, the words: WAR BETWEEN THE STATES.

On the reverse of this medal is a symbol familiar to more than 72,000 collectors — the revolving globe of the world,

Coin World's trademark! An entire series of these commemorative medals is planned, maintaining the continuity of this reverse. Each year, a prominent event or person will be placed on the obverse portraying a part in a series of American numismatic events.

You will certainly want to get the first one in this series of Coin World medals. These half-dollar-sized medals will form a companion piece to your commemorative half dollars, so-called half dollars, and other half dollar size medallion series.

Micky Senna, Albany, N. Y., has reported some 1961-P Lincoln varieties, with Lincoln in his niche seated on air, or missing entirely, that is to say, in the Memorial. He also says that he found very few in two bags, and has heard of them from nobody else.

Britannia Variable

The figure of Britannia on English coinage is a variable—sometimes she holds an olive branch, a bee-hive or a horn of plenty.

be on, again. Many collectors have found Lincoln varieties interesting in 1960, and it looks as though they will have enough to 1961 to keep their interest up. Not a few have written that variety collecting is more fun than date collecting. We have no quarrel with them and they will probably find it cheaper.

The Adirondack Coin Club of Gloversville, N. Y., has written in and asked if any other club has the same name. This club was organized in June, 1961.

ANSWER: Not to our knowledge, and we have the longest list of club names of anybody in the United States. For example, we have three "Tri-City" clubs, seven "Tri-County" including two in the state of Ohio, and five "Tri-State" clubs, fortunately all in different states.

There are other duplications, but we just pick those as examples. We have a list of more than 1200 names and places, with some more that we are investigating because we know they exist but don't have "Cards" on them.

We are curious as to why the Adirondack club was organized when another club in the same city was already in existence and recently re-organized. Could be a different set of collectors.

Marshal Schlafer of Stamford, Conn., writes a comment about the proof sets mentioned in this column, June 30 issue, page 16, on the differences found in the Bell. He says he has noticed the difference, also, and on other than 1961 sets as well. He thinks it is a small variation in dies used.

Harold Brush, Rock Rapids, Iowa, reports a 1898 double strike Indian head cent, with both sides of the coin being effected. He wants to know if it is rare, and what its value is.

ANSWER: A true double strike would be unique from the standpoint that it could happen exactly the same to no two coins. Recut or re-engraved dies are something else, and would not be unique. Any unique error would be worth whatever you could get for it.

Michigan Men

Unearth Tokens

Hugh Morehouse, Fitchburg, Mich., recently found a Civil War store card in the dirt. It read: "W. Jaxon, grocer, Jackson Hall, Michigan, 1864." W. Jaxon was William Jackson, third mayor of the city, a native of New York. Clyde Straw of Jackson also reports he has two of the tokens; one is dated 1863.

Iowa Event Starts At Noon

Opening time for the first annual fall auction and bourse of the Forest City, Iowa, Coin Club, set for Sunday, August 27, has been announced as 12 o'clock noon, according to reports from the club.

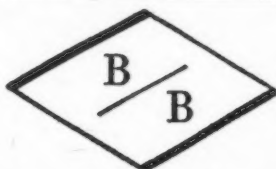

First session of the auction is slated for 1:30 p.m., with an intermission at 3 p.m. Following the intermission, the auction will resume until 5 o'clock. The bourse will be open from that time on.

Further information may be obtained from club president Eugene Morris or secretary Helen Englebreton.

Cedar Rapids Club Plans Fall Show

September 9 and 10 have been picked by the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Coin Club as the dates for its two-day Coin Show, to be held in the Hotel Montrose in Cedar Rapids, according to chairman W. J. Dougherty.

On the program are exhibits, bourse and auction. The latter will be between Saturday and Sunday. Bourse tables are still available. Reservations should be made with Dougherty at 120 37th street N. E., Cedar Rapids.

Ben J. Richards

Richards Dies At 82

Ben J. Richards of Hastings, Nebraska, and one of the Midwest's best known numismatists, died June 19 at the age of 82.

He had an extensive coin collection which has been on permanent display at the Hastings Museum for a number of years. As a member of the museum staff, Mr. Richards often lectured on the coins before school, church and other groups.

He began his collection as a boy when attending a Fourth of July celebration in the little town of Roseland, Nebraska. He was given 25 cents to spend, and when he made a purchase he was given an 1844 dime in change—from that point on he became an avid collector.

Ben Richards was an honorary life member of the South Central Nebraska Coin Club of Hastings. He will be greatly missed by the entire world of numismatics.

Marigold New Michigan Head

Frederick L. Marigold has been chosen president of the recently formed Port Huron, Mich., Coin Club, which held its initial meeting in July. Other officers include: Edward Viborny, vice president; Miss Helen M. Stoutmeyer, secretary, and William Weicht, treasurer.

Members voted to meet on the first Tuesday of the month, in the conference room of the Detroit Edison Company, at 7:30 p. m.

Stevens Elected Volunteer Leader

D. E. Stevens of Harriman, Tenn., was elected 1961-62 president of the Volunteer Coin Club of Harriman, at a recent meeting, reported by Vance Stewart, who was chosen secretary-treasurer at the same session. Also elected was G. M. West, Rockwood, Tenn., as vice president.

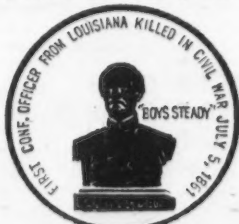

The Volunteer Coin Club meets throughout the year on the fourth Tuesday of each month at the First National Bank in Harriman. It has 16 regular members and five juniors.

Kentuckians Form Greenup County Club

Collectors of Greenup County, Ky., have organized the Greenup County Coin Club and elected Miss Phyllis Eastham of Wurtland, Ky., secretary-treasurer. The meeting was held at the home of Glen Stafford in Wurtland. Information regarding future meetings may be obtained from either Stafford or Miss Eastham.

Vancouver Numismatic Society Climbs To Largest Club Membership

Robert S. Eveleigh and Leslie C. Hill, F.R.N.S., the only honorary life members of the Vancouver Numismatic Society, are justifiably proud of the growth of the club they founded six and one-half years ago.

On the evening of February 22nd, 1955, eight numismatists met, and formed the Vancouver Coin Club. Today the membership has increased to 181, the largest active membership of any club in Canada.

Among the many projects carried out by this very keen numismatic group are—a 6-page monthly News Bulletin, first published in August, 1958, and four series of colored slides with commentary, which have been made available to other Canadian clubs.

These are, "History of Art and Technology of Coinage", "The Canadian Cent", "The Hudson Bay Tokens", and "The Coins of Newfoundland"—with more series promised for next year!

Silver and bronze medals were struck by the Vancouver Coin Club in 1958 to commemorate British Columbia's Centennial.

On April 7, 1960, honorary Life Memberships in the Vancouver Coin Club, were bestowed on Robert Eveleigh and Leslie Hill—"to represent the highest honor that the Vancouver Coin Club can bestow on any one member for continuous outstanding service to the club, or to numismatics generally."

In December, 1960, the Vancou-

This year, to commemorate Vancouver's 75th anniversary, the Vancouver Numismatic Society has had Oxidized Silver Medals struck (a few are still available to interested numismatists at $4, plus registration.) The address is Vancouver Coin Club, P. O. Box 2467, Vancouver, B. C.

As an educational feature, at each meeting either a short talk on a numismatic subject is given, or a film is shown. After a friendly get-together during the "coffee enjoy the final item of the evening—the auction.

Material for this has been carefully graded by the auction committee, and listed in the News Bulletin, so bidding is usually keen on these "better than average" coins.

In August, 1963, the Vancouver Numismatic Society is hosting the Canadian Numismatic Association Convention at Vancouver, and preparations are already being made for this "biggest event of the year in Canadian Numismatics"—among the many enthusiastic workers—of course, the two founders, Bob Eveleigh and Les Hill!

Yost Will Head Illinois Valley Club

Members of the Illinois Valley Coin Club of Tonica, Ill., elected Carl J. Yost of Mendota, Ill., president for 1961-62 at their annual election meeting held recently. Others chosen included:

Walter Whitmore, Lostant, vice president; Myna Swanson, Wenona, secretary-treasurer; Cecil Duvall of Tonica, Henry J. Spitzer of Lostant and Lester Beatty of LaMoille, executive committee; Robert Dancaye, Mendota, and Ray L. Janusick, Lostant, board members.

Lorain Group To Meet On August 24

Thursday, August 24, was the scheduled August meeting date for the Lorain, Ohio, Numismatic Association, set for the Slovenian Home, 31st and Pearl, in Lorain, starting at 7:30 p.m.

At the last session of the group, Fred Rosenthal of the West Cuyahoga Coin Club was to speak on "Napoleonic Medals," with appropriate exhibits.

Five Commemoratives

Coin Club Sees Film

Members of the Upland Coin Club, Ontario, Calif., at their recent meeting viewed the film "Let's Take a Trip" produced by the Medallic Art Co. of New York, reported Vincent Acanfora, club secretary.

A coin auction completed the evening's program.

Winter Haven Club Holds August Show

Exhibits by 19 dealers and a special showing of a collection on Colonial American paper money were features of the Winter Haven, Fla., coin show at the Haven hotel on August 5 under direction of Don Henry as general chairman.

Claude Roy, of Winter Haven, had made arrangements to show his Colonial paper money which included a Rhode Island and Providence Plantation single sheet of 16 notes as they came off the press in 1780. Roy also has Delaware county notes dated 1776.

Bourse From Purse

The derivation of the word "bourse" is from the medieval Latin word bursa, meaning a purse. The English form of "bourse" went out of use in the 18th century. Now it is bourse.

Three Classifications To Help You!

TRADES . . . No. 195

All strictly trading ads of numismatic items will be listed under Classification 195. This will let the readers interested only in trading concentrate on seeing who has what they want and for what they'll trade!

SALE OR TRADE . . . No. 196

When a trade ad offers numismatic items for sale as well as for trade, it will be listed in Classification 196. For those many offers of selling or trading, this new classification will easily answer a great need.

BUY OR TRADE . . . No. 198

Sometimes a collector wants to buy as well as trade for a coin and that is why we have created Classification 198 and expect it to be widely used by collectors from coast to coast. These 3 new classifications help you!

OFFICIAL COMMEMORATIVE MEDALS

For the important and historical events of our times.

We have been appointed sole distributors of the official, commemorative medals shown below. They have all been issued under the authority of a governing body.

Struck in both bronze and silver, they are each a handsome 2½" in size and come boxed with a printed, informative circular of educational value. In all cases, they have been struck by the world-famous Medallic Art Company from the sculptured models of some of America's foremost sculptors and they are supreme examples of medallic art at its finest.
